Liars Needed For Tall Tale Storytelling Festival Oct. 11

The Tall Tale Liars Festival, one of the many events of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, and coordinator Dr. Gail N. Herman, professional storyteller, says "liars are needed" for the event.

Tall stories ale filled with exaggerations, extensions, and images of preposterous actions, Dr. Herman explained, and some are from traditional folk literature, such as Paul Bunyan.

This event will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. in the basement of at St. Paul's United Methodist Church basement, Oakland.

For the second year, an informal Open Story Sharing Session will begin at 7 p.m., when the audience can hear tellers or tell a story improvisationally whenever they wish.

A new event will be held from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m. for those who wish to hear storytellers tell how they created or adapted their yarns, and stories from real life or the folk literature. (Persons may call 301-387-9199 for location of the 2:30 event).

The students' contest will begin at 9 a.m. and the adults will begin at 10:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded from local businesses, including the Book Mark'et and Antique Mezzanine, Jan Florists, First United National Bank & Trust, Marvin's Men's Wear, Englander's Pharmacy, Green Acres Garden Center, Not Just Quilts, Mark IV Office Supply, Towne Restaurant, and the Garrett Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Previous winners, Doc Savage and Howard Payne, will return by popular demand to perform their winning tall tales from last year. Other prizewinning storytellers will include Molly Copes from Virginia, Katie and Otto Ross (a banjo-storytelling team), Mary Sutcliffe, Rob Smith, Paul Shogren, Dick Good, Jeanne Walton from West Virginia, and Joan Whetsell from Pennsylvania. To register as a teller, persons may call Herman at 301-387-9199.

Admission to this contest is $4 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Children must be accompanied by an adult. This event is sponsored by the local branch of the American Association of University Women and the Tri-State Mt. Top Storytelling Guild.

"DON'T BELIEVE A WORD THEY SAY" would be good advice for persons listening to these two fellows, at least during the annual Tall Tale Storytelling Festival, held each year in conjunction with the Autumn Glory Festival. Pictured spinning their yarns in last year's fest are Dr. William Savage, above, and Paul Shogren, right. The event will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. See story for details.

SWANTON NEWS

Harold and Margaret Friend, Warren, Ohio, were recent visitors of the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Marvin and Ruth Beckman, of the North Glade area, as well as other relatives in the county.

Ted and Helen Metcalf visited Ellis and Mary June Harvey last Tuesday afternoon. Later in the week the Metcalfs returned to their home in Naples, Fla.

Approximately 45 persons attended a bridal shower for Gena Franklin at the Swanton Community Center on Saturday evening. Gena, the daughter of Ralph and Sandy Friend, will marry Kurt Winegardner on October 18.

COMMUNITY CENTER NEWS

Fourteen persons went on the day trip to the Paw-Paw Tunnel, C&O Canal, and the Castle at Berkeley Springs, W.Va., last Thursday. The community association will be making and selling doughnuts at the Folk Festival in Springs, Pa., this Friday and Saturday, October 3 and 4.

Twelve representatives from Community Action, Oakland, visited the Swanton hot-meal site on Monday. Barbara Hornyak and Jane Stickley, of the Area Agency on Aging, also visited the site.

The National Association of the Retired and Veteran Railroad Unit #3 Employees will meet Wednesday, Oct. 8, at the Ponderosa, LaVale, at 11 a.m. All railroad employees, retired RR employees, and or their spouses are invited to attend.

OTTERBEIN UM NEWS

The administrative board met Tuesday, Sept. 23. Plans for a revival to be held in November were discussed. Rev. Roger Harrison, pastor at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, will be the speaker November 9-14. The Saturday, Nov. 15, service will close with an old fashioned hymn sing.

On Saturday morning Harley Wildesen, Orval Teets, Ellis Harvey, Richard Gerlach, Steve Davis, Dave Coleman, Ray Sweitzer, and Brian Schofield attended the Brotherhood Breakfast at Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville.

Last Saturday Wanda Maphis, Lynn and Mary Beckman, Mary June Harvey, and Orval and Mareva Teets worked at the Burlington Children's Home campus, Burlington, W.Va., to help prepare apples and jars for apple butter making on Monday. Volunteers will make apple butter every day this week to be sold at the Apple Harvest Festival. The festival will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4-5, on the campus at the children's home in Burlington.

The South Garrett Parish held its annual planning retreat at the Swanton-Kitzmiller parsonage Sunday afternoon. Those attending were Pastor David Simmons, his wife Linda, and his son Jonathan, Barbara Rexroad and Mary June Harvey, Swanton; Pastor Shelby Sisler and Joretta Kuhn, Mt. Storm; Evelyn Steyer, Gormania; Rose Mary and Sue Filsinger, Deer Park; and Pastor Mark Hickman, Mtn. Lake Park.

What is that special, subtle flavor? Maybe the cook pureed a teaspoon of capers in the vinaigrette. The versatile berry is great with fish and chicken, and in pasta sauce with black olives.

Buttery shortbread is baked in a cake pan. Beat a stick of butter with 1\3 cup sugar and 1 tsp. ground ginger (plus a little grated fresh ginger, if you have some.) Mix in 1 cup flour, press into an 8-inch cake pan, score with fork and bake 30 minutes at 350.

What's the skinny on chocolate? Cocoa powder, which has very little fat. Unsweetened chocolate has 16 grams of fat per ounce; semi-sweet has 10 grams; milk chocolate, which includes milk solids, and white chocolate, mostly cocoa butter, have 9 grams each.

Scrambled eggs are perfect for Sunday brunch or supper. Season the eggs with coarse-grained mustard. Sizzle slices of sausage in a pan with chopped green onions; set aside. Cook eggs until soft-set, then add sausage and onion and cook 'til done.

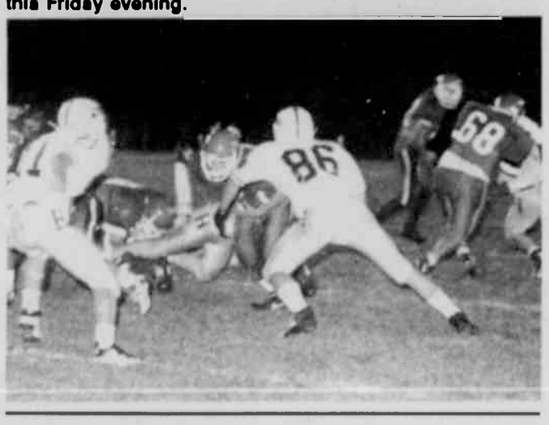
DNR Schedules Meeting On Local Forest Plans

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, will hold public informational hearings on fiscal year 1999 State Forest Work Plans in Garrett County on Saturday, Oct. 25, at 10 a.m. in Room 308 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College.

This public session will cover the work plans for Savage River State Forest and Potomac/Garrett State Forest. The program will begin with a presentation of the annual plan of work for the forests by each of the respective forest managers. Topics will covered include silviculture practice, construction and maintenance projects, wildlife habit, etc., at the forests. Members of the public will then be invited to ask questions and give official comments.



Copies of the work plans will be available at the meetings or can be obtained at the headquarters office of the Savage River State Forest and Potomac/Garrett State Forest.

FOLLOWING HIS BLOCKERS on this run Friday night was Southern High School quarterback Chad Warnick (#3), who led the Rams to a 28-15 victory over visiting Hampshire. The win was the second straight for the Rams and evened their season mark at 2-2. Warnick scored his team's first touchdown on a six-yard run. Below, encountering resistance up the middle and particularly from Hampshire #86, is Southern fullback Josh Bosley, who rushed for over 100 yards against the Trojans, as did tailback Jason Weaver. Also identifiable in the photo is #68 Kenny Myers. The Rams will play at Tucker County this Friday evening.

Rams Improve To 2-2 By Defeating Trojans

While it wasn't a particularly exciting victory, Coach Tom Woods and his team took care of business Friday evening and the Rams evened their varsity football record at 2-2 by defeating the visiting Trojans of Hampshire High, 28-15. Even though the score would indicate a somewhat closer match-up, the statistics were heavily in favor of the Rams, who finished with 341 total yards of offense, compared to just 147 for the 1-4 Trojans, and recorded a 19-5 lead in first downs.

Accounting for 239 of Southern's yards on the ground were running backs Jason Weaver and Josh Bosley, who finished with 136 and 103 yards, respectively. Weaver recorded his yardage on 22 carries, while Bosley was handed the ball 23 times.

Quarterback Chad Warnick also did his part in the Rams' ground attack, as he picked up 66 yards on 15 carries.

Warnick put the first Southern points on the board, when he capped a drive with a six-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. He also ran for the extra two points to give the Rams an 8-0 lead.

The Trojans responded with a successful drive that was concluded with a 24-yard touchdown run by Chad Hott. The conversion pass from Bart Stewart to Travis Digrutolo knotted the score at 8-8.

The Rams took the lead for good at the 1:07 mark of the first quarter when Bosley scored the first of his two touchdowns for the evening, this one on a two-yard run. The run for the extra two points failed, leaving the Rams on top, 14-8.

A four-yard touchdown run by Weaver at the 3:35 mark of the second quarter was the only scoring in that time period, and the Rams went to the locker room at halftime with a 20-8 advantage.

Bosley gave the Rams their biggest lead of the evening when he scored on an eight-yard run midway through the third period, and Warnick ran for the Rams' final two points of the evening.

The Trojans came back in the fourth quarter against the Southern reserve defense to score on a 20-yard touchdown run by Matt Meadows as time expired. The kick for the conversion was good.

Spearheading the Rams' defensive effort was Andy Seib, who had five solo tackles and 11 assists, while Hott recorded 13 tackles for the Trojans. Hott also led Hampshire's running effort with 57 yards on nine attempts.

"We played well in spurts, but we were pretty sloppy a lot of the time, too," stated Ram coach Tom Woods. "We pretty well dominated the statistics, but we shot ourselves in the foot several times with penalties."

One of the problems for the Southern defensive unit was the absence of captain Josh Helbig, who was out of the line-up with an inflamed knee and elbow. He will also not play this week.

"Josh is a real key player for us on defense, especially against the run," Woods said. "He'll miss this week, but we'll be off the following week, so he should be healthy for our next game."

The Rams will travel to Parsons, W.Va., this Friday to take on Tucker County, a team that has struggled somewhat this season, but is currently 3-2 and ranked 12th in West Virginia's double-A standings. Woods describes the Rams' chances as "a toss-up."

"We've seen a lot of steady improvement in Tucker County in the past few weeks," Woods said. "They have great size on their line, and fair speed, but they are a lot like us in that they are a young team. They start seven underclassmen on each side of the ball, just like we do."

The Mountain Lions use a diverse offense, including the wing-T, multiple-I, and shotgun formations, and they are led offensively by senior guard Josh Knotts (6-2, 263), their senior quarterback Nick Klus (5-9, 160), junior split end Derrick Simmons (6-2, 170), and junior running back Wes Lambert (6-0, 170).

"Klus runs the trap and the option very well, and he can throw the ball," Woods said. "Simmons is one of the better receivers in the area, and Lambert is a good, strong running back who would remind you of Jason Weaver (Southern's tailback), only he's a little bigger than Jason."

Tucker County's 4-4 and 6-1 defense is spearheaded by Simmons at corner, senior linebacker J.D. Armstrong (5-9, 160), junior linebacker Jonathan Knox (5-8, 160), and junior end Shahan (6-3, 215).

"Defensively, they run to the ball very well, which is one of the area's that we have seen so much improvement in their team," Woods said.

"One of our big concerns is whether or not our offense can play well against them," he said. "They really just keep pounding you, and with their size up front, it could take a real toll on us.

"But this is a real key game for us," he continued. "We believe if we can win this one, we could be looking at at least a 6-3 season, which would be an excellent record for a young team that will have a lot of kids coming back next year. On the other hand, if we lose this one, it will probably be difficult for us to finish even at .500."

Friday's kickoff at Parsons is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Hayhurst Leads SHS Jayvees Over Spartans

Jeremy Hayhurst scored three touchdowns and a two-point conversion, all in the first half, and finished with 103 yards rushing to pace the Southern junior varsity football team to a 44-6 thrashing of visiting Bishop Walsh Monday evening.

Hayhurst opened Southern's scoring on a 14-yard touchdown run. After a safety when T.J. Riley tackled BW's Matt Greise in the end zone, Hayhurst scored on a one-yard dive to give and hauled in the conversion pass from Josh Sharon to put the Rams up 16-0 in the first quarter.

Hayhurst's final score of the evening was recorded on a 12-yard run in the second quarter. Nathaniel Panther received the conversion pass from Sharon to make it 24-0,

A touchdown by Mickey Chapman on a 17-yard carry put the Rams up 30-0 at halftime.

Tim Tasker then added six points to Southern's total in the third quarter with a one-yard TD run.

The Spartans finally got on the board when Greise broke loose for a 54-yard touchdown run.

The Rams added an insurance touchdown in the final period when Brian Yommer raced 47 yards to the end zone. Billy Hebb ran successfully for the two-point conversion.

Hayhurst's 103 yards were recorded on just 11 carries, while Chapman finished with 83 yards on seven carries.

The Rams will play again Monday at Tucker County. The Southern freshman team is slated to host the Allegany freshmen this evening.

Lyme Disease Vaccine Is Being Evaluated

In 1996 a record number of cases of Lyme disease were reported in the United States. According to the Centers for Disease Control, the 16,641 cases reported last year represent a 41 percent increase over cases reported in the previous year.

Lyme disease is caused by a small organism called a spirochete. However, the disease is spread to humans from animals, such as deer, through the bite of a tick. The tick bite causes a unique skin rash called erythema migrans. Extreme cases of Lyme disease may result in joint stiffness and swelling. The kidneys, eyes, nervous system, and heart also may be affected. The preferred treatment is with potent, broad-spectrum antibiotics. Wearing long sleeves and using a tick repellant before going into wooded areas generally is recommended.

According to Fax-Stat on Drugs, two pharmaceutical companies recently announced that they will seek approval from the Food and Drug Administration to develop and distribute a vaccine for Lyme disease.

Huskies Dominate Panthers To Record Second Victory

Most Northern High School football fans knew their team was favored going into Friday night's home game against Hancock, but few would have predicted that the Huskies would dominate the Panthers to the tune of a 41-6 finish.

The Huskies struck early and they struck hard, as they put 28 points on the board in the first quarter and never looked back. It was the second win in four starts for Coach Phil Carr and his team, and the margin of victory provided the boost of confidence that Carr said his team needed.

"Even though we knew that Hancock was not the quality team that we had played in any of our first three games, we really wanted to win convincingly, just to give our kids some real confidence," the first-year coach said. "We wanted to dominate every facet of the game, and that's what we did.

Northern		Hancock

0	First Downs Passing	2
0	First Downs Penalty	0
15	Total First Downs	8
1	Passes Attempted	9

0-38	Punts-Average	2-31
3-3	Fumbles-Lost	3-3
6-60	Penalties-Yardage	5-30
394	Total offense	196

"Hancock has always given us fits for some reason, regardless of their record," he said. "Two years ago they beat us on our own field, even though we were the better team, and last year, when they went 0-10, we only beat them 7-6 down there. So it was nice to finally get a big win over them."

The dominance by the Huskies began early, and the fact that the Northern junior varsity team did not have a game last week allowed Carr and his staff to give lots of playing time to their younger players. After starting seniors Jimmy Green and Joey Wilhehn each recorded a pair of rushing touchdowns and the Huskies built a 35-0 lead by halftime, Carr substituted freely in the second half, with many of the junior varsity players staying in the game the entire fourth quarter.

N - Mark Wolfe 29 run (kick failed).
H - Sam Hess 36 run (pass failed).

ROLLING UP YARDAGE against the Hancock High School Panthers was no problem for the Northern Huskies Friday night, as they dominated the game and recorded a lopsided 41-6 victory. Above, Northern's leading rusher Jimmy Green finds lots of daylight around the left end. At left is Jeremy Hoover (#5) and also indentifiable is #79, Gary O'Brien, who anchors the Northern line. Below, Scott Slaler takes a similar path to add to the Huskies' total of 386 yards of rushing. O'Brien is also in the photo. The Huskies, who are now 2-2 on the season, will face a big challenge this Friday night when they travel to Frostburg to face the undefeated Beall Mountaineers.

Green opened the Huskies' scoring with a 14-yard touchdown run on Northern's first possession, and Wilhelm followed with a five-yard scoring run on their second offensive series. Matt Houser's conversion kicks gave the Huskies a 14-0 lead.

The Green-Wilhelm-Houser trio then repeated their efforts, with Green scoring on a three-yard carry, Wilhelm following with a 14-yard touchdown run, and Houser again successfully kicking both extra points, all still in the first quarter to put Northern up 28-0.

Jeremy Hoover, who was playing with a sprained groin muscle, put the Huskies' next score on the board, as he broke loose for a 35-yard touchdown run, and Houser's kick made it 35-0 at halftime.

The Northern scoring slowed considerably in the second half with all of the substitutions, but after a scoreless third quarter, junior varsity running back Mark Wolfe concluded the Huskies' scoring for the night with a 29-yard touchdown run. The conversion kick was no good.

Against the reserve defense, the Panthers finally got on the board when Sam Hess raced 36 yards for a touchdown. The pass for the extra two points was incomplete.

Green finished with 156 yards, while Wilhelm recorded 100 yards on 10 carries. The Huskies finished with a 394-196 advantage in total offense, with all but eight of Northern's yards being recorded on the ground.

Carr and his staff credited the play of their defensive line, particularly that of Wolfe, Corey Sisler, Gary O'Brien, and Ryan Savage.

"One of the keys was jumping on them so early," Coach Carr said. "They just couldn't recover."

The Huskies came out of the contest generally healthy, Carr said, which is crucial for the varsity team, since it has only 20 members. However, even with everyone healthy, the Huskies will have their hands full this Friday night when they travel to Frostburg to take on the undefeated Beall Mountaineers (4-0).

The biggest win for the Mountaineers is an overtime victory over Keyser two weeks ago.

One of Carr's worries is that Coach Roy DeVore, who used to be an assistant with Carr at Northern, utilizes the wishbone offense.

"They're the only ones on our schedule who use the wishbone," Carr said, "and even though it's a simple offense, it's one of the toughest ones to defend. Your defensive players have to stay on their toes the whole time, they have to know how to read what's going to happen. They send two blocking backs through, and give the ball to the third one, and they also run the option a lot."

The person running the wishbone, senior quarterback Justin Patterson (5-11, 160), is described by Carr as "one of the better quarterbacks in the area," and is often the back who carries the ball. "He runs the option well, and he loves to run the ball, so he doesn't pitch it very often," he said, "and he's scored five or six touchdowns this year on runs of at least 50 yards. He has good speed and he fakes well."

Other threats in the Beall backfield are senior fullback Shawn Opel (5-9, 180), junior halfback Tom Leasure (6-3, 189), and sophomore halfback Ryan Brodbeck (5-5, 155). "Opel is a strong, hard-nosed runner, Leasure has good size and speed, and Brodbeck just might be their most talented runner, even though he is a sophomore," Carr said. "He's got great moves, and was a very good back on their jayvee team last year."

The Mountaineers run the ball almost exclusively, as they pass only four or five times a game.

Leading the Beall defense are Patterson, Opel, and senior linebacker Todd Merrbach (5-11, 185), whom Carr believes is their best defensive player.

"If we hope to have any chance of winning the game, we are going to have to keep pressure on Patterson and make him pitch the ball," Carr said. "If we can't contain his running the ball, we're going to be in for a long night.

"We were able to shut down their wishbone last year," he said, "but this year's team is a little better."

While Carr has respect for Beall's 4-0 mark, he believes they have only been tested only once, that being against Keyser, "but," he said, "they passed the test."

Carr said that the Northern-Beall game has evolved into a major rivalry in recent years, in some ways even bigger than the Northern-Southern rivalry.

"They don't like us very well and we don't like them very well," he said frankly, "and our kids just love to play Beall, not just in football, but in all the other sports. We have had no problem at all this week in getting our kids up for this game, especially since Beall is 4-0 and we have an opportunity to stop them."

Carr said that there will be only minor changes in the Huskies' offensive game plan. "We are going to stick basically with what we have, and if we do that well, we believe we have a shot."

The kickoff Friday evening at Beall is slated for 7:30.

My 80th Birthday was a blessing because of many beautiful friends.
THANK YOU!
GOD BLESS YOU!

Card of Thanks

The family of Maryland Loughry would like to thank all of their dear friends for the many expressions of love, encouragement, support and sympathy during her long illness and recent death.

A very special thankyou to Rev. & Mrs. Theodore Uphold for their loving support and the beautiful and comforting memorial service they conducted. To Gene Lambert and Esther Stoner - there are no words to express the beauty, comfort and blessing they provided with their beautiful music and magical voices. To the Gorman Fire Department for the use of their building and the Ladies Auxiliary for the nice dinner they served.

May God richly reward each and every one of you.

With sincere appreciation,

Runnin' Rams Win Uniontown Invitational; Girls Are Third

Over 50 high school cross country teams, from schools of all sizes, have tried to defeat the four-time Southern High School boys' team, but all have failed so far this season, and the Rams added another major feather to their caps Saturday when they took first place in the annual Uniontown Invitational. Seventeen high schools from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland participated.

The Rams, who represent the smallest high school division (Class A), were paced once again by co-captain Dan Sincell and finished with 52 team points, comfortably ahead of second-place Fairmont with 88. Uniontown finished third with 121 points, followed by Chartiers Valley, 137; Connellsville, 142; Bethel Park, 166; University, 185, Waynesburg, 200; Trinity, 218; Laurel Highlands, 220, Westmar, 288, Morgantown, 303, McKeesport, 338, South Moreland, 358; and Brownsville, Northern, and Alderdice all with incomplete scores.

The Rams' top five runners placed among the top 17 in the race. Sincell, who has finished first individually for the Rams in every race this season, placed fourth with a time of 17:16, while Eric Reinode was sixth in 17:23, Casey McBee finished 12th (17:41), Beau Gibson was 13th (17:45), and Sean Cearcy placed 17th (18:10). The Rams' sixth and seventh runners, Ted Wolfe and Mike Bittinger, finished 26th (18:38) and 49th (19:33), respectively.

Ben Junko, of Trinity High School, was the fastest runner of the day, as he crossed the finish line in 16:42.

The top runners for the Northern Huskies were Joe Weimer, who placed 22nd in 18:23, Matt Kauffman, 79th (20:53), Jason Artice, 84th (21:52), and Dave Butler, 93rd (24:43).

The Southern girls' team also had an outstanding day and finished third among 16 teams with 88 points. Only South Moreland with 43 points and Fairmont with 55 points topped the Rams. Beth Park was fourth with 102 points, followed by Alderdice, 123; Connellsville, 131; Laurel Highlands, 174; Westmar, 252; Uniontown, 259; Morgantown, 277; Waynesburg, 282; University, 312; and Brownsville, Northern, Trinity, and Chartiers Valley, all with incomplete scores.

Northern High's Rachel Leverenz was the top Garrett County runner, as she placed seventh with a time of 21:02.

Leading the Rams was Angie Sincell, who was 11th with a time of 21.34, followed by Amy Snyder in 13th place, 21:46. Erin Hoalcraft finished 19th (22:13), Beth Sauder was 22nd (22:30), and Anissa Jamison was the fifth Southern runner, as she placed 39th in 23:35. Christy Hoalcraft was 44th (23:44) and Katie Moomau placed 71st (25:43).

The biggest test of the season for the Runnin' Rams, coached by Carl Booth (boys) and Louis Newcomb (girls), will be this Saturday when they vie in the annual Frostburg State University Invitational, to be held at Fort Frederick near Clear Spring.

Huskies Break Streak, Defeat Wildcats, 1-0

After six outings and no victories, the Northern High School soccer team broke that six-game losing streak Tuesday night by edging host Westmar, 1-0.

The Huskies and Wildcats played to a scoreless tie in the first half, but just under seven minutes into the second half, Northern's Matt Fletcher broke loose to score an unassisted goal. The Huskies kept the Wildcats out of the net the rest of the way to record their first victory of the 1997 campaign.

The statistics showed that the final score reflected the closeness of the match, as the Huskies finished with 16 shots on goal and Westmar had 15. Northern keeper Matt Fritz turned away 10 of those shots, while Westmar's Jeff Baker also finished with 10 saves. The Huskies led in corner shots by a 5-1 margin.

The loss dropped Westmar to 2-5 overall and 1-4 in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League. All seven of the Huskies' matches have been WMIL contests.

The Northern junior varsity was nipped by the same score in the preliminary match.

The Huskies will play again this Saturday at Hyndman, with the kickoff slated for noon. They will travel to Salisbury for a match next Tuesday, with that encounter also slated to be an afternoon match.

Northern Youth Squad Blanked By Keyser, 12-0

The Northern Steelers went down to a 12-0 defeat in a Cumberland Area Youth Football League contest with the visiting Keyser Steelers Sunday afternoon.

Eric Melody hauled in a touchdown pass from Troy Ravenscraft in the first quarter to put Keyser up 6-0. There was no more scoring until the fourth quarter, when Mike Amtower scored for Keyser on a four-yard run.

Chris Redman paced Keyser's ground game with 111 yards on 13 carries, while Blake Browning picked up 57 yards on six carries.

Leading the Northern defensive effort were Tony Durst, Jeremy Lahman, and Trey Brenneman.

Ram Booters Crush Calvary For Fifth Win

The varsity soccer team of Southern High School had no problem recording its fifth win of the season against just one defeat, as the Rams hammered host Calvary Christian Academy last Friday afternoon, 8-1. Coach Tom Powers played most of his junior varsity team in the second half of the contest after the varsity put the match out of reach.

While the goals came relatively easy for the Rams, the match was also costly, in that starting forward Chad Lovett sustained a broken wrist and freshman Andrew Grant sustained a severely sprained ankle.

Mark Ludwig put the first ball in the net for the Rams off an assist by Derrick Nelson. John Andrews, who finished the day with a hat trick (three goals), doubled Southern's score with a goal off a feed by John Menker, to give the Rams a 2-0 advantage at halftime.

Andrews scored the next two Southern goals, one off a feed by Jeff McDaniel and the other off an assist by Karlo Gesner to make it 4-0.

Ricky Vecchioni then put the Rams up 5-0 with a goal off an assist by Chris Friend, and Friend scored the next time with Bo Johnson assisting.

Mike Tressler then put Southern up 7-0 with an unassisted goal, and Ryan Ewing rounded out the Rams' point production with a goal off a feed by Brian Rollman.

Calvary Christian averted a shutout when Simon Hoogland scored on a penalty kick late in the match against reserve keeper Josh Stephens.

The Rams finished with a commanding 24-7 advantage in shots on goal, and also led in corner kicks by a 10-0 margin. Jonathan Price had four saves for the Rams, while Doug Diehl recorded seven for Calvary Christian.

It was the sixth loss for Calvary against a pair of victories and one tie.

Southern is currently 5-1 on the season and tied for first place with Flintstone in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League standings with a 4-0 mark.

The Rams will face a much tougher opponent this evening when they travel to Cumberland for a return match with Allegany. Southern edged the Campers, 3-2, in their first match this season in Oakland.

Southern will then play at Bishop Walsh next Tuesday with hopes of avenging their only loss (3-1) this season.

Ann Wellham Returns As Head Coach Of Lakers

The Garrett Community College Lady Lakers will begin the 1997-1998 season with a new "old" look. Returning as head women's basketball coach is GCC professor/athletic director Ann Wellham, who coached the women's team for six years (1981-1987). She took a sabbatical in 1987 to begin work on a doctoral degree in exercise physiology at West Virginia University. Since then, Wellham continued taking classes part time at Frostburg State University and completed a master's in business administration in 1993.

A native of Linthicum, Wellham began her career at GCC in the fall of 1981 as head women's basketball coach and assistant professor of physical education and outdoor education. Sixteen years later she holds the titles of professor of health and physical education, athletic director, and women's basketball coach. Wellham completed a bachelor of science degree at Towson State University in physical education in 1978 and a master of arts in physical education at Northern Michigan University in 1981.

Coach Wellham has a combined basketball coaching and playing background of 15 years. As a member of the Towson State Tiger basketball and volleyball squads, she received Outstanding Female Athlete of the Year honors during her junior and senior years. During her second year of enrollment at Northern Michigan, she served as assistant women's basketball coach for the state champion Northern Michigan Wildcats.

During her first six years as head coach for the Lady Lakers, Wellham's record was 50-84 against very competitive Region XX and Maryland JUCO opponents. Highlights from the six seasons include competing in the Maryland JUCO State Tournament in the semi-finals and in the Region XX Tournament in the quarter-finals.

Wellham says she is "excited" about the 1997-98 season. "I have been able to recruit very talented, well-rounded basketball players," she said. "Most of them have seen state tournament play and know what it takes to play for a competitive program.

Garrett will be the host site for the Maryland JUCO State Tournament this year. "This will allow Garrett County to see first-hand the type of competition there is in the state," Wellham concluded.

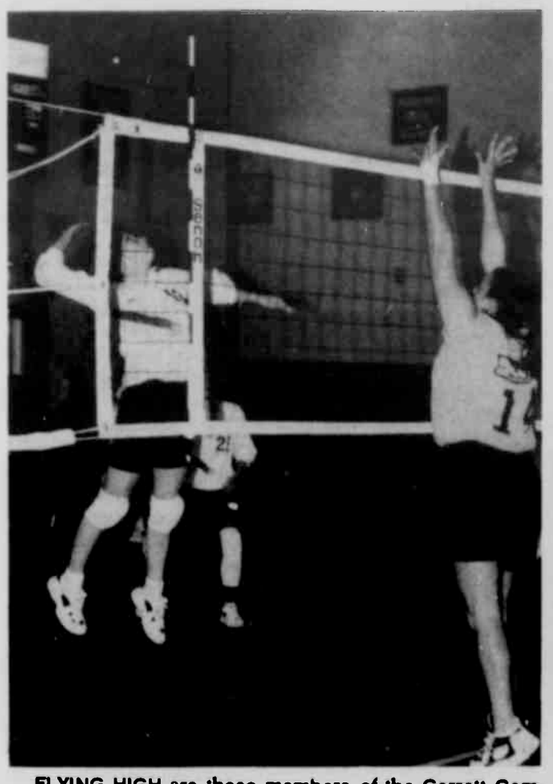
Husky Netters Defeat Spartans, Mountaineers To Stay Unbeaten

The Northern High School girls' varsity volleyball team remains unbeaten for the year after two victories on its home court last week. The Huskies vanquished both Bishop Walsh and Beall by match scores of 3-0 in both contests.

Chelsea Frickey led Northern to a strong win over BW on Monday with nine service points and Amy Hinebaugh added seven as the Huskies defeated the Spartans in three straight games, 15-7, 15-4, and 15-9. Jenny Stevens led the Northern attack with 12 kills.

BW's Caitlan Mullaney had 12 service points and Alison Konczyk added five.



The Northern junior varsity team, led by Mimi Harvey's 13 service points, took its match with BW by scores of 15-1 and 15-2.

On Wednesday the Husky varsity girls blanked Beall 3-0, with game scores of 15-1, 15-6, and 15-13. Amanda Downton tallied nine service points while Frickey and Kerri Sines added seven points each. Rebecca Hinebaugh led the offense with nine attacks.

The Mountaineers were led by Donna Skidmore's 10 service points and Shannon Hetz's five kills and eight assists.

The Husky jayvees duplicated the varsity's shutout, taking their match with a 2-0 total with game scores of 15-0 and 15-10. Northern's Cindy McKenzie scored nine points, while Autumn Ritchie tallied four points for Beall.

The Huskies go for win number nine, against no defeats, when they host Hyndman on Wednesday.

Ram Netters Defeat Beall, Fall To 'Cats

The Southern High School girls volleyball team split two matches this week, defeating Beall 3-0 in a Monday matchup in Frostburg, then dropping a home match Wednesday 3-1 at the hands of visiting Westmar. The Lady Rams' record now stands at 3-5.

Jessica Saturday's fine performance against the Beall Spartans paced an all-around team effort, as she tallied 13 service points and eight kills in leading the Ram girls to a 15-13, 15-5, and 15-3 victory at Beall. Meridith Martin and Michelle Teter helped round out the Ram attack with 15 service points and 10 assists, respectively. Beall's efforts were paced by Heather Price with six points and two kills, while Donna Skidmore added 12 assists.

The Southern jayvees took their match as well with game scores of 15-0 and 15-8. A strong showing by Megan Hickman led Southern, as she tallied 18 points, three aces, and three kills. Beall's Autumn Ritchie and Heather Metrick each had three points.

The Ram varsity dropped its following match to the Westmar Wildcats, 15-3, 13-15, 15-10, and 15-7. Andrea Gattens' 14 service points helped the Wildcats to the win. A. Elko added 10 points for Westmar. Saturday and Joanifer Teagarden led Southern's effort with seven service points and six points, respectively. Brittany Slider added six kills.

The Southern jayvee netters denied Westmar a perfect day however, by defeating the Wildcats 15-7 and 16-14. Sara Winters, Erica Wilt and Amy Johnson had eight service points, while Johnson also had three kills, five assists and one ace. Westmar was paced by B. Martin's eight service points, while J. Ferrens added five.

Southern will host Oldtown on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Laker Netters Take A Pair, Drop A Pair

After leading off at home on Friday with a win, followed by another home victory the next day to take its winning streak to eight straight triumphs, the Garrett Community College women's volleyball team stumbled in two matches in Hagerstown. The Lakers' record now stands at 11-5 overall, 4-1 in the Maryland JUCO.

GCC got off to a good start on Friday evening, taking its seventh straight victory in a three-game sweep of Penn State-New Kensington by game scores of 15-3, 15-2, and 15-4.

Andrea Barrick went 21-for-23 from the service line against PS-NK with nine aces, and added a four-for-five attack total with three kills. Alexis Nogle was 10-for-10 on service with three aces, and converted 17 of 29 setting opportunities while adding 11 assists. Former Northern high netter Mindy McCarty went 10-for-11 in serves with two aces and 14-for-15 on the attack with six kills, while going 16-for-19 in sets with five assists. Erica McBride weighed in on the attack with a 12-for-14 total and five kills.

Saturday's home match against Essex Community College was more of the same, as the Lakers followed McCarty to victory with scores of 15-1, 16-14, and 15-3. McCarty paced her team by going 15-for-19 on the attack with eight kills, 11-for-12 in service with three aces, and 32-for-40 in sets with 11 assists. Erica King totaled 12 service points and four kills, while Barrick added four kills of her own.

GCC's winning streak came to an end in Hagerstown on Wednesday in a showdown between the number one JUCO-ranked Lakers and the number two ranked Hagerstown Junior College netters. Hagerstown dominated the Garrett women with scores of 15-0, 15-12, and 15-0. McBride was four-for-four from the service line with one ace and seven-for-12 in attacks with two kills, while Barrick tallied seven service points and Sindy Niner added six. McCarty was 12-for-16 on the attack with five kills, while compiling 16 sets.

Things didn't get much better in the second half of GCC's visit in Hagerstown, as the Lakers dropped their nightcap against Penn State-Mont Alto 15-8, 15-10, and 15-5. Barrick was 12-for-15 in service with one ace, while King added 11 service points and an ace. McCarty led the attack with seven kills, and Barrick had six kills.

The Lakers will attempt to get back on the winning track as they host Charles and Westmoreland community colleges tonight at 6 p.m. on the McHenry court.

Weekly winners are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers must register their catch at Johnny's Bait House, Rt. 219, south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

Oakland Women's Golf Association Concludes Season

Medley Play was the game of the Women's Golf Association of the Oakland Golf Club for September 18, with teams drawn after play. One best ball for par fives, two best balls for par fours, and three best balls for par threes was the scoring used.

Winning first place honors with 132 was the team of Bobbie Seward, Angie Bosley, Ruth Porter, and Kasuko Hamill. Scoring 134 and winning second place was the team of Marianna Naylor, Margaret Moran, Marion Boehmer, and Vickie Regnier, while the team of Pat Filsinger, Kay Howard, Rita Humberson, and Celeste Lascaris placed third, totaling 138.

Cheryl Wotherspoon won low putts with 32, Mary Spencer's 33 was good for second low putts, and Marion Boehmer placed third with 34.

The last meeting of the 1996-1997 year was held September 25 with luncheon at the clubhouse. It was announced that two scholarships for $500 each were given to Nicole Bosley and Nathan Rickman. A donation of $200 was made to the Terra Alta Santa Claus. Awards were made to the winners and runners-up of the Championship Tournament, and balls were awarded to players making birdies or "gobbles" (chip-ins) during Thursday play.

Officers for the 1997-1998 year are: president, Marion Boehmer; vice-president, June Bray; treasurer, Sherry Grant; recording secretary, Carolyn Deverse; and corresponding secretary, Cheryl Wotherspoon.

WINS 20TH RACE - Local cart racer Jeremy Murphy captured his 20th victory of the 1997 season in a race at the Outlew Speedway in Somerset, Pa., on Sept. 20. Making his 20th first piece finish more impressive was the fact that he started at the rear of the field. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Murphy, resides along Underwood Road just south of Oakland.

Huskies, Rams Fifth, Sixth In Area Event

The golf teams of Northern and Southern high schools represented Garrett County well in the Maryland Class 1A/2A West Region Golf Championships, held at Black Rock Golf Course in Hagerstown on Monday, as the Huskies finished fifth and the Rams sixth among 19 teams participating.

The top individual finisher from Garrett County was Kane Wengerd of Southern, who carded a 76 to capture the runner-up award. Only Middletown's Derek Ausherman finished higher than Wengerd with his winning 72.

Matt Settle led the Huskies to their fifth place finish, as he finished sixth with a score of 78.

Northern's Justin Heslop and Southern's Bryson Paugh were both tied for 19th place with scores of 89.

Jill Speicher was the second highest finisher among the female players, as she carded a 107. Sara Jacobson of Brunswick was the top female player, as she recorded a 95.

Northern finished with a team score of 361, while Southern placed three strokes back at 364. Middletown won the title with a 324, followed by Walkersville, 325; Boonsboro, 357; and Allegany, 361. Placing seventh through 19th were: Urbana, 367; Brunswick, 372; North Hagerstown, 373; South Hagerstown, 374; Beall, 382; Fort Hill, 384; Catoctin, 385; Clear Spring, 400; Westmar, 427; Mount Savage, 516; Oldtown, 566; and Flintstone and Smithsburg with incomplete scores.

Southern will play again today against Preston and East Fairmont at Preston, and the Rams and Huskies will meet each other next Thursday in a four-team meet with Beall and Fort Hill, hosted by the Huskies at the Wisp course.

Speedway Champs Keep Track Record In The Family

Twice during the 1997 racing season, Chris Sanner and his stepfather Bob Arsenberger of Mill Run. Pa., stood in the victory lane at speedway together. The two men share a skill and pleasure behind the wheel and on the track.

Sanner, a 19-year-old student at Garrett Community College, began racing go-karts when he was 12 years old. He took his racing machines to asphalt and dirt tracks competing at Jennerstown Speedway, Jennerstown, Pa., Acme Speedway, Acme, Pa., and Fairmont Speedway, Fairmont, W.Va.

In 1995 he was given the opportunity by Dave Schlessinger, McKeesport, Pa., to drive a Pure Stock car at Motordrome Speedway. By the end of that first season, Sanner placed 6th at Jennerstown and 11th at Motordrome.

During the 1997 season, Sanner competed in the Giant Eagle Street Stock division at Jennerstown and the Frank Auto Supermarket Street Stock Division at Motordrome Speedway. At season's end he held 2nd place at Motordrome and 1st, with the track championship at Jennerstown. He counted among his season's wins nine first places.

Sanner is the son of the late Mark N. Sanner, Friendsville, grandson of Amanda Lowdermilk, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sanner Jr., all of Friendsville, and great-grandson of Mrs. Clyde Sanner Sr., Accident.

His mother, Nancy Arsenberger, said that her son has a joking rivalry with his step-dad. "I taught Chris all he knows about racing and then Chris learned some more on his own," Bob said.

Bob Arsenberger has been racing for 30 years and has held championships at Morgantown Speedway, Morgantown, W.Va., and Elkins Speedway, Elkins, W.Va. He has also competed at Motordrome Speedway, Jennerstown Speedway, and other tracks in western Pennsylvania.

In 1996 he finished 4th in the NASCAR Winston Racing series northeast region and was honored at the Opryland Hotel, Nashville, Tenn. Among his wins for the 1997 season are 3rd place, Jennerstown, 5th place, Motordrome, and 1st place in the Piney Laskey Memorial 200 race at Jennerstown.

"My goal in the 1997 racing season was to see both Bob and Chris in victory lane on the same night; and the boys didn't let me down. Not only did they do it once, they did it twice and no one could have been prouder than I was," Nancy Arsenberger said.

SHARING THE SPOTLIGHT - This winning duo is Chris Senner, left, and his stepfather Bob Arsenberger of Mill Run, Pa. The 19-year-old student has been racing since he was 12 years old. His step-ded has a 30-year racing record. Both men have taken home many trophies. Nancy Arsenberger, Chris's mom, said her goal for 1997 was to see them in victory lane on the same night. And they did this, not once, but twice.

The fee for registering an initial household vehicle is $20. Other household vehicles may be registered for an additional $10 per vehicle. Individuals who rarely utilize a second or third vehicle to access the sites may wish to purchase bag stickers. These may be placed on individual bags of garbage up to 13 gallons in size. Larger bags brought to the sites require two stickers.

Bag stickers may be purchased at Arrowhead Grocery at Thayersville, Slopeside Market/Citgo Gas Station at McHenry, Foodland Fresh at McHenry, Get N' Go in Oakland, Yough Video in Friendsville, Swanton Grocery in Swanton, and the Chestnut Ridge Amoco near Grantsville. Individual bag stickers may also be purchased at the Solid Waste and Recycling office at the new landfill.

Area residents may continue to utilize the sites for recycling of aluminum and bi-metal cans, clear, green and brown glass bottles, and newsprint, without having to register their vehicles or using bag stickers. The new Garrett County landfill, located 3½ miles north of Oakland along the Oakland-Sang Run Road, and the Grantsville collection site also accept motor oil generated from residences at no charge. Number 2 plastic bottles and jugs are also accepted at the King's Run Road and Grantsville collection sites at no charge.

Any questions concerning Garrett County's refuse site collection program may be directed to the Office of Solid Waste and Recycling by phone at 301-387-0322 or by e-mail at GCSW@GCNET.NET.

Meyers Couple

become a Lion. Bill also belongs to the VFW #1077 and the Catholic War Veterans. He was wounded by a land mine in World War II and was given the Purple Heart medal.

Before his retirement, Bill worked for the United States Information Agency, located in downtown Washington, D.C., just two blocks from the White House. Hazel is a registered nurse. In the course of their 47-year marriage, they have known both the joy and the grief that parenthood can bring. They had two daughters and have four grandchildren. Three of those children are now in the couple's care, as a result of the untimely death of their daughter Debbie, who succumbed to cancer in August 1996.

"You never expect to outlive your children," Hazel said. "We thought she was beating it -- she had done so well with the illness. But then she got a terrible backache in May and I knew something was terribly wrong. That was the beginning of the end." The cancer had invaded her spine, Hazel said, and it was then only a matter of time.

"Her children are now 13, 11, and 9, and we are helping her husband by just being there as much as we can," Hazel said. Indeed, she spends most of her time at the Alexandria, Va., home, and Bill commutes back and forth regularly, keeping up on projects of the Garrett County DAV and Lions Club.

"I love it here," Bill said. "It's so quiet, there's no traffic, and the people . . . the people are great. They are always so ready to help out and to give."

Helping out is a specialty of the Meyerses, as they have worked together to volunteer their time at local nursing homes, with the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation, and with their civic club affiliations. Not only do they speak out on behalf of disabled veterans and raise local money for local vets, the pair also lends a hand simply when one is needed. For example, they are often among the first to respond when a local family experiences a house fire or other calamity. They also help with food and clothing drives.

"We feel that people here have simply given us the opportunity to help," Hazel said. "Paul Shockey is one special person we'd like to thank. He is one who has simply helped us find out about the needs in this area. It's not hard to help when you have so many good people around, like Paul. There are many, many people in the DAV who have worked hard for years -- lots of people deserve this kind of recognition in that group."

Hazel was also quick to express her devotion to her husband.

"We're so honored to be recognized hke this, but I'm especially glad because of Bill -- I've been cited for this and that, but he has quietly sacrificed so much for me and my efforts. He's my whole life."

The couple will be honored at a state ceremony in Annapolis with the governor on November 5. Also to be in attendance are the two runners-up in the local project. They are Dr. David Bolinger, a local chiropractor who arranges the Rotary Christmas Project every year, which brings gifts and food boxes to hundreds of needy local families; and Patrick Kelly, an investigator with the state's prosecutor's office who has worked for years to lessen domestic violence in the county, as well as violence against senior citizens.

BITTINGER

Ruth DiPaolo attended the meeting of the Maryland State Boards of Social Service Directors at Tidewater Inn, Easton, on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Betty, Ralph, and Penny Hummel, from the state of Washington, returned home Sunday after visiting with families and relatives for a week. Dorothy Qunaintance, Las Cruces, N.M., returned home Wednesday.

Beulah Moon, Jo Ellen Graham, Joanne Buckel, and Patty Brumbaugh recently returned from a trip to Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard. While there they visited many historical and other places of interest, and took whale-watching boat trip off the coast of Provincetown.

The next meeting of the Bethesda Church of the Brethren youth group has been scheduled for October 4 from 3 to 6 p.m.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish will celebrate Appalachian Sunday on October 12 with a joint worship service beginning at 10 a.m. Communion will be celebrated at the service. Special music will be provided, along with music by the joint adult choir. A fellowship hour will follow in the educational building immediately after the service.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth group will hold a meeting and hayride at the home of Rodney Glotfelty this Saturday, Oct. 4, beginning at 3 p.m. All youth of the parish are welcome to attend.

Assertiveness, Communication Class Offered

A class titled "Strengthening Your Assertiveness and Communication Skills" will be taught by Julie Yoder at Garrett Community College. The class is designed to help participants build skills in communicating effectively, building trust, and empowering others. It is designed to help participants build confidence, personal power, and supervisory effectiveness by learning to communicate assertively. Managers and supervisors will learn to assess and strengthen assertiveness skills, use motivational communication techniques, focus on listening to understand, give and get positive feedback, and coach and counsel. The class will meet on three consecutive Wednesdays, Oct. 15, 22, and 29, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

Since space is limited, those interested in these classes should register immediately. To obtain information on any of these classes or other business classes, persons may call Sandy Major, Cathy Fazenbaker or Julie Yoder at the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

IT'S NEVER TOO EARLY to learn community spirit and responsibility. These second- grade students from Friendsville Elementary School spent the afternoon with their town mayor, Spencer R. Schlosnagle, at Town Hall. Six council members-for-the-day were selected, and one student was selected as council president. These temporary town officials looked at maps of the incorporated town limits, and discussed municiple taxes, town services, and the budget process. The mayor also talked with the young citizens about their ownership of the town and its property, including the park. And with ownership comes responsibility and pride, he pointed out. The group also talked about volunteering to help others, like visiting with older neighbors who may not have their own grandchildren around to give them a hand. On a walk through the town that day, the mayor and the children talked about keeping the street clean and free of litter. Mayor Schlosnagle pointed out to the children that he was 18 years old when he first served on the town council. "It won't be too long before you are that age. You will be the leaders of our town," he told them. Pictured here, Mayor Schlosnagle is flanked by the second-grade members of the town council while the other youngsters listen to an explanation of town budgets.

GCC Offering Customer Service Class Oct. 6, 13

"Making all customer contacts positive is the key to service excellence," said Julie Yoder, instructor for a customer service class scheduled at Garrett Community College.

"The way your employees deal with customers is critical to the success of your business. While customers are seeking quality products, they also want to be treated well and will continue business with companies that emphasize quality customer service. The lifeblood of any company is repeat business," she said. This class will meet October 6 and October 13 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

The class is designed to equip managers and front line employees with the skills they need to build a business that values customers and delivers customer centered services. Some of the skills taught focus on: how to build and keep customer goodwill, using actions that can build trust, improving communication and phone skills, and dealing calmly with difficult people.

Since space is limited, those interested in these classes should register immediately. To obtain information on any of these classes or other business classes, persons may call Julie Yoder, Cathy Fazenbaker or Sandy Major at 301-387-3080.

AGF To Offer Ski Swap, Rides, Food P.O. Cancellation

Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival will this year include numerous events, such as a special postal cancellation, chairlift rides, sporting equipment "swaps," and turkey dinners, among many others.

The Postal Cancellation and Philatelic Information will be available 8-11 a.m. and 2-4 p.m. on Friday and 8 a.m. until noon on Saturday at the Oakland Post Office.

Scenic chairlift rides at Wisp Ski Resort in McHenry Lake will run Friday through Sunday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily for a views of the fall foliage. The cost is $3.95 per person.

The High Mountain Sports Annual Ski, Snowboard, and In-Line Skate Swap will be held 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday at High Mountain Sports, located along Route 219 at Trader's Landing.

The Mountain Fresh Farmers' Market will be open 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Oakland Town Parking Lot, offering local produce, crafts, baked goods, maple syrup, painted pumpkins, and flowers, with entertainment and games for kids on Friday afternoon.

The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will host turkey dinners "with all the trimmings" on Saturday, Oct. 11, from 3-6 p.m. at the Southern High School cafeteria, and take-outs are available for those who bring their own containers. Turkey dinners will be served at area restaurants throughout the weekend.

The Garrett County Historical Museum & Genealogical Library on Second Street in Oakland will be open Thursday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily and 1-4 p.m. Sunday, depicting the history of the county and its people from past to present with local artifacts and a genealogical reference library. Admission is free; donations are appreciated.

A "No Hands" Sundae-Eating Contest will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Lakeside Creamery, located along Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake. Prizes will be awarded in different age groups. This contest will benefit the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization and the fee for contestants is $3.25, with free admission for spectators.

New Arrivals

The births of two infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesperson.

A daughter was born September 29 to William Paul and Joy Seagrams Michel Everett Gank, Mtn. Lake Park.

A daughter was born October 1 to Michael Alvy and Melita Lynne Halterman McCroskey, Oakland.

Oakland Police Report DWI

Oakland police reported the arrest of Carol L. Moore, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, on Tuesday, Sept. 23. Moore was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Management Class Slated

Understanding record keeping techniques is essential for those operating a small business, and a class that focuses on how to set up the basic required records--inventory and personnel records, receipts and disbursements, federal, state, and local tax forms--is scheduled at Garrett Community College.

This class will meet October 21 and 28 from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. Clay Garland will be the teacher.

All classes will be held at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College. Since space is limited, those interested in attending should register immediately. To register or obtain additional information, persons may call Sandy Major, Cathy Fazenbaker or Julie Yoder at the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

"FAMILY MATTERS" will be the theme of the second annual lectureship at the Oakland Church of Christ, at which Perry Heneger, left, and Eugene Brewer are slated to speak. Scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 18, this year's event brings together four speakers with many combined years of experience from great distances to educate and inform their audience on the topic of home and family life. Heneger has been minister of the Church of Christ in Clarksburg, W.Va. for 23 years; Brewer has served the Manchester, Conn. Church of Christ for 36 years; not pictured is Dr. Peter Clark, counselor for the Church of Christ in Morgantown, W.Va. and the surrounding region, and Ron Laughrey, minister for the Church of Christ in Belpre, Ohio. The public is invited, and lunch will be provided to all participants by the church.

DON'T SETTLE FOR LESS STAY HEALTHY

Oftentimes in our desire to cut corners we take chances that we probably would not take otherwise. In some things you can get away with this and not suffer too much of a penalty. But when it involves the status of your health, shortcuts can be more than dangerous.

We suggest that you consult your physician if you suspect an illness and that you then do exactly what he says to do. If he gives you a written prescription, have it filled at once. Enjoy good health - don't settle for less.

A friendly breeze stirs the leaves of gold and scarlet on this misty October morning. Toward noon, the bright rays of the sun will tug off coats and sweaters as leaves crackle under foot. That last luscious taste of summer is so tantalizingly sweet. We have been given a temporary reprieve from the first cold and windy days that will tell of the coming of winter.

Weekly worship is much like that October day...a rather brief but special time when God's children come together joyfully and thankfully as His love flows all around us. It is a time to refresh and lighten our souls as the warmth of God's spirit reassures us that He will be with us through each moment of our busy lives and through situations that leave us chilled by worry and despair.

Visit your chosen place of worship this week. Experience the warmth of God's love.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE YOU A DISPLACED PERSON?
October 5, 1997

Background Scripture:
Daniel 1
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 40:1-11

In a day in which life is so full of soaring complexities, ambiguities and uncertainties, for those of us who can remember what at least seemed like simpler, more comprehensible and manageable times, looking back to life then may make us feel like displaced persons today.

Despite the fact that most of these were the Depression years in our nation, I remember the days when everything else seemed easier and more virtuous. Whether they really were "easier and more virtuous" is a matter of some dispute. Nevertheless, I sometimes feel that although my body is firmly planted in the 1990s, my insides are tuned to life four or five decades previous.

I can therefore imagine how it must have felt to be a Jewish exile in Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon. Many of these people were determined to remain faithful to their God and live as devout Jews. But, despite their high resolve, it was a different world in which they found themselves and living as devout Jews was extremely difficult.

In many ways, it was a better life, at least economically speaking. Babylon was prosperous as Judah had never been. The Babylonian culture was rich, varied and often luxurious. But, despite the material advantages, the spiritual atmosphere was not supportive of their faith.

IGNORING OUR CHOICE

Their dilemma is somewhat similar to what we face today. While life in these United States may not so much oppose or persecute followers of Christ, neither does our culture make it easy to truly follow him. The values of our society are obviously very different from those in the New Testament. Although our coins declare "In God We Trust," our daily living, economics and political life testify that we really believe much more in other things. Many of us survive or even prosper by making compromises. We get along by going along and if we can spread a thin veneer of Christian catchwords over our society it keeps us from realizing that real Christianity would compel us to make a choice.

It is difficult for us to understand why observing the dietary laws of Judaism was so important to the exiles. It is enough for us to realize that the dietary laws were a major support to their Judaism. The Judean community was gone, the temple in ruins and Jerusalem far away, but the dietary laws were one pillar that could sustain them. We have to respect their choice even as we want others to respect ours.

So, when Daniel and his friends were put into Nebuchadnezzar's training program, in order to preserve their Jewish identity they decided to refuse to eat the high-level cuisine the king had ordered for them. They wanted to remain on a Kosher diet and thereby witness to their loyalty to the Lord. So, Daniel asked Ashpenaz, who had been assigned responsibility for the program, to permit him and his friends to abstain from the king's cuisine.

TRY IT!

We can appreciate Ashpenaz's hesitation, but Daniel saved the day by proposing, "Test your servants for ten days: let us be given vegetables to eat and water to drink. Then let our appearance and the appearance of the youths who eat the king's rich food be observed by you, and according to what you see deal with your servants" (1:12,13). Ashpenaz agreed to put it to a test.

Who was it said that the problem is not that Christianity has been tried and found wanting, but that it has never been sufficiently tried. If Christianity is what we say it is, then we should never hesitate to put it to the test. We should never shrink from demonstrating that the gospel of Jesus Christ is the best way for us to live. Maybe the reason we spend so much time arguing religion is that it is easier than practicing it.

The fact is, life is deeper, richer and more victorious when we live by the example of Jesus Christ. And even when we are "displaced persons" in a strange land, we can live that life and demonstrate the truth of the gospel.

MAJOR SPONSORS of 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival events are two financial institutions, as First United National Bank & Trust will once again sponsor the festival's Grand Feature Parade, set for Saturday, Oct. 11, and American Trust Bank will sponsor the Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle championships, set for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11. Pictured above with Diane Wolfe, festival chairman and executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, left, is Robin Murray, marketing and retail service manager for First United. Mrs. Wolfe is pictured below with Jeff McCauley, vice president at American Trust Bank. See stories for details.

First United To Sponsor Grand Feature Parade

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council has announced that First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, will sponsor the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade. The Autumn Glory Festival will be held October 9-12, in downtown Oakland, and throughout the county, with the popular Grand Feature Parade beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11. This parade is the largest and most well-attended event of the four-day festival, which boasts an attendance of tens of thousands of visitors.

First United employees will staff a Festival Information Booth at the intersection of Second and Liberty streets from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday before the parade to provide information to the public.

"First United National Bank & Trust's sponsorship of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade represents its eighth year of commitment to defray the tremendous costs of producing this spectacular event in Garrett County," stated Diane Wolfe, festival chairman, who added that First United has also supported the Autumn Glory Festival by purchasing Golden Ambassadorships since the program's beginning.

For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone 301-334-1948.

YOU CAN ALMOST SMELL those apple pies! Members of the Civic Club of Oakland gathered recently in the kitchen of St. Paul's United Methodist Church to prepare lots and lots of apple pies, pieces of which will be available for purchase during the club's 24th annual Antique Show and Sale at the National Guard Armory during the 30th annual Autumn Glory Festival next week. Some 30 antique dealers will have available at the sale a wide variety of items for purchase, and lunch will also be available. Admission to the show, which is the major annual fund-raiser of the Civic Club, is $1 per person.

American Trust To Sponsor Banjo, Fiddle Contests

American Trust Bank will be sponsoring the Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championship as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. Some of the best banjo and fiddle players in the area will compete on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11, as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The Maryland State Banjo Championship will be held Friday, Oct. 10, and the State Fiddle Championship Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Southern High School Gymnasium in Oakland.

These championships will feature competitions between top banjo and fiddle musicians from five states. The Banjo Championship will begin at 8 p.m. Friday evening, following a concert by Jay Armsworthy and Eastern Tradition Bluegrass at 7 p.m. Another concert will follow the banjo contest. Trophies and prize money will be awarded to the top four banjo contestants with a special award for the best "old-time" banjo player.

The fiddle competition will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday. Amateur fiddle contestants will be judged in three age categories: 60 and over; 13-59; and youth. The fiddle contest will also feature a "Championship/Professional" category.

Anyone wishing to enter either contest may pick up a registration form at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council office or call 301-334-1948; they may also register at the door and there is no entrance fee for either championship.

Tickets for these events are available at the Promotion Council office, the Route 219 Information Booth at Deep Creek Lake, and at the door. Admission to each event is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Doors will open at 6:15 p.m. each evening and refreshments will be available.

FSU Cultural Events Presents "Shangri-La"

It will be an evening of spectacular motion and dazzling colors as "Shangri-La Chinese Acrobats" roll into the Frostburg State University Physical Education Center's main arena at 8:30 p.m. this Saturday, Oct. 4. The event is part of FSU's Cultural Events Series and is free and open to the public.

"This award-winning Taiwanese troupe amazes its audiences with stunning acrobatics, formidable feats of balance and magic, contortions, explosive Kung Fu, and even a touch of Chinese comedy. Their expertise has been honed by years of training and discipline and they guarantee to enchant every audience," stated an FSU spokesperson.

The 1997-1998 FSU Cultural Events Series is funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and is presented in association with WFWM 91.9 FM public radio from FSU.

For more information, persons may call the Lane Center Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

Turkey Dinner Proceeds Will Benefit Chapel

Autumn Glory Festival turkey dinners will be served from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Loch Lynn Restaurant, and all proceeds will benefit the Kurtz Chapel Church. The menu will include fresh roasted turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans or sauerkraut, homemade bread, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and a beverage. The cost is $7 for adults and $3.50 for children.

The Loch Lynn Restaurant is located in Loch Lynn along Rt. 560, just across the railroad tracks.

Presentation On Lupus, Medication Set For Tuesday

With more than 90 percent of all lupus patients taking medication to control their illness, the Maryland Lupus Foundation says it is important to know the medications that are available and their potential side effects. The Western Maryland Branch of the Foundation will sponsor the program, "Understanding Your Medications," on Tuesday, Oct. 7, 7 p.m. at the Brandenburg Center, Country Club Road in Cumberland. The meeting will be led by Arnold Vera, M.D., whose specialty is endocrinology.

Lupus is a chronic disease of the immune system which may cause inflammation, pain, and impairment of vital organs. According to physicians, although there is no specific and complete treatment for lupus, certain medications are able to suppress the disease process, decrease inflammation, alter immune system dysfunction, and help maintain functions in other body systems. Speakers will answer questions regarding the variety of medications available in the treatment of lupus and their possible side effects, as well as discussing new medications which may be promising in the treatment of lupus.

The Western Maryland Branch of the Maryland Lupus Foundation sponsors regular education programs and monthly support group meetings in Hagerstown, Cumberland, and Oakland. For more information on the programs or to receive a free packet of information on lupus, persons may call the Maryland Lupus Foundation at 800-777-0934.

Town Of Crellin Continues Turkey Dinner Tradition

For the 30th consecutive year, turkey dinners in the town of Crellin will be a feature of the Autumn Glory Festival. United Community Services, Inc., (the non-profit volunteer organization which owns and operates the Crellin Community Building) is the sponsor.

The Crellin Community Building group originated the tradition of turkey dinners with the first Autumn Glory Festival in 1968. This year, the original menu is being repeated -- roasted turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy, dressing, sauerkraut, green beans, applesauce, cranberry sauce, a roll, drinks, and harvest apple cake. The prices is $6 for adults.

All are invited to take part in this tradition, which is as old as Autumn Glory itself, and to support the community of Crellin.

Local Chiropractor Completes 20th Year Of Practice

Dr. Ronel R. Williams, of Williams Chiropractic Clinic in Mtn. Lake Park, has completed his 20th year of practice in Garrett County. Williams Chiropractic Clinic is located at Rt. 135 and G Street.

Dr. Williams is licensed to practice chiropractic in Maryland and West Virginia. He is a 1977 graduate of the National College of Chiropractic in Lombard, Ill., with a BS degree in human biology and a doctor of chiropractic degree.

Since 1982 Williams has also been a certified chiropractic sports physician through the American Chiropractic Association Council on Sports Injuries. He is on the staff of Logan College of Chiropractic in St. Louis, as a preceptor doctor. Dr. Wesley Kroil of Somerset, Pa., recently completed a portion of his internship with Dr. Williams through this program.

Williams helped establish the Chiropractic Assistant program at Allegeny College in Cumberland. He is also a preceptor doctor on staff there for chiropractic assistants in their internship.

Williams is a member of the American Chiropractic Association, the Maryland Chiropractic Association, and The American Chiropractic Association's Council on Sports Injuries.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
Reporter

Members of the Snowy Creek 4-H Club did very well at this year's Garrett County Fair. The club booth won 1st place ribbons for both their banner and for their scrap book. The float won 4th place.

Four members participated in the fashion revue at the fair taking two first places. They were Michael Guard, 1st place, Mitchell Guard, Molly Wolf, 1st place, and Lindsay Wolf.

Members showing animals in the fair also did very well. Jerimiah Guard won 2nd place in hog fitting and showing, and 4th place in market show. Michael Guard took 5th place in hog fitting and showing, and 2nd in hog market show. Mitchell Guard, was awarded 1st place and Reserve Champion in hog market showing. Shelby Glover, won 4th place in sheep fitting and showing and 2nd in sheep market show.

Stacey Glover took a 4th in sheep fitting and showing and 4th place in sheep market show. David Smearman took 2nd in hog fitting and showing and 4th in hog market show, while earning 1st place and Reserve Champion in sheep fitting and showing and 2nd in breeding. David also won the trophy for his sheep's rate of weight gain.

Jerimiah Guard won 1st place in tractor operators, a trophy in lawn tractors, and a 1st place in lawn and garden tractors. He moved on to the state fair and won a 2nd place in that competition.

In August club members also found time to enter their float and participate in the Friendsville Days parade.

Snowny Creek 4-H held their September meeting with 14 members present. Guests were Nathan Glass, Ashley and Morgan Rodehaver, and Aaron and Allen Frazee.

Raffle ticket were handed out a 4-H baby beef donated by the First United National Bank. Proceeds will benefit the Garrett County 4-H program.

Carol Miller, manager of the Accident office of the American Trust Bank, was the guest speaker at the meeting. She handed out two booklets, one was about doing your banking and the other was a financial organizer.

Mrs. Miller talked about saving money, mutual funds, student loans, and buying a first car. She handed out sample checks and showed club members how to fill them out correctly. She also told us how to tell the difference between real and counterfeit money.

SOUTHERN GARRETT ALUMNI BAND 1997

Yes, after a several-year break, we are going to once again show them that the veterans can still do it (or at least try). Any former members of the Southern High School Marching Band who would like to join in as we march down Second Street, and hopefully up Third, during the annual Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade is welcome to do so. A somewhat organized practice will be held on Friday, October 10,at the Southern High bandroom at 7:00 p.m. If you can't make the practice just fall in line on Saturday at the parade. It's pretty much like riding a bike. If there are any questions please call Aaron Cropp at (304) 599-9102.

A HOUSE-BURNING DRILL was held recently for training purposes of a number of area volunteer fire fighters. The house was located on the Ralph and Ann Miller property near Accident and the drill was hosted by the Accident Volunteer Fire Department. Members from Bittinger and Deep Creek VFDs also participated in the class, which was taught by Jim Crabtree, local fire and rescue instructor for the University of Maryland, Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute. Students received hands-on interior fire fighting training, and held discussions on search and rescue and attack-line handling techniques. Safety and accountability were stressed. The structure was then burned to its foundation for the property owners. "Old structures are very valuable for fire departments to use as live fire and rescue training props," Crabtree said. "Property owners may contact their area fire departments if they believe they have any old or condemned buildings that could be burned for this purpose." Lonaconing Man To Pay $1,649 To Burglary Victim

A 19-year-old Lonaconing man convicted for a burglary of a private Savage River Forest cabin was ordered to pay $1,649 in restitution to the cabin's owner in Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Ryan Eugene Webb pleaded guilty to charges of fourth-degree burglary, misdemeanor theft, and malicious destruction of property before District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett. The judge gave Webb a 30-month suspended sentence, placed him on two years of supervised probation, and ordered him to reimburse his victim for damages that occurred at the cabin on Savage River Road, just north of Dry Run Road.

The state's attorney's case alleged that Webb had been partying with several acquaintances one evening in April at a trailer on the property adjoining the cabin's property. According to court records, Webb and another subject left the party on foot and returned some time later with a quantity of beer, hotdogs, and silverware.

Later, when the cabin's owner, Mary Lee of Lonaconing, came to check on her property she found that the cabin had been ransacked, with her color TV, stereo, and several other items destroyed and/or missing. The subsequent investigation led to Webb's June arrest by the Maryland State Police.

In other district court news, Samuel Wade Knox, 34, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to charges of possession of marijuana and driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Knox's charges stemmed from his June arrest by state troopers after a traffic stop in the parking lot of the Grantsville Mobil gas station. After Knox was charged with DWI, a routine vehicle search uncovered suspected burnt marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia.

Knox was handed a 90-day sentence, all but two days of which were suspended, fined $300, and placed on one year of supervised probation. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Samuel Issac Martin, 30, Taneytown, pleaded guilty to a charge filed against him by Natural Resources Police of spotlighting deer last November in a field near Sam Friend Road at Bearfoot Road northwest of Accident.

Franklin Lee Sanner, 23, Terra Alta, W.Va., was found to be in violation of probation that resulted from his October conviction for carrying a handgun on his person and reckless endangerment. The judge ordered Sanner's original incarceration time of 90 days reimposed, crediting him with time already served.

A violation of probation petition against Shawn Gregory Gonzales, 26, Hanover, Pa., was dismissed by the court.

An earlier sentence stemming from a marijuana possession conviction of Michael Patrick Glotfelty, 20, Oakland, was revised to reflect a probation before judgment.

Brett Ray Glotfelty, 25, Oakland, was found not guilty of a charge of violating an exparte order requiring him to stay away from his ex-girlfriend. His charge stemmed from an April incident at the woman's Mtn. Lake Park apartment.

Ryan Joseph Blair, 28, Essex, was found not guilty of second-degree assault and disorderly conduct stemming from a reported fight at the Honi-Honi Bar on Deep Creek Lake in July. Justin Francis Smith, 21, Galena, was not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia and disorderly conduct stemming from the same incident.

Michael Swisher, 24, Waynesboro, Pa., Andrew Domenick, 23, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., and Malissa Martinez, 20, Chambersburg, Pa., were each not prosecuted on charges of possession of marijuana and marijuana paraphernalia. The trio had been arrested at Deep Creek Lake State Park in July by park rangers.

Jonathan David Jones, 19, Swanton, was not prosecuted on a charge of possession of marijuana stemming from a May traffic stop by sheriff's deputies.

Local Delegation Plans To Attend "Promise Summit"

A local delegation of approximately 25 people representing a broad range of local citizen and service organizations will participate in the Oct. 9 "Maryland's Promise Summit," to be held at the Baltimore Convention Center. The trip is being sponsored by the Garrett County Commissioners, the Commission for Women, and the Office for Children, Youth, and Families (OCYF).

The local group, representing such entities as the Garrett County Health Department, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Cooperative Extension Service, AmeriCorps, and several other service and volunteer organizations, will represent local interests in response to President Bill Clinton's Summit for America's Future.

According to Susan Athey-Oxford, lead county coordinator, Maryland's Promise will mobilize and sustain volunteers to assure that they can meet the national goal that children acquire the five resources they need to lead fulfilling lives.

These five resources are as follows: an ongoing relationship with a caring adult, safe and structured activities during out-of-school hours, a healthy start for a healthy life, marketable skills through effective education, and opportunities to give back through community service.

The delegation will meet before the Oct. 9 event to gather information to address questions related to the five resources areas, such as where is Garrett County at this point, where do county leaders want it to be, and how will this be achieved? Athey-Oxford said delegation participants will choose resource training in each of the resource areas. The group will collaborate with its state partners to seek whatever changes might be required to meet the resource goals.

For more information, persons may contact Athey-Oxford at 301-334-1189.

Salisbury-Elk Lick PTO Plans Annual Funfest

The Salisbury-Elk Lick Parent Teacher Organization is planning the Sixth Annual Funfest for Saturday, Oct. 18, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Salisbury-Elk Lick High School.

The Salisbury PTO decided in past years to schedule this event instead of having the students participate in door-to-door sales drives. According to a PTO spokesperson, the profit received will help support the programs funded by the PTO such as Weekly Reader, Scholastic News, Time for Kids publications, field trips, special assembly programs, teacher supplies, and other items.

Food booths and game tables will be set up by the various classes and school organizations, and will be open throughout the day. Food will include hamburgers and hot dogs, ice cream, pop corn, French fries, and various home-baked goods. In addition to the food, two specialty events featured will be a dunking booth and a duck race.

The major event of the day will be the annual Funfest Auction at 11 a.m. Contributions for the auction come from local businesses and residents, as well as major league sports teams. Craft items, baked goods, used and new furniture, as well as services and gift certificates, will be auctioned.

Persons who have items to donate to this event may drop them off at the school gymnasium from 4 to 7 on Friday, Oct. 17. For more information, persons may contact Connie Murray at 814-662-2172.

Banking for real life.

Dear Bill,
I wanted to take this opportunity to let you know how much we appreciated the services of the First United National Bank and Trust during our difficult transition. This has been a frustrating experience for us but your employees helped to make my day during the complex procedure to obtain a house loan in Lynchburg. Due to the location, I usually do business at the Mid Towne branch and Janet, Melissa and Cheryl were exemplary in providing us service. They were not only professional but understanding and friendly as well. One particular morning during a phone conversation, Melissa said, "I know what you're going through because Jim moving too." Just that one sentence meant someone else understands and I found it comforting. Another instance when I needed copies of my bank statements, I was asked to wait in the parking lot at the main office so I wouldn't disrupt the service at the drive-in window. After a short wait in the car with my eighty four year old mother, Candy brought my bank statements directly to me in the car. I truly didn't expect roadside service but I certainly appreciated her thoughtfulness. Believe me, it does make a difference in the customer's feelings. Please share my gratitude with your employees. Our short term goal is to find a "FUN" bank in Lynchburg.
We would like to wish you and Bob continued success in the management of an extraordinary bank. Thank you for all your assistance in the past.
Sincerely in gratitude,
Nancy, Allen and Jason Barr

"I wanted to take this opportunity to let you know how much we appreciated the service of First United National Bank & Trust during our difficult transition . . ."

Taking care of the customer, and doing it right, is what we are committed to doing at First United. Whether it's helping to balance your checkbook, to finance your dream home or to help with the transition from one life stage to another.

Nancy and Allen Barr can attest to First United's promise of taking care of the customer. For over 25 years they have been customers of the Bank. When Allen's company relocated him and his family to the Oakland area, they needed a financial institution to take care of their needs. What they found instead was a financial partner that would see them through the years. Nancy says, "First United offered us friendly, personal service every time."

Recently, the Barr family embarked on a new chapter of their life—moving to Lynchburg, Virginia. With this move brought several financial needs, all of which First United was happy to assist. The letter at left expresses the Barr's gratitude toward First United.

COVER STORY

Five Desperate Hours a drama of compassion

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Sharon Lawrence

Five Desperate Hours comes along at an interesting time.

Acts of compassion and those who perform them have been in the ascendant in news reports of recent weeks, while acts of judgment and violence have become even more prominent in TV's gritty portrayals of street life, such as the new series Brooklyn South.

Based on an actual incident, Five Desperate Hours might have played out like a common episode of a TV drama. Instead, it is the story of how compassion sought its own place and held back judgment for a little while.

Sharon Lawrence (Fired Up) and Giancarlo Esposito (Nothing to Lose) star in the TV movie airing Sunday, Oct. 5, on NBC. Thomas Carter (Equal Justice) is the executive producer.

The film starts with an incident typical of both TV and real life: A Durham, N.C., man (Esposito) robs a convenience store at gunpoint. Stopping by his girlfriend's house, he discovers she has a new man in her life. Words are exchanged, a shot is fired, and the robber jumps back into his car and speeds away. Police officers notice his erratic driving and chase him to a wooded residential area where the man runs away on foot. Police surround the area and expect to flush him out. Not knowing what he will find, the man bursts into one of the houses. Inside, a woman (Lawrence) is home alone.

From this point, the story unfolds on two stages, inside and outside the house.

"We shot this a lot like a play," Lawrence notes. "It feels like a play, inside the house. Of course, it has a cinematic value on the exterior."

In both arenas, another factor is at work: race. The white officer who calls for backup describes "a black, armed male." Later, the white SWAT team commander and a black hostage negotiator (Rocky Carroll) feel the underlying tension as each seeks to carry out his duty toward the black man and white woman in the house.

"To disguise the impact that ... race has on the situation is false, especially in the South," Lawrence says.

Inside the house, the woman tries to understand what her captor wants as she strives to normalize the situation.

"My name is Claire," she says. "What is yours?"

A long time later she learns the panicky man with the shotgun is named Joseph. Meanwhile, they act out an odd ballet of fear and friendship in which Claire saves Joseph's life twice and tells him how she rebuilt her own world after a shattering experience.

"Who would have thought that a white suburban housewife would be the one who could reach him because she, of all the people he would contact that day, was somebody who did understand where he was coming from?" Lawrence asks.

Five Desperate Hours is not the typical woman-in-jeopardy movie that has been a staple on NBC for several seasons. And it does not end, like so many police dramas, with a climactic shootout. Something much more humane happens when Claire resists her impulse to protect herself and ministers to Joseph's needs.

"I don't believe it was merely Claire saving Joseph," Lawrence says. "She was as affected and as changed by what happened as he was."

IN FOCUS

Kirstie Alley fills the role of callous dentist Dr. Katherine Lewis, who pays the price in Toothless, a presentation of The Wonderful World of Disney, airing Sunday, Oct. 5, on ABC.

Katherine is so devoted to her job she has no time for friends and no compassion for her patients. When she meets an untimely end, she is sent back to Earth as the Tooth Fairy. Her supervisor (Lynn Redgrave) warns her not to be seen, but Katherine breaks this rule when she meets a lonely boy (Ross Malinger).

Dennis Franz

Q: You recently told a reader that the name of Dennis Franz's character on Hill Street Blues was Lt. Norman Buntz. That's correct, but that was his second character on the series. He previously played corrupt cop Sal Benedetto, who killed himself to avoid prosecution. –Michael A. Witkowski, New Windsor, N.Y.

A: Thanks, Michael. You and two other readers pointed out this omission in my answer.

Franz guest starred as Benedetto before his two seasons as Buntz.

Thanks to all three of you.

Q: Please settle an argument between me and a friend. I say Ian Ziering of Beverly Hills, 90210 starred in Eight Is Enough. My friend thinks I am confusing him with the actor who played Buddy on Charles in Charge. Can you please settle this? –Tammy Mederos, Westport, Mass.

A: Your friend is right.

Former Charles co-star Willie Aames, 37, who now lives and works in Kansas, played Tommy Bradford on Eight Is Enough.

Ziering, 33, never appeared on that series.

Q: Who starred in Reasonable Doubts? I say it was Marlee Matlin and Mark Harmon. –Donann A., El Paso, Texas.

A: You are right, Donann.

Matlin, who made history as the first deaf performer to star in a TV series, played Chicago Assistant District Attorney Tess Kaufman. Harmon played her investigator and interpreter, Richard "Dickie" Cobb.

Q: Is Fisher Stevens of Early Edition the same actor as Steven Fisher in the movie Short Circuit? My husband says yes, my son says no, and I am not sure. –Fishing for Facts via e-mail.

A: It is the same actor, but he was billed as Fisher Stevens in both instances.

Q: My family recently saw Emily Schuiman in Troop Beverly Hills. We are trying to recall the sitcom in which Schuiman played the annoying neighbor of a family with a robot named Vicki. – S. Poirier, Riverside, Conn.

A: Schulman played obnoxious Harriet Brindle on Small Wonder, which ran 1985-89.

Q: I could swear that late one night on a commercial for '70s music I saw Ronn Moss (The Bold & the Beautiful) with a hand named Player. Could it have been he? –Allyson Geller, El Paso, Texas.

A: Yes. Moss formed Player with three other musicians in 1979. He and co-founder Peter Beckett still record under the group's name.

A&E airs dirty linen on ancient Caesars

©TVData Features Syndicate

That flapping sound you hear is the sound of some ancient dirty laundry getting its first full airing in centuries.

A&E Network turns over six hours of prime-time programming (Sunday-Friday, Oct. 5-11) to the major Biography mmiseries Hail, Caesar, which examines the kinky goings-on in Rome just before and after the life of Jesus.

The engrossing, often funny miniseries opens Sunday by focusing on the man who put the "seize" in Caesar – Julius Caesar, who ruled from 49-44 B.C., when friends killed him.

Following on the other nights, in order, are hourlong episodes devoted to:

•Augustus, who stepped forward as a teen-ager to save Rome from the brink of civil war and ruled for 45 years with enough savvy to steer the empire to its greatest power and prosperity.

•Nero, the nut case who just wanted to be a star. (This chapter will be of special interest to those viewers who enjoyed the British miniseries I, Claudius).

•Hadrian, the outsider from Spain, who decided to strengthen his empire's existing borders rather than continue its campaign of expansionism.

•Constantine, who brought Christianity to the Roman Empire, uniting his subjects under one God. He rebuilt Byzantium into Constantinople, shifting the empire's focus to the East.

•Justinian, the eccentric emperor who inherited an empire in decline. His obsessiveness and paranoia kept him away from his subjects. Any hope of preserving the empire died with him.

Hail, Caesar is both too dry and too racy for small fry, but older viewers should set aside plenty of time and tape.

The emotionally unstable Nero, the last descendant of Julius Caesar, is profiled in the Biography miniseries Hail Caesar, airing Sunday through Friday on A&E Network.

TRIVIA

Judd Hirsch (George & Leo) began his acting career in a production of A Thousand Clowns in Woodstock, N.Y.

Catch-A-Poacher Hotline Solicits Public Assistance

With deer bow hunting season in effect and preparations for rifle season getting underway, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds the public that the Catch-A-Poacher Hotline is available on a 24-hour basis to take reports of illegal hunting activity and dispatch DNR law enforcement personnel to the scene. Anonymity of the caller is guaranteed by the agency.

"This is the time of year that illegal hunting is in swing," said DNR spokesperson Patricia Manown. "Calling the Catch-A-Poacher Hotline is something concerned citizens can do to help conserve our natural resources.

"The Hotline is a key component of preserving Maryland's wild game populations," Manown continued. "We need help from all citizens in order to preserve these and other natural resources for the enjoyment and use of all our citizens now and in the future, including non-hunters and hunters alike.

"Another purpose of the Hotline is the ensuring of public safety," Manown continued. "Many times poachers are violating the basic principles of hunting safety, especially if hunting with a spotlight at night. Any good hunter is trained to know not just their target, but what's beyond it as well," she said. "A poacher using a spotlight can't possibly know what's beyond his target and still within rifle range, assuming he cares. There could be a dwelling, a vehicle, or a barn out there in the dark that could easily come under a poacher's fire."

When a citizen calls the Hotline to report illegal hunting activity, the following information is helpful: the exact location of the incident, either with a numerical street address or with the use of a commonly-known landmark with direction and distance from it; complete as possible descriptions of any vehicles and subjects involved, along with a direction of travel if the subjects have left the scene; whether or not the incident is in progress, or the time lapse since the incident occurred; and identification of the type of gun heard -- rifle or shotgun; and whether or not the incident is on public or private property.

Manown reminds the public that anonymous tips are accepted and encouraged, and that complete anonymity of the caller is guaranteed. The Catch-A-Poacher Hotline is available 24 hours a day, seven days week at 1-800-635-6124.

"BEARLY" ABLE TO CONTAIN HIS EXCITEMENT, this furry little Teddy Bear anxiously awaits the drawing of the raffle ticket that will find him a new home. This original Garrett County Teddy Bear was handcrafted by Katie Klerstead. Teddy was created to give a helping paw to the community. All funds collected from ticket sales will go directly to the House of Hope. The drawing for the winning ticket will take place at the close of Autumn Glory festivities. Friends of the House of Hope will have a booth at the Autumn Glory craft show, where tickets will be available for purchase. Tickets are also available at Pizzazz Pizzeria, Wisp, McHenry, Just Us Styling & Tanning Salon, and Animal Crackers, both in Accident, or from any board member.

Beer Works Notes Youghiogheny Red Near Completion

Deep Creek Beer Works has said that its second style of beer, Youghiogheny Red, will be ready for distribution during Autumn Glory week, Oct. 7.

"We have been working on this style all summer," said Dave Saba, one of the owners of Deep Creek Beer Works.

The brew is an ale made of four different malts and a hop combination similar to that used in Deep Creek Golden Ale.

Saba explained that Deep Creek Beer Works, in existence for about one year, brews in small batches without use of preservatives. In support of the American farmer, he said, the company uses only U.S. grown products.

Made at the Frederick Brewing Company, Frederick, the beer is distributed in Garrett and Allegany counties.

The business plan for a future brewpub has been completed, Saba said. Deep Creek Beer Works plans to open such a facility in 1998.

Gov. Announces Abstinence Ed. Program Grants

Maryland's Subcabinet for Children, Youth, and Families, the Governor's Council on Adolescent Pregnancy, and the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced the availability of approximately $295,000 from the Federal Title V program to fund up to 35 grants for after-school programs that focus on abstinence education. "Maryland's children and youth are our top priority, and it is important that we teach them good decision-making skills and help them make smart choices," said Governor Parris Glendening. The grant allocation is part of the governor's continuing effort to put children first and build on Maryland's successful teen pregnancy prevention efforts.

Several state agencies, including the Governor's Office for Crime Control and Prevention Hot Spots Initiative, collaborated on the development of criteria and evaluation to meet federal standards and community needs. Grant proposals will be evaluated according to Hot Spots Initiatives best practices for after-school programs. "Young people must believe that abstinence from sex is in their best interest," said Lt. Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend. "These grants for structured after-school programs that focus on abstinence are another resource in Maryland's comprehensive efforts to prevent teen pregnancy."

Average grant awards will range from $5,000 to $25,000. Any public or private nonprofit organization or agency in Maryland can apply for a grant. "We want to involve all members of the community in efforts to educate young people about why and how to abstain from sexual activity, and to provide positive activities at high risk-times," said Linda S. Thompson, special secretary for Children, Youth, and Families. "We know that young people who have been provided with the skills to abstain from sex are at less risk of having babies."

Funding priority will be given to programs that serve populations in jurisdictions that had 1995 birth rates to 15-19-year-olds above the statewide rate of 47.7 births per 1,000. Those jurisdictions include Allegany County, Baltimore City, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Garrett, Prince George's, Somerset, Talbot, Washington, Wicomico, and Worcester counties.

Approximately $295,000 will be available to communities to fund structured after-school abstinence education programs that have, as their exclusive purpose, teaching the social, psychological, and health gains to be realized by abstaining from sexual activity. Each local grant award will be made contingent upon approval of Maryland's application by the Federal Maternal and Child Health Bureau.

For more information about the Federal Title V Abstinence Education Program grants, persons may call Patti Flowers-Coulson, director, Governor's Council on Adolescent Pregnancy at 410-767-4160.

NHS CLASS OF 1962 REUNITES - The members of the Northern High School Class of 1962 recently convened at the Grantsville fire hall for a 35-year reunion. Forty-four members of the class and one teacher, Ruth Patterson, attended the event and shared a turkey dinner. Janet Huff Otto led a prayer in memory of the five deceased members of the class. Prizes were awarded to: Leota Friend for first reply returned and for having the oldest grandchild; Patty Stanton, winner of a centerpiece made by Marlene Beachy; Larry Warnick, boy most changed; and Betty Hensley, girl most changed. Mrs. Patterson received a gift of stationery. After dinner the members went to the American Legion for dancing. The class will hold another reunion in five years. Pictured above, seated, are: Leota Lowdermilk Friend, Betty Cosner Hare, Rosella Resh Minor, Eloise Lee Link, Betty Fazenbaker Henaley, Sandra Swauger McKenzie, Trudy Mosser Savage, and Mrs. Patterson. Standing, same order, are: Ronnie Stanton, Gary Finzel, George Fike, Dave Livengood, Donald Friend, Tom Broadwater, Melvin Humberson, Larry Warnick, Janet Huff Otto, Robert Schroyer, Phyllis Friend Finzel, Robert Edwards, and Marlene Glotfelty Beachy.

Western Maryland AHEC Director Retirement Noted

Donald Spencer, executive director of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center, has announced his plans to retire in December of this year. Spencer was hired as executive director in 1979 and has since provided leadership for the organization, which has grown from two employees to its current staff of 18. During his tenure the AHEC has added a variety of programs designed to recruit and support health professionals in Western Maryland and surrounding areas.

"Don has supported education programs benefiting every segment of the health care community," stated John Davis, DDS, vice chair of the AHEC board of directors. "The funding he has generated for this area is staggering." The board of directors will meet September 30 to discuss the process of hiring Spencer's successor.

After retiring, Spencer said he will be available to ease the leadership transition at the AHEC. He also hopes to provide consulting services to AHEC programs and centers throughout the country and to continue as an elected member of the National AHEC Organization's first board of directors. He plans to become more involved in the community of Morgantown, W.Va., where he lives, and to nurture his lifelong interest in collegiate hockey.

Spencer and his staff have worked with educators, health care professionals, legislators, and others to support innovative programs that meet a variety of health personnel education needs. Since 1977, AHEC has coordinated clinical education for 1,363 students in health professions such as medicine, pharmacy, and physical therapy, with approximately 40% of these students going on to practice in small towns or rural settings. Recent AHEC accomplishments include federal funding of Interdisciplinary Prevention in Rural Communities, a project training students from eight health professions programs at four universities to work in teams with Head Start and senior centers. The AHEC also recently acquired PictureTel compressed video equipment to support telemedicine, education, and research in the region.

"Don's hallmark is that he is a very constant and credible force on rural concerns," stated Jon Foley of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Office of Rural Health. "What Don has done in Western Maryland has been held out as a model program in the nation. The credit goes to a lot of people, but Don's leadership holds it all together."

Spencer notes that his success has depended on "excellent local leadership and state support, together with a strong staff. Our credibility has been established by creative, solid programs." He said he is confident that the AHEC will continue to foster the partnerships he has helped develop and to offer quality services and support for the area.

A Message to all Garrett County Medicaid Recipients

In the near future, you will be asked to select a managed care organization through which you will receive your healthcare benefits. There are currently four managed care organizations approved by the State of Maryland in Medicaid's HealthChoice program.

At the present time, the FreeState Health Plan and Maryland Physicians Care - MCO are the only managed care organizations that will pay for inpatient and outpatient services for Medicaid recipients at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Until you are enrolled in a HealthChoice managed care program, the availability of inpatient and outpatient services at Garrett County Memorial Hospital will remain unchanged.

Autumn Glory Festival To Feature Variety Of Music

A variety of musical entertainment is scheduled throughout the Autumn Glory Festival, opening with the Oakland Firemen's Oktoberfest Celebration, slated for Thursday, Oct. 9, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The event will feature a 20-piece German-style "Oompah" band, performing at the Oakland fire hall on Third Street.

The band will play after the Oktoberfest meal and Firemen's Parade. Admission is free.

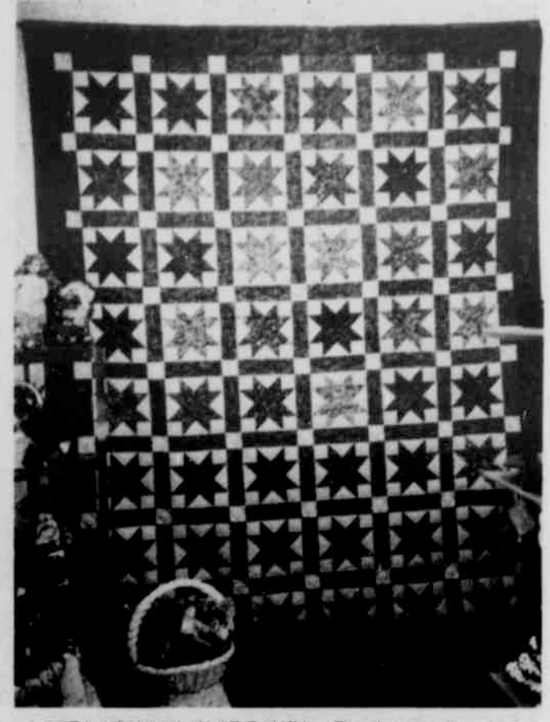
Friday afternoon's "Celebrate the Glory" festivities at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in the Oakland Town Parking Lot will feature the "Back to Country" Line Dancers, the Lakeside Assembly of God music and drama performance, and Jim Hollis & The Boys playing fiddle and country music, beginning at noon. Friday evening's entertainment will include an organ recital at 7 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, featuring Dr. Geoffrey Simon, internationally known organist, per-forming on the Allen digital organ, with free admission.

The "Official" Maryland State Banjo Championship, including a concerts by Eastern Tradition Bluegrass, will also be held on Friday night. Admission to the Banjo Championship is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

Bagpipe concerts will be performed by the Garrett Community College Pipes & Drums on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in front of the Grand Feature Parade reviewing stand on Second Street in Oakland. They will also play at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 12, at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park. Admission is free to both concerts.

Also on Saturday, the World Lighthouse Worship Center will offer music and drama at 10 a.m. and the Pleasant View Baptist Church of Oakland will host a gospel concert from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., both in front of the parade reviewing stand.

The "Back to Country" Line Dancers will perform at 3.30 p.m., or immediately following the parade, in front of I.C. Electronics on Liberty Street in Oakland, with free admission.



Saturday evening will feature the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands at 6 p.m. at Southern High School's football field, as well as the Official Maryland State Fiddle Championship at 7 p.m. at the Southern High School gymnasium. The fiddle contest admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

Tax Fundamentals Class Offered

A "Tax Fundamentals" class at Garrett Community College focuses on ways to meet legal requirements while taking advantage of methods to save on taxes. In this four-session class students will learn about the tax and year-end accounting methods, treatment of business assets, employment taxes, retirement plans, and tax saving tips.

The class will be held October 2 (today), 9, 23, and 30, from 6:30 until 9:45 p.m.

Anyone wishing to register for this class or obtain additional information should call Sandy Major, Cathy Fazenbaker, or Julie Yoder at 301-387-3080. Registration should be made through the Department of Continuing Education.

ARTS COUNCIL IN STITCHES -- The Garratt County Arts Council is currently selling raffle tickets on the hand-stitched "Autumn Charm" quilt pictured above. The council commissioned the autumn-hued fabric creation at the hands of Karin Rodeheaver of the Not Just Quilts shop in Oakland as a fund-raising effort to coincide with its 18th annual Heritage Craft Fest slated for Autumn Glory weekend. Drawing for the lucky winner will be held on Sunday afternoon, October 12, and the quilt will be shipped to the recipient. "Autumn Charm" will be on display at the Mountain Arts Pavilion on Liberty Street in Oakland in conjunction with the current Autumn Glory Fine Arts Exhibit this weekend, Oct. 4 and 5. Next weekend, (during Autumn Glory), it will be displayed at the Heritage Craft Fest at Broad Ford Elementary School on Harvey Winters Road just east of Oakland. Raffle tickets are $1 each or six for $5. All raffle proceeds benefit the Garrett County Arts Council, the county's official arts agency.

Sunday's events will include a handbell concert beginning at 10 a.m. at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland, in addition to the Mt. Top Promenaders Western Style Square and Round Dance demonstration, slated for 2 to 5 p.m. in the Southern Middle School cafeteria. The admission is free to these events.

The Official Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships are sponsored by American Trust Bank and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

"Take Control Of Your Life" Workshop Slated

Linda Fike, personnel director at Garrett Community College, will present the workshop "Take Control of Your Life" on Thursday, Oct. 9, at 11 a.m. in Room 305 of the Continuing Education Building at GCC. This program is free and open to the public.

Included in the presentation will be a discussion of job interview questions that are illegal and exploration of various ways to respond to those questions. By learning to recognize and address sexual harassment and inappropriate interview questions, a person builds the foundation needed to understand job options and take control of his or her life," Fike explained.

This workshop is sponsored by the New Dimensions Program, the New Horizons Program, and The Caring Connection Program of Garrett Community College under the direction of Barbara Frey. For additional information or to register, interested persons may contact Frey at 301-387-3071 or Virginia Jeffrey, intake/counselor specialist for the New Dimensions and The Caring Connection programs at 301-387-3103.

The New Horizons program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the New Horizons Program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is approximately 89.6% of the total program budget, with GCC contributing an additional $5,200, which is 10.4% of the total budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education in the amount of $20,000. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources.

GCC Offering Basic Calligraphy

A Basic Calligraphy course is being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. This course will be held at the Oakland Center of GCC, beginning October 7. Sessions are scheduled to be held each Tuesday from 10 a.m. to noon for a total of six sessions.

After learning this art of beautiful handwriting, students may use their skills for poster lettering, writing notes, or addressing cards and invitations.

Students will need a basic calligraphy pen set to use during instruction. For more information, persons may call 301-334-8304.

MCC To Host Fall Project At Deep Creek Park

The Maryland Conservation Corps (MCC), an AmeriCorps program, will be kicking off this year of service with its Fourth Annual Fall Project/Camp Out at Deep Creek Lake Recreation Area, Oct. 6-17.

MCC crews from Potomac-Garrett State Forest, Morgan Run NEA, Carroll County, Severn Run NEA, Anne Arundel County, Elk Neck State Park, Cecil County,. and Shad Landing State Park, Worcester County, will converge on Deep Creek State Park. They will perform various projects, including building an overlook platform on Meadow Mtn., constructing steps and handrails from a bathhouse to the boat ramp, scraping and painting a state house, performing a tire clean-up project in Savage River State Forest, and traveling to Mt. Nebo WMA to work on an apple tree release/wildlife habitat improvement project. Other AmeriCorps groups participating in this project will be Baltimore Civic Works and Montgomery Community Year.

The purpose of this gathering is not only to complete a variety of projects, but to serve as a team-building and personal survival experience by exposing the corpsmembers to different elements. These two weeks of service will provide an example to MCC members of the 11-month program to which they have committed.

Bloodmobile Nets 44 Units In Friendsville

A recent visit of the bloodmobile in Friendsville resulted in the donation of 44 units of blood.

Esther Benedict, chairman of the Friendsville unit, reported that 50 donors participated in the drive. Among those present were multiple unit donors incluuding Rodney Bowser, seven gallons, Margaret DeMaree, James Frazee, and Mary Frazee, two gallons, and Karen Benedict, one gallon.

Volunteers who assisted with the drive were Karen Benedict, Genevieve Serio, and Esther Benedict.

The Johnstown Bloodmobile will be in Oakland, Oct. 17, Accident, Jan. 5, and Friendsville, April 3.

The chairman said she appreciated everyone's efforts and patience during this visit.

Antiques

The gift of a piece of silver for a new baby is an idea that dates back to the 18th century. Many people gave a small shallow bowl called "a porringer," or a bowl with a spout called a "papboat." Others sent a rattle, knife, fork, spoon, plate or cup engraved with the child's name and birth date.

By the 1850s, the silver-plate makers as well as the sterling-silver shops were offering items decorated with nursery rhyme illustrations, cats, dogs, bunnies and other popular children's designs.

Mugs became popular, and many can still be found. There are various ways to determine the value of a Victorian silver child's mug. Sterling is worth more than plated silver. Some designs such as Palmer Cox Brownies or Sunbonnet girls give added value to the plated wares. An engraved date is always a plus.

The maker of the solid silver pieces is important. A cup by an important silversmith might be worth $500, while an average maker's cup would be worth about $125.

Q. The mark "EB Tracy" is carved on the bottom of my old Windsor chair. Can you tell me about it?

A. Ebenezer B. Tracy worked in Lisbon, Conn., from about 1764 to 1803. Tracy was one of the most prolific makers of Windsor chairs of his day. He specialized in writing-arm chairs.

Today a signed Tracy Windsor is worth thousands of dollars.

Q. I collect tea leaf ironstone and recently was told that it was made by many manufacturers. Is that true?

A. Tea leaf ironstone — sturdy white pottery with gold tea leaf designs painted on it — has been made since 1813 in England. Many variations were made.

When the pattern's popularity expanded to the United States, American manufacturers started making the pattern. Some is still being made.

Tea leaf ironstone by any maker is considered collectible.

Critic's Corner
by Rick Wilson

THE GAME: Probably the most terrifying prospect would be to live a waking nightmare. You know the feeling. You're paralyzed with fear, unable to move or even speak. Your heart is pounding and danger is just an inch away. We've all had those dreams. Well, what if they became reality?

In this superb flick, Michael Douglas portrays Nicholas Van Orton, a starchy, persnickety multimillionaire who gives new meaning to the phrase, anal-retentive. He lives in a spectacular mansion, all by his lonesome. A cold, ruthless businessman, he thinks nothing of getting rid of a long-time, loyal employee if his company's profits start to decline — in other words, a real likable guy!

Enter bad-boy younger brother, Conrad (Sean Penn), who pops in and out of Nicholas' life, usually when he needs something. This time, he's visiting for the sole purpose of giving Nicholas his 48th birthday present, a gift certificate for Consumer Recreation Services.

Nicholas is curious. A call to the mysterious CRS merely serves to whet his appetite. Before he's "granted" his gift, he has to pass numerous "worthiness" tests. Hooked, Nicholas agrees to play their game.

The fun begins. This isn't just virtual reality — it's reality, period. Keys pop out of nowhere, for which Nicholas must find the doors or whatever they open. Briefcases jam shut. Even a waitress is dragged into it. Ultimately, the comely Deborah Kara Unger becomes part of the game.

At this point, the audience is completely caught up with this thriller. Even if the characters want to stop this game, they can't. They are prisoners in it.

Douglas is perfect in this role (as usual). Penn, unfortunately, while delivering a solid performance isn't seen enough. I wish his role had been expanded.

Ultimately all hinges on a family tragedy which happened when Douglas and Penn were boys. That's the "key" to this game.

Don't miss this one. You'll be glued to the edge of your seat — guaranteed!

PRESERVING PEPPERS — There is a simple way of freezing peppers.

Cut the peppers in the desired sizes. Wash out the seeds and place the peppers on paper towels to dry. Put these peppers in a freezer bag. Use another freezer bag to prevent freezer burn.

There is an advantage of having these peppers on hand for long periods of time. It also prevents having to buy peppers during the off-season when they're so expensive. Alvin R., St. Clair Shores, Mich.

PAIN-FREE READING — In order to be able to read a heavy book without causing pain in my arthritic hands, I use my inexpensive little lap desk to hold the book. The loose filling in the back of the desk allows it to be shifted to any angle for comfortable reading.

I even use it when I read in bed. Cassie P., Shreveport, La.

SAVE THE BIRDS — We have a glassed-in sun porch with lots of windows.

Our beautiful goldfinches and robins were flying into the windows and I'd find them dead on the ground underneath. This is an idea I came up with and it works.

Take a suction cup and tie a narrow ribbon on it — I guess the movement of the ribbon keeps them away (put it in the middle of the window on the outside). Use leftover Christmas ribbon in bright colors.

Be sure to use the ribbon used for gift wrap (the kind that can be curled with the swipe of a scissor). Other ribbon, when it gets wet, won't flutter. Tricia K., Youngstown, Ohio

SUBSTITUTE — Try using pancake syrup instead of regular corn syrup in pecan pie. It gives a delicious flavor. Regina C., Spokane, Wash.

Western Maryland Trauma Seminar Set For Nov. 8-9

The Western Maryland Trauma Seminar will be presented on November 8 and 9 at Garrett Community College, McHenry. The seminar is being offered by the Maryland Fire & Rescue Institute, the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems, and GCC.

The seminar will include the following sessions: Trauma Arrest-To Resuscitate or Not to Resuscitate; Hehcopter Use & Patient Management; Automobile Crash Tests; Brain Attacks; MFRI-ALS Training into the Future; and Multisystem Trauma Case Review. Workshop sessions will include: Display of Helicopters Serving Western Maryland; Helicopter Operations Using the Billy Pugh Rescue Net; and Back Injury Prevention.

Registration is open to all emergency services personnel, but will be limited to 150 participants. Registration will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis, and will close October 10. The seminar will provide both BLS and ALS continuing education. Lodging will be available at the Wisp Resort.

For more information, persons may contact Garrett Community College, Continuing Education Office at 301-387-3069.

LAST WEEK THERE WERE 59 CATS, 59 cats in 59 hats, dressed that way just last Friday, for the 40th birthday of the Cat in the Hat. Yes, at Red House Elementary, the celebration was much more than complimentary, as pre-kindergarten and first grade students donned their hats in honor of Dr. Seuss's most famous of cats. It was our photographer's tricky assignment (to get this many cats in perfect alignment!) that provided for this caption opportunity which The Republican's caption writers found composing engrossing, in hopes that the gentle reader might find such a caption compelling. So without further ado, we will identify each one of these 59 cats for you, beginning in row number one, from left to right: Jarad Arnold, Tiffany Beeman, Annie Graham, Bryan Bucklew, Deatany Friend, Dale Marple, Tara Marple, Alyssa Beckman, Gary Pritts, Tyler Glotfelty, Ryan Ratliff, Blaine Stemple, Nathan Tichnell, Matthew Warnick, James Rolf, Daniel Lewis, Cain Strum, Jonathan Cummings, Brittney Ashby, and Sarah Uphold. In the second row are Alison Roth, Ashley Pike, Marcus Sisler, Lyndsey Glotfelty, Rebekah Severe, Allen Funkhouser, Mark Mattingly, Adam Calhoun, Bobby Gower, Kaylee Sisler, Kelsey Lear, Brittaney Slaubaugh, Seth Lewis, Ryan White, and teacher Sue Lear. In the third row are Larissa Kitzmiller, Sami Jo Calhoun, Kody Lewis, Vivian Geroski, P.J. Hebb, Brady Wheallon, Marissa Aronhalt, Jennifer Cosner, Travis Skewerls, Derek Tasker, Trista Aronhalt, John Rolf, Josh Arnold (a bit obscured by a hat, but nonetheless one well-dressed cat), and Nikky Ashby. In the fourth row are Kayla Kisner, Kaycee Ackerman, Leslie Green, Josh Gay, Jamie Stemple, Missy Rhodes, Samantha Cummings, Brianna Flanagan, Shane Livengood, and Jessica Hebb. Other kids can participate in the cat-mania too, as Random House (the publisher of Dr. Seuss's books) is asking kids all over the country to send birthday cards to the Cat in the Hat. For every card received through the end of this year, the publisher will donate one book (up to 150,000 books) to the National Center for Family Literacy. Send cards to The Cat in the Hat, c/o Random House Children's Publishing, 201 East 50th St., New York, NY 10022.

Nursing Home Reform Coalition Sets Rights Week

The National Citizens' Coalition for Nursing Home Reform has selected the week of Oct. 5-11 as Residents' Rights Week.

This group advocates on behalf of senior citizens residing in nursing homes and other long-term care facilities. The focus of the organization is to ensure the individual rights and a positive quality of life for these elderly people.

The coalition, through the Long Term Care Ombudsman Resource Center, Washington, D.C., has asked members of all communities set aside that week to remember the resi-dents of long term care facilities and take time to visit or participate in a community effort to enrich the lives of these residents.

Anyone wishing more information on this event or on any other project that assists the elderly may contact Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431.

Sweitzer Named To Who's Who

Stephanie R. Sweitzer, an 11th grade student at Southern High School, has been selected to be included in the publication Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Only 5% of high school students from the nation's 22,000 high schools are honored each year with this recognition of their achievement.

Stephanie is now eligible to compete for one of 175 scholarships of $1,000 each that will be awarded this year.

She is the daughter of Paul and Karen Sweitzer of Oakland.

Autumn Hopefest Planned To Aid House Of Hope

A benefit has been planned to help fund the services provided by the House of Hope. The name given to this event is the Autumn Hopefest.

The McHenry House at Wisp Resort will host the festivities which will include Italian food prepared by Pizzazz Pizzeria along with beer, wine, and soft drinks served by celebrity guest bartenders. Music for dancing will be provided by DJ Greg Carrico.

The House of Hope is an independent human service organization that relies solely on donations to meet the emergency needs of Garfett County families. Among the short-term urgent needs met by the group are food, fuel, utilities, and shelter.

"Assistance is provided on an individual basis according to degree of legitimate need," a spokesperson for the group stated. The House of Hope offers services not available elsewhere in the community.

Tickets to the Autumn Hopefest are available in Oakland at Brenda's Body Shop, 301-334-1275; in the lake area at Pizzazz Pizzeria, 301-387-YUMM, Will O' the Wisp, 301-387-5503, and The Lake-Front Magazine, 301-387-7124; and in Accident at Animal Crackers Pet Grooming, 301-746-8526, and Just Us Styling & Tanning Salon, 301-746-6344. A minimum $25 donation is requested.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

GRACE LUTHERAN

Sunday School at Grace Lutheran Church begins at 9 a.m., followed by a worship service with holy communion at 9:45 a.m on Sunday, Oct. 5. This will also be Harvest Sunday and all are asked to bring a non-perishable food item to be donated to the House of Hope.

The WELCA of the church will meet in the church social room at 7:30 a.m. on Monday, Oct. 6.

A new parish-wide Bible study, called "Crossways," will begin Wednesday, Oct. 8, from 7-8 p.m. at St. Paul's church in Accident. The study will be led by Lynn Patton. Interested persons are asked to call Corey Bergstrom at 301-746-8660, or Patton at 301-746-6126, as soon as possible so booklets can be ordered. All materials will cost $8 per person.

METHODIST

The three churches of the Friendsville United Methodist Charge will have services with holy communion on Sunday, Oct. 5, as follows: Blooming Rose, 9 a.m.; Selbysport, 10 a.m.; and Friendsville, 11 a.m. Pastor Milliren will be in charge of the services.

The Friendsville United Methodist Women will meet Monday, Oct. 6, at the church at 7 p.m. Plans will be finalized for a harvest dinner set for Saturday, Oct. 18, from 4-7 p.m at the church.

Blooming Rose UMW will meet at the church on Thursday, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m.

The Selbysport UMW will meet Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the church. Hazel Nugent will serve as hostess. The group will make plans to serve a Brotherhood supper on Tuesday, Oct. 14, at 6:30 p.m.

A pulpit exchange is set for Sunday, Oct. 12. Pastor Sam Wachter of the Deep Creek charge will speak at the Friendsville charge (Blooming Rose, 9 a.m.; Selbysport, 10 a.m.; and Friendsville, 11 a.m.), and Pastor Bob Milliren of the Friendsville charge will speak at the Deep Creek charge (Hoyes, McHenry, and Paradise Methodist churches).

RUSH BAPTIST

Saturday, Oct. 4, is the date set for a work day at Rush Baptist Church, beginning at 9 a.m.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m., followed bv a worship service with holy communion at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 5.

Following church on Oct. 5, a hayride is planned at the home of John and Darlene Schmidt, Cove, which will also include a covered dish dinner and wiener roast.

The Women's Missionary members will meet at McDonald's, Keyser Ridge, at 5 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 9. From there they will travel to Grace Baptist Church in Cumberland for a catered dinner at 6 p.m., and a meeting.

NATURE'S BEAUTY can take shape through human hands, as area blacksmith Jody Best is dwarfed by her seven-foot sculpted steel sunflower. "It's very neat growing a flower from a bar of steel," the artist understates. The Somerset County, Pa., native is the full-time blacksmith at Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville, where she creates everything from hardware, housewares and garden ornaments to exceptional sculpture pieces, items of lasting value which can be both useful and aesthetically pleasing. A former high school English teacher, Best's works have won several awards and scholarships, and she has exhibited across the country. Her work is currently on display through Oct. 30 at the Windrush Gallery on Morris Avenue in Friendsville. The Windrush Gallery will host an evening of entertainment and refreshments at an artist's reception in recognition of Best's work on Saturday, Oct. 11, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. For further information interested persons may call the gallery at 301-746-4083, or toll-free at 800-446-7554.

ASHER GLADE

The congregation of the Asher Glade Church of the Brethren will have a love feast and communion on Sunday, Oct. 5, at 7 p.m.

Bible study begins at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 8, followed by choir practice at 8 p.m. The Ladies Aid of the church will also meet at 7 p.m.

A quarterly board meeting is planned for Friday, Oct. 10, at 7 p.m.

The congregation will be responsible for nursing home visits at the Henry Clay Villa, Rt. 40, and South Fayette, Markleysburg, Pa., on Sunday, Oct. 12, at 2:30 p.m. Also on that day, the church's youth group will travel to Ohiopyle (Pa.) State Park for a bike outing. Everyone is welcome to attend.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD

Pam Baxter, a ventriloquist from New Martinsville, W.Va., will be the guest speaker during the 10:45 a.m. worship service on Sunday, Oct. 19, at Laurel Run Church of God.

A revival at the church will begin Sunday, Oct. 19, and will continue through Wednesday, Oct. 22, with services each evening at 7 p.m. The Rev. Sam Seletyn of the Church of God in Cumberland will be the guest speaker.

HUMBERSON BIRTHDAY

Fred Humberson was guest of honor at a dinner, Sept. 28, for his 93rd birthday which was Sept. 27. The dinner was hosted by his son and daughter-in-law, Bruce and Dean Humberson. Also attending were Dolly Livengood, Jean Selby, Betty Davis, Judy Livengood, and Freddie Humberson.

SCHOOL DISMISSAL

School will be dismissed at noon on Friday, Oct. 10, because of the Autumn Glory Festival.

WOW DINNER

The Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 awards dinner was held Saturday evening at the Sand Spring Church of God fellowship hall. The Ladies Aid of the church served dinner to the 105 in attendance.

Jim Crawford, fraternal coordinator, and Randy Connor, state manager, Hagerstown, were among those in attendance.

Darlene Coddington provided musical entertainment and Valerie Frazee was in charge of special entertainment.

Mrs. Thelma Kelly received a quilt given away during the evening. Julia Sines was the recipient of the President's Honor Award and Valerie Frazee received the Fraternal Spirit Award. A 25-year pin was presented to Janet Sisler and Walter Fearer received his 50-year pin. Citations for Outstanding Service were presented to the rescue squad and fire company in Friendsville. Roger Lohr and Valerie Frazee were the recipients of the 100% Woodmen Family Award and Janet Sisler won the 50-50 award.

WOW MEET

Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 met Sept. 18 in the social room at Grace Lutheran Church.

Following a short business session, a surprise baby shower was held for Mary Ann Lytle. A cake was baked and decorated for the occasion by Christy Thomas.

Members of Lodge 45 will meet at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 16, to travel to the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville to visit patients.

DEATH NOTED

Effie (Lytle) Vanllorn, 95, a former Friendsville resident, died Friday, Sept. 26, at a nursing home in Indiana, Pa.

She was born Sept. 19, 1902, a daughtyer of the late Alice Humberson.

She had resided for many years in Friendsville with Leonard and Ella (Leighty) Lytle. She had many relatives in the area.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Norman Vanllorn; one son, Glen; a daughter, Lavonna; one brother, Hiram "Bud" Humberson; and two sisters, Lavonna (Humberson) Lowdermilk and Buena Vista Humberson.

Survivors include three daughters, Virginia, Norma Jean, and Geraldine, all of the Marion Center, Pa., area; 27 grandchildren; 37 great-grandchildren; 27 great-great-grandchildren; three great-great-great-grandchildren; one half-brother, Ralph Humberson; five sisters, Evelyn (Humberson) Friend, Gladys (Humberson) Frantz, and Doris (Humberson) Friend, all local, Florence E. (Humberson) Livengood, Cuzzart, W.Va., and Arlene (Humberson) Sellers, Willoughby, Ohio.

Friends were received at the Bowser-Minnick Funeral Home, Indiana, where a service was conducted Monday with Pastor Dorothy Harda and Pastor Timothy Monroe officiating. Interment was in Gilgal Cemetery, Marion Center, Pa.

ROTARY NEWS

The Friendsville Rotary Club met Sept. 29 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant.

Al Walcek presented a program about the benefits and pitfalls of logging for landowners.

LIONS NEWS

The Friendsville Lions Club met Sept. 25 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant in Friendsville. Twelve members and two guests, Richard and Sharon Holt of Cumberland, were present.

President Barry Frazee conducted the meeting. Prayer was offered by Marlin Lawson.

Sharon Holt, representing the international relations committee, spoke about the various programs of the International Lions Club, including Twinning of Lionism, a way to create and foster a spirit of understanding among the people of the world. This, according to Holt, is a new activity for the clubs.

The club received requests for eye glasses from several Friendsville area residents.

The next meeting will be Oct. 9 at Twila's Old Mill Restaurant. All members are urged to attend the 6:30 p.m. meeting.

Flowery Vale To Host Senior Driving Course

The 55 Alive/Mature Driving Course will be held Monday, Oct. 20, and Tuesday, Oct. 21, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident.

Sponsored by AARP and Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging, the course is designed to meet the specific needs of older drivers. There is an $8 fee for materials.

To register, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 142. The deadline to register is October 13 at 4 p.m.

System Changes For Reservations In Forests, Parks

As part of a transition to a new reservation system, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park Service is changing the procedures for reserving camp sites, cabins, picnic shelters, and youth group areas for 1998.

Effective now, groups and individuals wishing to make reservations for 1998 will be required to wait until the system is online in mid-January. Once the system is operational, a toll-free call will enable citizens to reserve a site at any state forest or park up to nine months in advance.

"The new system will utilize improved technology to provide fast and efficient service to state park customers," DNR Secretary John R. Griffin said.

Reservations for cabins for this winter can still be made by calling the individual park during the transition period.

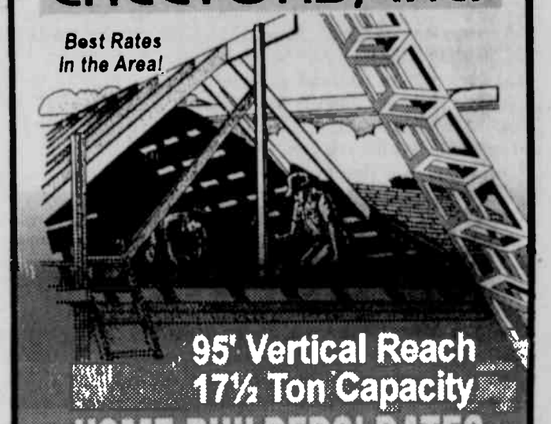
GCC To Offer Massage Course



Garrett Community College will offer a course titled "Overview of Bodywork and Massage." This 30-hour course will meet on Saturdays beginning October 18, and be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. This course is the prerequisite course for entry into the massage therapy curriculum.

Topics for this course include the nervous system, touch concepts and research, and introductory Eastern, European, and Western bodywork, and massage modalities.

Maryland senior citizens over age 60 may enroll tuition-free. Out-of-county and out-of-state residents will pay an additional differential fee. Because of limited seating, potential students are advised to register as soon as possible at the Continuing Education Office, McHenry Campus, Room CE-300. Persons who have questions or require additional information may call the office at 301-387-3069.

GCC To Offer ABE Classes In Friendsville

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College is offering an Adult Basic Education course at the Friendsville Library. The class is being held on Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. These classes are on-going.

These classes offer assessment in math and reading to anyone over the age of 16 not enrolled in the public school system. Because all lessons are individualized and self-paced, students may enter these courses any time during the year. These courses are supported by a grant from the Maryland State Department of Education and are free of charge to all students.

For further information, persons may contact Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 or the Continuing Education Division at 301-387-3069.

Loch Lynn Church Of God Slates Revival

The Loch Lynn Church of God will be holding fall revival services beginning at 6 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 5, and continuing at 7 p.m. each following evening through Wednesday, Oct. 8.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Gayle A. Brostowski, an ordained Assemblies of God minister. Rev. Brostowski has traveled throughout the northeastern corridor of the United States for over three years as a full-time evangelist. Prior to her current calling, she served for nine years in youth ministry as an assistant pastor at Assembly of God churches in Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts.

"I believe that there is hope and encouragement found in Christ," Brostowski has said. "His life-changing message consists of the power of the word, the wind of the spirit, and the glory of God's presence."

The public is invited to join the Loch Lynn Church of God congregation in this revival. Interested persons may call Pastor Robert Fletcher at 301-359-9202 for further information on this event.

Scouts In Action

GRANTSVILLE GIRL SCOUTS

The Grantsville Girl Scouts met Sept. 23 and decided on the Town Meeting system for their meetings this year. With this system everyone in the troop get the chance to participate in the decision-making and leadership. The girls also decided that the amount of dues will be $1 per meeting.

A sleep-over is being planned and information will follow later. Decisions on spending the cookie and magazine proceeds will be discussed at a later meeting, with a majority vote determining the troop's activity.

The sale of magazines and nuts will end Oct. 31, and forms need to be returned to Carol Frazee as soon as possible.

The VIIS tape "A Story of Inspiration" is being passed to each member to enjoy.

Members are urged to remember to complete the requirements for the Dabbler Badge. The troop will also visit FSU planetarium, Oct. 19, 3 p.m. Transportation can be arranged. Everyone is asked to RSVP.

Troop members for this year are Kieran Adams, Keri Bachtel, Kara Bowser, Amber DeWitt, Samantha Durst, Caressa Frazee, Samantha Guthrie, Sarah Rounds, Amber Savage, Kayla Snyder, Katy Towers, and Kena Yommer.

When to Harvest Corn Silage?

I guess we have been pretty lucky by not having an early killing frost; however, there is a lot of variance in corn maturity in our area. One of the most important steps in producing quality corn silage is to harvest at the proper moisture. The storage structure determines the proper moisture level at which to harvest.

Desired moisture levels for different structures are as follows: sealed airtight silos (55-60 %); bag silos (60-70%); upright silos (62-68 %); and trench silos (65-70 %). Ideally, moisture levels in the silage should be monitored at harvest to prevent harvesting the crop outside the desired range. If moisture testing is not feasible, then estimate the crop moisture by the stage of crop development.

Kernel milk line can serve as an indicator of whole plant moisture levels. As kernels start to dent, a separation between kernel, starch, and milk can be seen. The firm starch is deposited in the crown (outer) area of the kernel, and the milk occupies the basal area of the kernel. This appears as a whitish line separating the two areas. As the crop matures, this kernel milk line moves down the kernel and the whole plant moisture declines. When this line reaches the mid point of the kernel, 90% of the final kernel dry weight has been achieved and silage yields reach a maximum. At this point, the stover part of the plant has good digestibility and the moisture is usually in the desired range for storage in airtight silos. The kernel should be one-quarter to one-third milk line for upright conventional silos and a higher moisture level and a slightly earlier harvest is recommended for bunker silos (full dent to one-quarter milk line). Harvest time can be predicted by monitoring the progression of the milk line. When the milk line reaches the base of the kernel, a black layer forms and the crop is physiologically mature.

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farming In Maryland.....

Silage harvest should not be delayed beyond the black layer point because if the silage gets too dry, the kernels tend to harden and the digestibility of the stover declines rapidly. The desired chopping length for corn silage is 5/8 to 3/4 inch. If silage is harvested when the crop moisture is lower than desired, consider chopping finer than normal to promote good packing and to minimize air pockets in the silage.

Farm Service Agency Releases News Update

Michael R. Kozier, director for the Garrett and Allegany counties Farm Service Agency, announced that the next Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) general signup will be held from October 14 through November 14, 1997.

This is an opportunity for landowners to participate in a cost-effective, voluntary program to improve their land, water and wildlife resources, Kozier said.

The CRP is designed to improve America's natural resource base. Landowners eater into contracts with the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to enroll erodible and other environmentally sensitive land in contracts for 10 to 15 years. In exchange, they receive annual rental payments and a payment for up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing approved practices.

There will be a Timber Tax Workshop for forest landowners on October 25 at the Career & Technical Education Building in Cresaptown. The workshop is presented by the Allegany and Garrett Forestry Conservancy District boards. Registration is $35 if received before Oct. 1. For additional information about the course, interested persons may call the DNR at 301-777-2137 or 301-334-3296.

Garrett and Allegany residents who live outside the local calling area may call the nearest office within their local calling area. The message will then be forwarded and the appropriate office will call back.

Maryland Corn And Soybean Yield Down

The September forecast for both corn and soybean production in Maryland were down from August expectations.

Based on September 1 conditions, the corn for grain crop was expected to average 80 bushels per acre compared with the 1996 record high average of 139 bushels per acre and 5 bushels below the August survey results of 85 bushels per acre. Weather conditions during the critical growing season were not favorable in many areas throughout the state, causing farmers to expect poor yields.

Soybean expectations followed corn's forecast and was not favorable to this point. Soybeans were forecast to average 25 bushels per acre across the state based on the outlook on September 1. This yield, if realized, is 4 bushels below the August survey results of 29 bushels per acre and 12 bushels below the 1996 average of 37 bushels per acre. Based on current yield expectations, production of grain corn in the state will amount to 36 million bushels.

Lower yields and decreased acreage planted to corn both contributed to the decreased output. The corn crop will be down 44% from 1996. Soybean production in Maryland will total 13.25 million bushels if current conditions prevail. This output is down 25% from 1996 levels. Lower yields more than offset the increased planted acreage to account for the decreased production.

Maryland Corn Harvest Continues

For the week which ended on Sept. 28, grain corn harvesting continued and was well below the previous and five-year averages.

Corn harvested for silage was ahead of the previous and five-year averages. Sixty-two percent of field corn was rated as mostly poor and very poor.

About half of the soybeans in Maryland were reported to have changed color, which is slightly ahead of the last year average, but behind the five-year average. Soybeans shedding leaves made significant advances and was about the same as the previous year average but behind the five-year average.

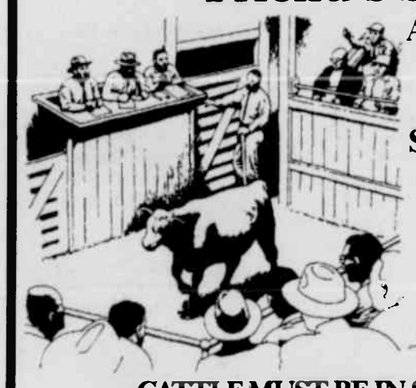
The sorghum crop was 2% very poor, 17% poor, 40% fair, 36% good, and 5% excellent. Sorghum turning color was similar to that of soybeans in that sorghum made great advances and was ahead of the previous and five-year averages.

Pastures were 5% very poor, 25% poor, 37% fair, 32% good, and 1% excellent.

Hay supplies were 24% very short, 31% short, 42% adequate and 3% surplus.

Apple conditions were 3% very poor, 6% poor, 28% fair, 51% good, and 12% excellent.

There was an average of 6.4 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 15% very short, 43% short, and 42% adequate. Subsoil moisture was 25% very short, 40% short, 34% adequate, and 1% surplus.



PRIZE WINNING TRACTOR OPERATOR - Taylor Sines, a junior at Southern High School and a third year member of the Oakland FFA, recently participated in several tractor operator's contests. Sines competed in the contest at the Garrett County Fair, where he received second place. He then traveled to the Maryland State Fair, where he won first place in the same competition. Sines then went on to compete at the "Big E" in Massachusetts, where he placed ninth. The contest consisted of a written test and a tractor identification test. Sines also competed in an operator's contest that required maneuvering 2-wheeled and 4-wheeled equipment.

Goshen College Chorale Concert Set At Springs

The Goshen (Ind.) College Chorale, directed by professor of music Doyle Preheim, will present a program of sacred music at Springs Mennonite Church, Route 669, Springs, Pa., on Saturday, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

The Goshen College Chorale is comprised of more than 50 singers selected from the student body. In the fall tour, the group will lead worship, drawing from the rich heritage of Christian music, including classical styles, hymn arrangements, and spirituals.

Preheim has taught and directed choirs at Goshen since 1972. He received his bachelor's degree from Bethel College, North Newton, Kan., and his D.M.A. in choral music from the University of Southern California. He appears frequently as baritone soloist in oratorio and vocal recitals throughout the United States and Canada.

Founded in 1894, Goshen College is a fully accredited, four-year liberal arts college, with an enrollment of more than 1,000 students. Students come from more than 30 states, several Canadian provinces, and more than 30 other countries.

Owned by the Mennonite Church, the college offers programs of study in 70 areas, leading to more than 30 majors and 30 minors. Approximately 50 students are majoring or minoring in music, and more than 200 students annually participate in music classes and ensembles. The department has six full-time and numerous part-time faculty.

Dr. Rentschler To Begin Practice In Confluence, Pa.

Family Health Care (of Meyersdale and Salisbury, Pa., as well as Grantsville) and the Conemaugh Heahh System have announced the expansion of the Confluence, Pa., physician office to include the services of Lawrence L. Rentschler, M.D., effective Monday, Oct. 13. Dr. Rentschler has been associated with the Meyersdale Medical Center, an affiliate of the Conemaugh Health System, since June 1994. He is joining Dr. Farzaneh Hassani at the Confluence office.

Licensed in Pennsylvania and Maryland, Rentschler will provide full outpatient family medical services in Confluence and will continue to practice general and emergency medicine with Family Health Care and the Meyersdale Medical Center. He has practiced in Friendsville and the Deep Creek Lake community.

"The new emergency department and general hospital renovation at Meyersdale Medical Center demonstrate long-term commitment to an expanding medical facility and community," Rentschler said. He said the Family Health Care group provides strong leadership and "reflects a genuine commitment to quality health care in this region."

"This commitment was a key reason for my return to the area," Rentschler said. "I very much look forward to partnering with Dr. Hassani, whose proficiency in internal medicine is excellent." Appointments can be made by calling 814-395-5420.

AFGHAN RAFFLE WINNER - The Garrett County Historical Society recently raffled two hand-made afghans at its recent fund-raising dinner and auction at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. Larry Cosner, left, president of the society, is shown presenting Alice Smith of Accident with an afghan made by Carolyn Marley of Deer Park. The second afghan, made by Mary Ellen Walbert of Crosaptown, was won by Cheri Cosner of Troy, Ohio. The proceeds from this raffle were directed to the mortgage on the new Garrett County Historical Museum building on Second Street in Oakland. The society continues to accept donations and memorials, and will continue to hold fund-raising events to benefit the museum building fund.

A native of Oakland, Rentschler attended Garrett Community College and later graduated from the University of South Dakota. He attended the Uniformed Services University, Bethesda, and received a medical degree in May 1986. He interned in pediatrics at the United States Air Force Medical Center, Kessler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss.

The physician was honorably discharged in 1992 after 16 years of combined active and reserve military service. His military honors include the Army Commendation Medal for exceptionally meritorious service.

Rentschler has been in general medical practice for the past 10 years. After practicing for a time in the Friendsville and Deep Creek Lake areas, he relocated to southeastern South Dakota, where he served three years in Indian health. He has completed extensive continuing medical education at the University of Nebraska and Harvard.

The physician and his family presently reside in McHenry and anticipate a move to southern Somerset County later this fall.

With KeyClassic, you can afford to fiddle around.

Remember the story about the grasshopper and the ant? The ant, who worked very hard and put little money aside for retirement, thought the grasshopper was a bum because all he did was play the fiddle. What the ant didn't know was that the grasshopper had found the key to financial success: KeyClassic from American Trust Bank.

With KeyClassic, mature customers enjoy a variety of ways to make the most of their golden years. Benefits like interest on checking, special CD offers and more. Services like an Indexed Money Market Account, that provides different rate tiers, so the more you save, the more you earn. Plus it's FDIC insured. And the Indexed Money Market Account is available through other packages like KeySource and Electronic Checking. It all adds up to the easy, secure way to build your financial success.

So, while the ant continued to work hard and get nowhere, the grasshopper with KeyClassic could afford to fiddle around.

Steinberger Joins Preston Hospital Staff

Preston Memorial Hospital announced today the addition to its medical staff of Robert Steinberger, MD, F.A.C.S.

Steinberger is a board certified orthopedic surgeon who will be providing comprehensive orthopedic services to the community beginning Oct. 1. His office will be located on the first floor of the hospital. Appointments are now being scheduled at 304-329-4702.

A graduate of the Wayne State University School of Medicine, Detroit, Mich., he completed his orthopedic residency at Henry Ford Hospital and an orthopedic and hand fellowship at William Beaumont Hospital, both in Detroit.

A major in the Air Force reserve, Steinberger was chief of orthopedic surgery while on active duty in Germany. He is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and also a fellow of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, and a member of the American Association of Hand Surgeons. He has been licensed to practice in West Virginia since 1995.

Steinberger and his wife Cyndi, a surgical technologist, are moving from Bloomington, Ind., and plan to live in Kingwood. The Steinbergers have grown children living in different areas of the country.

Steinberger said he plays "bad golf," and likes skiing, riding his bike, and playing on his computer. He has previously taught anatomy in various universities and would like to continue teaching. He hopes to pursue teaching opportunities here in the near future.

Services were held on Thursday, Sept. 25, at the Aurora United Methodist Church for Madeline Wotring, 65, Aurora, who died Sept. 23 at Cortland Acres Nursing Home. She is survived by one sister, Josephine Lambert, also of Aurora.

THE COOL, CRISP FALL AIR proved to be a bit too much for Syreta Brand (shown at right) as she wrapped herself in Queen Ceres' long train while she and the other queen's trainbearer, Heather Losh, waited for Friday's coronation ceremony to begin. Syrena is the daughter of Ridgly and Tammy Brand, and Heather is the daughter of Bryant and Debra Losh.

FINISHING TOUCHES - As coronation time drew nearer, King Buckwheat LVI Nick Riggins knelt down to make sure trainbearer Marshall Barlow's vest and coat were straight, while the other king's trainbearer, Robert "Benny" Owens, looked on. Marshall is the son of Fred and Cindy Barlow, and Benny is the son of Mark and Cyndi Owens.

"Wouldn't It Be Nice to Bring the Kids Along?"

Perhaps...if you're going to a baseball game, the zoo or a birthday party. But bringing children under 12 years of age to the hospital with you to visit patients is no day in the park.

Because youngsters are more likely to contract illnesses, children under age 12 are not permitted to visit hospital patients.

Our visitation policies are made for the wellbeing of our patients as well as to protect you and your family.

By being mindful of this important policy, you'll be keeping your children healthy while giving our patients the peace and quiet they need to recover.

Rest assured!

Ruth Snyder, Burlington's Apple Butter Lady, Notes Retirement

by I. Lynn Beckman

She has retired from the kettles.

Her name is Ruth Snyder. She hails from Aurora, W.Va., and her legacy is written in thousands of gallons of Burlington's famous Old Fashioned Apple Butter. She made her official announcement at the close of the 1996 Burlington, W.Va., Old Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival.

"At my age I just can't do what I used to," Ruth says with a grin. Then she hastens to add, "Oh, I will still drop around, but my arthritis just won't allow me to take all of the responsibility and do all of the work anymore. There are others now who know what to do and how to do it. I more or less let them go ahead last year just to let them see that they could do it. They did fine," she says, with assurance that those in charge in 1997 will carry on the great tradition of producing excellent apple butter.

The new "apple butter lady" who is charged with the huge task of coordinating the apple butter kettles for 1997 is Paige Dobson of Terra Alta, W.Va. "She has helped in the past," said one of the Burlington Family Services Auxiliary members, sponsors of the Festival and the apple butter making, "and she liked doing it, so she volunteered to take on the big responsibility this year."

For 22 years Ruth has been the one visitors and volunteers alike have recognized and respected as the person in charge of the huge, hot, popping kettles of bronze-colored apple butter at the festival. She knew what, how, and when to do the right things to keep hundreds of other volunteers on task and on target with the delicate cooking and spice blending operations. Easily recognized in her huge straw hat, and faithfully keeping a watchful eye on the whole "field" of "stirring" and cooking activities in front of her, she has walked countless miles over the years, going from kettle to kettle, wielding a huge spoon and checking the quality and consistency of each day's production.

Rarely, but increasingly in more recent years, she may have taken a short break under a nearby canopy where, sometimes, a rocking chair has been placed by other volunteers who were mindful of her need to rest and her stressful, grueling schedule. Always, though, the kettles have been within sight, and her devotion to duty has been firmly fixed.

Now, at the age of 86, she has retired from the arduous routines of supervising the cooking of the apple butter, a responsibility that began before dawn each day of the week of cooking as the morning fires were lit and the kettles were readied. Her day most generally did not conclude until sometime after the last drop of apple butter was canned each evening. Often this was as late as 7 or 8 p.m.

AFTER 23 YEARS OF COORDINATING the production of thousands of gallons of apple butter during the annual Burlington Old Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival, 86-year-old Ruth Snyder of Aurora has announced her plans to retire from her duties. She is pictured above with some of the children from the Burlington Children's Home. Mrs. Snyder's replacement "apple butter" lady will be Paige Dobson of Terra Alta. (See story)

Making huge, uniformly consistent and tasty quantities of sweetened, bronze-colored, spiced and sweet apple butter out of doors, starting with apple "snits" (which are carefully prepared apple quarters), over open wood fires the old-time way is truly an art which has been handed down from generations past. While there are still some families engaging in the art as in days past, it has become an activity largely kept alive these days through events such as the Burlington Festival. However, for Ruth Snyder, making apple butter was an art she developed only after she had volunteered her first time at Burlington's festival in one of its earliest years.

"I didn't know how to make apple butter back in the first years of Burlington's Apple Harvest Festival," Ruth admits. "I came to the very first festival and was there on Saturday, but I didn't help much. I was a school teacher in those days and couldn't get away every day like I could in the years following. I really started helping out 23 years ago, the second year of the festival. I got involved a lot more, and I learned how to do it. I have been involved ever since. Up through 1996 I haven't missed a day of cooking, and the work has increased over the years from one or two kettles a day in the early years to as many as 10 or 11 a day now. I even remember in the early years how I would even wash canning jars at night after everyone else had gone home," she says.

To facilitate her rigorous schedule, Ruth has traditionally moved into a room in one of the cottages on the Burlington Children's Home Campus. This was an annual routine she has enjoyed since it gave her close contact with the children in Burlington's care, the reason for the founding and existence of the festival. It also gives her an opportunity to be on hand to help welcome and orient the nearly 1,000 volunteers who come, those who arrive early and those who come later, each day.

Speaking of volunteers, of which she is a prime example par excellence, Ruth's dedicated involvement has brought her renown across West Virginia and beyond. In 1994 she was presented the "Sammy," West Virginia's Good Samaritan Award, at the state's famous Pinch Reunion, an event held in the community of its namesake located outside Charleston. Her award was the third one ever presented.

In making the presentation, George Daughtery, a Charleston attorney said, "Ruth Snyder is a true representative of the best of West Virginia's volunteers. People need to know what our volunteers are doing in this state. We are pleased to present the 'Sammy' to Ruth for her outstanding example of dedicated service and volunteer spirit."

As for Ruth, her joys have come from the knowledge that children and families are receiving care and assistance and through the daily opportunity she has had to make hundreds of new friends and keep old acquaintances alive as she has toiled in her labors of love alongside the hundreds of other volunteers.

"The fellowship is the beauty of the whole thing for me," she says with delight in her eyes. "I have come to know a lot of people and a lot of people have come to know me through the apple butter making. Of course, I can't remember all of their names. So, when I am out somewhere often someone will look at me with a friendly smile as if they know me. Right away I know we have met before and labored together probably over a kettle of apple butter at Burlington. That adds up to a lot of people when you multiply my 23 years of being around the festival grounds with hundreds of people who have come and gone to help us out. It's beautiful--and so is the ministry to the children. That's it in a nutshell."

The 1997 Burlington Old Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival is set for this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4 and 5. An estimated 2,000 gallons of apple butter will be made, beginning on Monday, Sept. 29, through Saturday, Oct. 4. For additional information on the festival or on how to become involved as a volunteer, write to P.O. Box 69, Burlington, WV 26710, or phone 304-788-1953 or 304-289-3511.

ONE OF THE MANY UNITS in Saturday's Farmers' Day Parade was this train provided by The Bruceton Bank.

THE PRIDE OF PRESTON, the Preston High School Marching Knights, were among numerous bands to perform for the large crowds gathered for the three parades held during the annual Buckwheat Festival.

GOVERNOR AND MRS. CECIL UNDERWOOD made an official visit to the replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial that was on display throughout the Buckwheat Festival. The couple placed a wreath in front of the wall in remembrance of the West Virginia soldiers who lost their lives in the Vietnam War, and those who are still listed as "missing in action."

A PICKIN' AND A GRINNIN' - Jim Hollis (front) and the Boys delighted parade watchers with a variety of bluegrass and country tunes as they rode through Saturday's Buckwheat Festival parade.

Shoe Run.

Jane May of Daleville, Va., visited several days last week with her parents, John and Rebecca Teets, Eglon.

Mrs. George (Jean) Drainer, Aurora, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday morning at the Aurora Post Office, when she attempted to pull out onto U.S. 50 and apparently drove into the path of an oncoming log truck. Although she had to be extricated from her vehicle, Mrs. Drainer reportedly sustained only facial lacerations and fractured ribs. She remained a patient in Ruby Memorial because of a heart rhythm problem.

Mrs. Bessie Reckert, Eglon, was taken Sunday morning to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a fall at her home.

Frank Stemple was admitted Friday night to Garrett County Memorial Hospital after an episode at his Aurora home.

On Saturday, Sept. 27, children of the late Jim and Fannie Martin met at the home of Roy and Violet Fint, Aurora, for an early celebration of Mary Frances Beckman's 80th birthday. Also observing his birthday the same day was Joey "Bubba" Fint. Those who were present for the family dinner were Roy and Violet Fint, John, Connie, and Darrell Fint, Ralph and Wilda Fint, and Joe, Stacy, and Joey Fint, all Aurora; Homer Fike. Eglon; Harold and Algretta Martin, Mary Frances Beckman, and Lee and Dean Beckman, all Morgantown; Wade and Phyllis Martin, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Glenn and Ilene Fint, Old Fields; and coming later in the afternoon were Betty and Tina Fint, local.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Harsh, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, and the Richard Corbins of Eglon were Ross and Virginia Evans of Lewisburg.

Visiting Thursday to Monday with Hazel and Lewis Durst at Amboy and other local relatives were Harold and Helen Winters, Columbus, Ohio.

A birthday dinner on Sunday honored Maynard Lantz and was hosted by his wife Bonnylin. Family members attending were Charlie, Julie, and Ryan Adams, Cody Lewis, and Scott and Sherri Weeks, all Oakland; and Kirk, Anita, Jeremy, Ben, and Becky Lantz, and Mark, Chris, Bethany, Josh, and Jordan Lantz, all Aurora.

Visiting Friday to Monday with Thelma Simpson, Aurora, were her cousins, Ray and Cleota Hoisington, Ravenna, Ohio.

Pastor John and Linn Crowe of Eglon went Thursday to Charleston, S.C., for a visit with their daughter, Ashley Crowe, a student at Columbia Bible College, and with friends there. They returned home Tuesday.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE FEE-SIMPLE DWELLING 8 EAST PENNINGTON STREET OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND 21550

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Thomas B. Thayer to Hans Rusli, Trustee, dated March 15, 1996, and recorded in Liber 675, folio 281 among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the holder of the indebtedness secured by the Deed of Trust having appointed Alvin E. Friedman, Kenneth J. MacFadyen, James J. Loftus, and Daniel Menchel, Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged and recorded among the Land Records of the County aforesaid, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the parties secured thereby, the undersigned Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction

AT THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, AT THE COURT HOUSE DOOR, OAKLAND, ON TUESDAY, OCTOBER 21,1997 AT 1:00 O'CLOCK P.M.

ALL THAT LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows:

ALL THAT PARCEL OF LAND SITUATE IN ELECTION DISTRICT NO. 14, GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND, WHICH IS DESCRIBED AS FOLLOWS:

BEGINNING FOR THE SAME ON THE NORTH SIDE OF PENNINGTON STREET IN THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, BEING KNOWN AND DESIGNATED AS LOTS NO. 7 AND 8 OF WILSON'S FIRST ADDITION TO THE TOWN OF OAKLAND, A SUBDIVISION OF LOT NO. 57.

The property is improved by a dwelling and is in fee-simple.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements.

Terms of Sale: a deposit of $16,000 will be required at the time of sale in the form of cash, certified check or other form as the Substitute Trustees determine acceptable. If the noteholder and/or servicer is the successful bidder, the deposit requirement is waived. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten (10) days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Time is of the essence as to the purchaser. If the purchaser defaults, the deposit will be declared forfeit, and applied as required by Maryland law, with the remainder, if any, to be applied at the discretion of the Substitute Trustees. In addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to the Substitute Trustees or noteholder, the property will be resold at the risk and expense of the defaulting purchaser. Further, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for any deficiency resulting from the resale, as well as all costs and expenses of the resale, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate pursuant to the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason (and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder), there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, water rent, condominium fees, and/or homeowner association dues, if applicable, shall be adjusted to the date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis, including sanitary and/or metropolitan district charges to be adjusted for the current year to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. In the event the property is occupied by tenants, the Substitute Trustees assume no responsibility for security deposits, or other monies paid by the tenants to anyone. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law and equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees or the noteholder. The property will be sold in an "AS IS" condition without either express or implied warranty or representation, including, but not limited to, the description, fitness for a particular purpose/use, structural integrity, physical condition, construction, extent of construction, workmanship, materials, habitability, zoning, subdivision, environmental condition, merchantability, compliance with building codes or other laws, ordinances or regulations, or other similar matters. The Substitute Trustees, their attorneys and/or the noteholder shall not be liable individually or otherwise for any matters relating to this sale and/or the property.

GCC To Offer Cake Decorating In Grantsville

A course titled Basic Cake Decorating will begin Thursday, Oct. 9, and be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center. The class will meet for a total of six weeks. Students will learn to make frosting for the use of decorating, and the use of basic decorating techniques to produce a variety of borders, flowers, and lines.

For more information, persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304 or the Continuing Education Division at 301-387-3069.

"Tales Of The Lost Formicans" Slated At FSU

"Tales of the Lost Formicans," by playwright Constance Congdon, will be the first production of Frostburg State University's new year, and performances are scheduled for October 10, 11, 16, 17, and 18 at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Studio Theatre. There will also be a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Oct. 12.

In the beginning of the play, several aliens come down from outer space and, through alien eyes, observe the action on stage. "It is the aliens' view about middle-class people," said Dr. Linda McCulloch, professor of communications at FSU and director of the play.

The emphasis on and the presence of aliens throughout the play has confused many people's expectations. But, McCulloch clears this up rather matter-of-factly.

"If people think they're coming to see a play about aliens, they're wrong," she said. "Yes, aliens are in the play," she added. "But it's not about them. It's about people."

The play is very dramatic, but also has a lot of comedy, too, McCulloch said.

Season tickets for the 1997-98 season are available. To order season tickets or to make individual reservations, persons may call 301-687-4145 between 1 and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Tickets for all University Theatre productions may also be purchased at the theatre box office before the performances.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Festival Kick-Off Reception Set

The traditional kick-off reception for the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival will be held at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort on Wednesday, Oct. 8, beginning at 8 p.m.

This year, once again, a special Honorary Golden Ambassador will be honored during the reception and Autumn Glory Queen Chelsea Frickey will be crowned. Following the announcement of the Honorary Ambassador and crowning of the Festival Queen, there will be a live musical performance at approximately 9:15 p.m. For $150 per couple or $100 for a single ticket, supporters of the festival are designated as "Golden Ambassadors" and receive an honorary card offering the following benefits: admission to the Festival Kick-Off Cocktail Buffet Reception, Antique Show and Sale at the National Guard Armory, Sports Card, Comic Book & Memorabilia Show, Oakland fire hall, "Official" Maryland State Banjo Championship & Jay Armsworthy & Eastern Tradition Bluegrass Band concert, "Official" Maryland State Fiddle Championship, and Western Maryland Tournament of

NOT MANY ARE AS ADVANCED AT PUMPKIN CARVING as local artist Marcetta Danner, whose talented handiwork would put most "jack-o-lanterns" to shame. Her creations are often a popular addition to local celebrations, including the Autumn Glory Festival. This sculpted squash enhanced the table at last year's kick-off reception. This year's event will be held on Oct. 8 at the McHenry House and will include the crowning of the festival queen, as well as an amazing feast for the guests. The reception is the primary fund-raiser for the Autumn Glory celebration.

Garrett's Glory

by Ali Evans

The night air closes with quiet chill.
Fall winds flicker lightly through the hills.
When the light dawns in crisp morning air,
There's a unique scene that nature shares.
It glimmers and sparkles from the rays of light,
Making a brilliant, clear, and most majestic sight.
The panorama shines like a mountain of gold,
As the shades of red, orange, and yellow unfold.
As you stand before this grandeur and gaze,
At the array of color and glittering maze,
You know the bitterness of winter's story

Antiques And Art To Be Featured During Festival

Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, which will be held October 9-12, in downtown Oakland, and the surrounding area, will feature a variety of events, arts, crafts, and antiques.

This four-day festival will include the 24th Annual Civic Club Antique Show and Sale at the National Guard Armory, 8th and High streets 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; the Autumn Glory Contemporary Craft Show 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Dennett Road Elementary School gym and cafeteria on Dennett Road; and the Heritage Craft Festival, sponsored by the Garrett County Arts Council, also Saturday and Sunday, at Broad Ford Elementary School on Harvey Winters Drive and at Southern Middle School 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. These shows offer unique artwork, antiques, and craft items on display and for sale throughout the festival. Artwork, selected crafts, and demonstrations will also be on display at the Mountain Arts Pavilion on Liberty Street in downtown Oakland from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Shuttle service by the Garrett Transit Service will be provided on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. circulating between the Oakland town parking lot, the craft/antique shows, and turkey dinners. The fare is $3 for all day or $1 per ride; special trips will be quoted upon request by calling 301-334-9431, extension 102 or 109. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948, E-Mail GCTourism@garrett.ncin.com.

NEW MUSEUM QUARTERS - The Garrett County Historical Society Museum made a big move since the last Autumn Glory Festival and is now housed in the former Professional Building along Second Street in downtown Oakland. The much larger space has allowed the society to have many more displays of artifacts from Garrett County's history. The museum and genealogical library will be open for touring during the festival on Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 9-11, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Sunday, Oct. 12, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Chelsea Frickey To Be Crowned Festival Queen

Chelsea Frickey, daughter of Bill and Susan Frickey of Grantsville, will reign as queen of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, which will be held Oct. 9-12 in downtown Oakland and the surrounding area. She will be crowned at the Kick-Off Reception on Wednesday, Oct. 8, at the McHenry House at the Wisp.

Chelsea is a 17-year-old senior at Northern Garrett County High School, and her school activities include chorus, SIT Team, peer counseling, Girl's Varsity Club, National Honor Society, Minds in Motion, and Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Her school awards include student of the month and year, outstanding biology student, both distinguished and regular honor rolls, honorable mention for the Maryland Distinguished Scholarship program, the "I Dare You" award, and Woodmen of the World History Award.

She has participated in junior varsity basketball as co-captain, receiving the most valuable player award in her final year, and varsity track and field for the past three years, winning the jumping award last year. Her number one sport, however, is volleyball, as she has been a varsity volleyball team member all four years at Northern, receiving the highest serving percentile award two years running and the MVP award in her junior year.

Chelsea's hobbies include

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Balsamic vinegar adds a sophisticated touch to fruit desserts. Mix 3 Tbs. balsamic vinegar with ¼ cup brown sugar and ½ to 1 tsp. coarse-ground black pepper. Stir in strawberries, cut-up apple and bananas and let the mixture stand 15 minutes as flavors develop.

Portobello mushrooms may sound Italian, but they really come from Pennsylvania. They're just brown button mushrooms allowed to grow a few extra days.

Place thin slices of cheddar cheese, smoked ham, red onion and tomato on good country-style bread, add more cheese, then the top piece of bread. Spread the outsides of the sandwich with butter seasoned with mustard and herbs. Cook in a nonstick skillet.

What is that special, subtle flavor? Maybe the cook pureed a teaspoon of capers in the vinaigrette. The versatile berry is great with fish and chicken, and in pasta sauce with black olives.

Maryland Banjo Championships Among Autumn Glory Events

The "Official" Maryland State Banjo Championship and concerts by Jay Armsworthy and the Eastern Tradition Bluegrass Band from Southern Maryland will be held Friday, Oct. 10, at the Southern High School gymnasium. Entertainment will begin at 7 p.m. with a concert, followed by the banjo championship at 8 p.m. and another concert immediately following the contest.

The championship features competitions between top banjo players from a five-state area. Trophies and prize money will be awarded to the top four contestants, with a special award for the best "old-time" banjo player and special awards for youth contestants. Jay Armsworthy and the Eastern Tradition Bluegrass Band will perform in two concerts before and after the banjo championship.

The Eastern Tradition plays a variety of "hard drivin'" bluegrass standards, from traditional material to some of the old-time country tunes. The members of the group are Jay Armsworthy on guitar and lead vocals, and who has his own bluegrass radio show on FM 97.7 WMDM/AM 920 WPTX in Lexington Park and FM 96.9 WBEY in Crisfield; Jackie Rutledge on acoustic bass, tenor and vocals; Merl Johnson on mandolin, lead and baritone vocals, who at the age of 16 is also a talented fiddle, guitar, bass and banjo player; and Ken Windbeck on banjo, lead and harmony vocals, who was the recipient of the 1987 Maryland Distinguished Scholarship in the Fine Arts for his extraordinary playing.

Eastern Tradition has played several clubs, festivals, benefits and private functions and won first place in the band competition at the Gettysburg Bluegrass Festival in 1995. This group promises to provide a evening of entertainment for bluegrass enthusiasts of all ages.

The banjo championship is sponsored by American Trust Bank and is funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, and the Maryland State Arts Council. Refreshments will be available and doors open at 6:15 p.m. Admission is $6 for

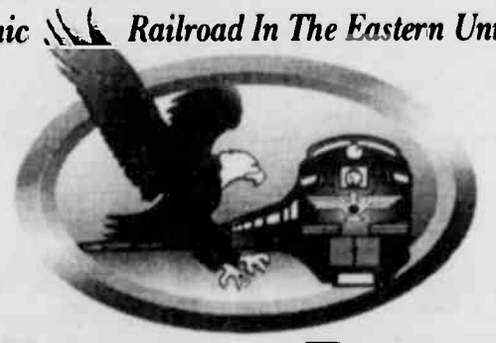
Music To Abound During Autumn Glory

A variety of musical entertainment is scheduled throughout the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, set for October 9-12, in downtown Oakland and other Garrett County locations, beginning with the Firemen's Oktoberfest Celebration featuring a 20-piece German-style "Oompah" band at approximately 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 9, at the Oakland fire hall on Third Street, following the Oktoberfest Meal and Firemen's Parade. Admission is free.

Friday afternoon's "Celebrate the Glory" festivities at the Mountain Fresh Pavilion in the Oakland Town Parking Lot will feature the "Back to Country" Line Dancers, the Lakeside Assembly of God music and drama performance, and Jim Hollis & The Boys playing fiddle and country music, beginning at noon. Friday evening's entertainment will include an organ recital at 7 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, featuring Dr. Geoffrey Simon, internationally known organist, with free admission; and the "Official" Maryland State Banjo Championship including bluegrass concerts by Eastern Tradition Bluegrass. Admission to the Banjo Championship is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.



Bagpipe concerts will be performed by the Garrett Community College Pipes & Drums on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in front of the Grand Feature Parade reviewing stand off Second Street in Oakland and at 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 12, at St. John's Episcopal Church on Route 135 in Deer Park, and admission is free to both concerts. Also on Saturday, the World Lighthouse Worship Center will offer music and drama at 10 a.m. and the Pleasant View Baptist Church of Oakland will host a gospel concert from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., both in front of the Grand Feature Parade reviewing stand. The "Back to Country" Line Dancers will perform at 3:30 p.m., or immediately following the parade, in front of I.C. Electronics on Liberty Street in Oakland, with free admission to these events. Turkey Dinners A Favorite During Festival

In the early days of the celebration, the Autumn Glory Festival was called Garrett County's Turkey Festival. Today, the traditional turkey is still a favorite during the festival. While these meals may be purchased at many locations around the county, some may still choose to cook their own turkey dinners at home.

Though turkey is a traditional American holiday meal, not everyone knows how to safely thaw and cook this festive fowl.

Turkey comes in many sizes, shapes and forms in the local grocery store. It may be fresh or frozen, whole or in parts. When purchasing, the buyer should be aware of signs that the bird is going to be a safe and wholesome meal.

Frozen turkeys should not show signs of thawing and refreezing. Fresh turkeys should not have overly dry parts or excessive liquid in the tray. Color is also an important factor.

Storing the holiday fowl will also ensure quality. Fresh turkeys should be stored at or below 40 degrees Fahrenheit until it is time to thaw. A frozen bird needs to be kept at or below 0 degrees Fahrenheit.

Thawing the turkey can be tricky. The safest place to defrost is in the refrigerator. This method can take from 1-2 days for 8-12 pound turkeys and up to 4-5 days for 20- 24 pound birds. Those ranging 12-16 pounds take 2-3 days while the 16-20 pounders need 3-4 days thawing time.

If time does not permit the refrigerator method, the turkey can be thawed in cold water according to this time table: 8-12 pounds, 4-6 hours; 12-16 pounds, 6-9 hours; 16-20 pounds, 9-11 hours; and 20-24 pounds, 11-12 hours.

If a frozen turkey is prestuffed when purchased, it should not be thawed but put directly into the oven. Roasting time will be longer for the frozen bird.

Stuffing expands when it cooks inside a turkey, so stuffing the bird loosely is important. For each pound of turkey, 3/4 cup of stuffing can be used. For safety, the turkey should be stuffed just before it goes into the oven.

There should be no interruptions of the roasting. If the cooking process is stopped and the bird allowed to cool before the cooking continues, there is the possi-

Turkey Dinner Proceeds Will Benefit Chapel

Autumn Glory Festival turkey dinners will be served from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Loch Lynn Restaurant, and all proceeds will benefit the Kurtz Chapel Church. The menu will include fresh roasted turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans or sauerkraut, homemade bread, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and a beverage. The cost is $7 for adults and $3.50 for children.

Festival To Host Sports Card And Comic Book Show

A popular event of the annual Autumn Glory Festival is the Sport Card, Comic Book, and Memorabilia Show, held each year at the Oakland fire hall on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11 and 12, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturday and from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m on Sunday.

This is the 10th year for this show at the festival, and it is one of the largest shows in Western Maryland. Dealers from four states are slated to be in attendance.

The admission to the show will be $2 for adults and $1 for children ages 12 and younger.

competing in volleyball tournaments across the state. Her teams have received four first-place finishes and one second in co-ed doubles tournament play. She has also been a member of the first-place, six-person co-ed team at three consecutive tournaments and has attended Global and Nike volleyball camps at Frostburg State University, the University of Maryland at Baltimore Campus, and George Washington University, being awarded with several MVP and coaches awards.

Chelsea is a confirmed member of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Grantsville and has helped in the local vacation Bible school as an assistant, has participated in the Adopt-A- Highway program, and has been active in the Grantsville Planning Committee. She works part-time at Yoder-Hershberger Insurance Agency. Chelsea hopes to attend college next fall, major in sports medicine, and continue to play volleyball.

Chelsea will be accompanied throughout the Autumn Glory Festival by Princesses Rachel Leverenz of Northern High School and Michelle Teter of Southern Garrett County High School. The queen and princesses will participate in the Fireman's Parade Thursday evening, Saturday's Grand Feature Parade and numerous other festival activities, and will award trophies to the winners of the "Official" Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships Saturday evening.

Southern Garrett To Host Annual Western Maryland Band Tourney

TOURNAMENT OF BANDS SLATED - The annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, hosted by the Band Boosters of the award-winning Southern Garrett Marching Band, will once again be among the major events of the Autumn Glory Festival. The field show competition will get underway at 6 p.m. at the Southern High School athletic field and will feature outstanding high school bands from Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania. Tickets are $5 for adults, $2 for students, and free for children ages 5 and under. The photo above was taken during a presentation of Southern Garrett's 1997 field show, the theme of which is the popular rock musical, Jesus Christ, Superstar.

The Western Maryland Tournament of High School Bands will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, beginning at 6 p.m. at the Southern High School athletic field as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. This tournament offers entertainment for the whole family, with bands of the region competing for trophies in a display of field show competition.

Bands participating in this year's tournament will include: Allegany High School, Cumberland (tentative); Beall Junior/Senior High School, Frostburg; Boonsboro High School, Boonsboro; Connellsville Area High School, Connellsville, Pa.; Granby High School, Norfolk, Va.; Keyser High School, Keyser, W.Va.; Morgantown High School, Morgantown, W.Va.; Northern Garrett High School, Accident; Severna Park High School, Severna Park; Westmar High School, Lonaconing; and Westminster High School, Westminster. The host exhibition band will be Southern Garrett High School.

Awards will be given in Groups I, II, III, and IV for the best band and runnerup, with first place specialty awards in Best Percussion, Best Drum Major, Best Band Front, Best Marching and Maneuvering, and Best Music Trophy, plus an award for the

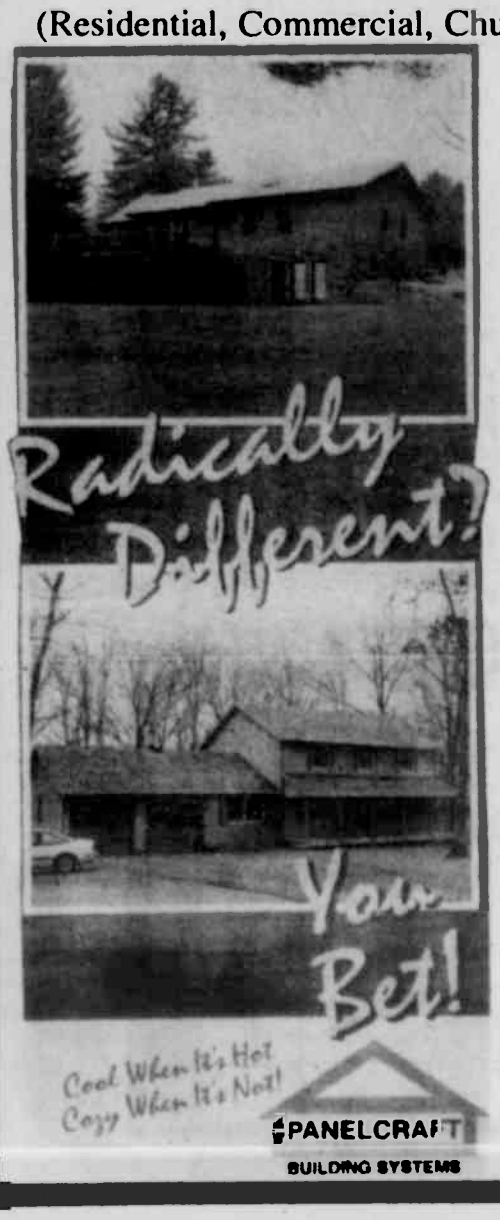
Fly-In Set At Gortner Airport

The Gortner Pilots Association will host a Fly-In/ Open House at the Greater Gortner Airport off Blue Ribbon Road south of Oakland on Sunday, Oct. 12, as part of Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

The event will begin at noon and feature skydiving, an airplane candy drop, airplane rides all day, aircraft and helicopter displays (including Maryland Trooper 5 and WVU Healthnet Medevac), Shriner clowns, and exhibits, including antique engines and concessions. The day will offer entertainment for all ages, and admission is free.

For more information, persons may call Jane Simms at 301-334-3541, and for a free festival brochure, persons may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948; or E-mail GCTourism@garrett.ncin.com.



YOU, TOO, CAN SEE PLANES "UP CLOSE" at the 13th annual Greater Gortner Airport Fly-In and Open House. This popular event will begin at noon on Sunday, Oct. 12, at the Greater Gortner Airport, located along Blue Ribbon Road off Rt. 219 South. There will be plenty of sights and events for youngsters and the young at heart, including skydiving demonstrations, an airplane candy drop, airplane rides, aircraft and helicopter displays, the Shriner clowns, and more. This is a great family outing. Admission is free.

Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems

The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.

PANELCRAFT

These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).
Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!
Panel homes have withstood earthquake activity where others crumbled.

Jim Delligatti Will Serve As Grand Marshal Of AGF Parade

Jim Delligatti, McDonald's entrepreneur and creator of the world renowned Big Mac, will serve as Grand Marshal of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, which will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11, in downtown Oakland.

The Big Mac story started in 1956 at a restaurant show in Chicago. Delligatti had spent 4½ years observing the fast-service/drive-in restaurant phenomenon in California and had decided to open his own fast-service restaurant. Luckily for Delligatti and McDonald's, a corporate rep at the show convinced him to open a McDonald's franchise instead. In 1957, Delligatti and John Sweeney Sr. opened the first McDonald's in Pennsylvania, located in Pittsburgh's North Hills. It was only the 30th McDonald's in the entire country. It was the first of 47 stores that he would own and operate within a 50-mile radius of Pittsburgh, making him one of the single largest franchise holders in McDonald's history.

Today, Delligatti and his son Jim own and operate 12 of these. In 1967, Delligatti decided his customers would enjoy biting into something even bigger than McDonald's double hamburger or cheeseburger and, after briefly experimenting with a combination of ingredients, he created the Big Mac, the flagship sandwich which today accounts for more than 15% of annual sales. The first one was served in his Uniontown restaurant in 1967 and was introduced nationally in 1968. The Big Mac creator also pioneered the idea of breakfast at McDonald's, the first fast-service restaurant to serve that meal beginning in the 1970s in the Pittsburgh re-

Delligatti lives in Fox Chapel, Pa., with his wife Eleanor. He has two sons, Mike and Jim, and five grandchildren. Over the past decades, he has exemplified Ray Kroc's motto of "giving something back to the community" by championing numerous causes that impact area children. In the late 1970s, he was instrumental in establishing the Pittsburgh Ronald McDonald House, a home-away-from-home for families of seriously ill children being treated at nearby hospitals. Over 20 years ago, it was Delligatti's involvement with Children's Hospital that sparked the tradition of McDonald's continued support of the Free Care Fund. Over the years, he has supported such worthwhile organizations as Junior Achievement, Cystic Fibrosis, Boy Scouts of America, the Leukemia Society, and numerous others. He is a past recipient of McDonald's prestigious Ronald Award and was named Man of the Year in Community Service by the Pittsburgh Jaycees in 1983.

Following the parade, Delligatti will sign autographs at the First United Information Booth on Second and Liberty streets.

The Autumn Glory festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and the Grand Feature Parade is sponsored by First United National Bank & Trust.

*Offer applies to new QuadSport and QuadRunner ATVs purchased between 9/1/97 & 11/30/97. Non-commercial use only. Ask for details. Approximate retail value up to $300. The Suzuki QuadSport 80 may be used only by those aged 12 and older. Adults must always supervise riders under the age of 16. All other Suzuki ATVs may be used only by those aged 16 and older. Suzuki highly recommends that all ATV riders take a training course. We'll even pay for it. For safety and training course information, see your dealer or call the SVIA at 1-800-852-5344. ATVs can be hazardous to operate. For your safety, always wear a helmet, eye protection and protective clothing. Never ride on paved surfaces or public roads. Never carry passengers or engage in stunt riding. Riding and alcohol or other drugs don't mix. Avoid excessive speeds. Be extra careful on difficult terrain. Along with concerned conservationists everywhere, Suzuki urges you to "TREAD LIGHTLY!" on public and private land. Preserve your future riding opportunities by showing respect for the environment, local laws, and the rights of others when you ride.

OVFD To Again Host Dinner, Parade, Oktoberfest, Bingo

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department will open Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival with a variety of events on Thursday, Oct. 9, in downtown Oakland.

The first event will be an Oktoberfest meal served at the Oakland fire hall on Third Street from 4 to 7 p.m., featuring German-style food and drink.

The Firemen's Parade, which will get underway at 7 p.m., will feature bands, drill teams, fire equipment, antique fire apparatus, and rescue apparatus traveling over 200 miles from throughout the tri-state area. Participating departments are judged in several categories, as firefighters from Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and other areas are invited to join the parade. Prior to the parade, apparatus judging will be held at the Farmer's Market parking lot on Route 219 north of Oakland from 5:30 p.m. until parade time.

Wrapping up this evening will be the OVFD's annual Oktoberfest Celebration at the fire hall immediately following the parade. The celebration includes German-style food, drink, a live "Oompah" band, and presentation of the Fireman of the Year Award by the Garrett County Firemen's Association. There is no admission charge.

On Friday, Oct. 10, beginning at 6 p.m. at the Elks Lodge on Elk Street in Oakland, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and the Oakland Elks will host "Big

Festival To Host Maryland State Fiddle Championships

The "Official" Maryland State Fiddle Championships will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, featuring a full evening of "foot-stomping" music at the Southern Garrett County Senior High School gymnasium during Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

This contest features competitions between top fiddle players from numerous states, and contestants will be judged in three amateur categories--age 60 and over, 13-59, and youth (12 and under). First-, second-, and third-place winners in the adult categories will be awarded prize money and trophies, and prize money and medals will be awarded in the youth category. The fiddle contest will also feature a "Professional/Championship" category, with prize money awarded to first- and second-place winners.

The evening will begin at 7 p.m., and contestants should register one hour prior to the contest. Doors will open at 6:15 p.m. Refreshments will be available. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

This contest is sponsored by American Trust Bank and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Tickets are available at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council Office, the Garrett County Information Booth on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake, and at the door. For more information, an application to participate, and a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948, E-Mail GCTourism@garrett.ncin.com.

Considerations when choosing a self storage facility:

- Size—The higher the ceiling the higher the storage capacity.
- Security—Will your insurance cover a loss without a locked GATE?
- Management—Are managers available 24 hours a day?
- Cost—Are rates the same from day to day? Compare before you rent.
- Easy Access—Can you get your vehicle close to your unit?

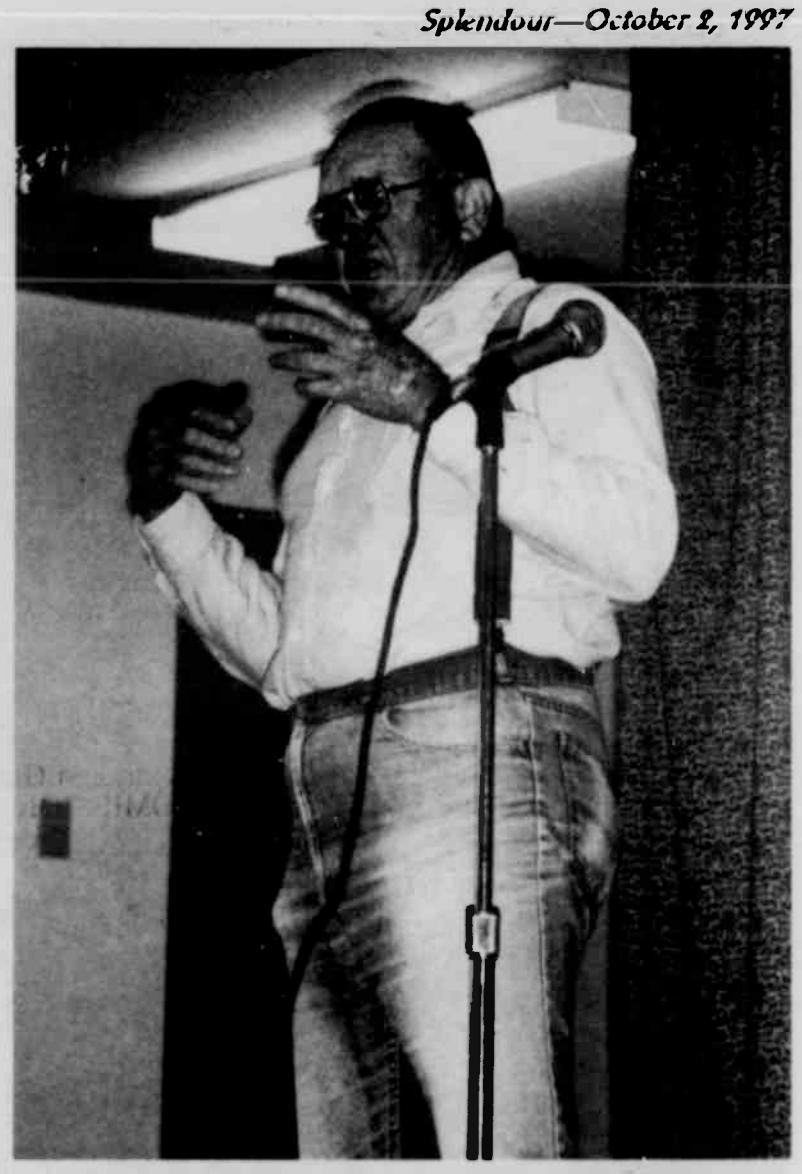
Liars Needed For Storyteller Festival

The Tall Tale Liars Festival, one of the many events of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, and coordinator Dr. Gail N. Herman, professional storyteller, says "liars are needed" for the event.



Tall stories are filled with exaggerations, extensions, and images of preposterous actions, Dr. Herman explained, and some are from traditional folk literature such as Paul Bunyan. Some comments from last year's event were "But that Tall Tale Liars Festival! We have been talking about it for an entire year... All of the contestants were great--it would really be nice if these events could be captured on tape... The entire contest was enjoyable. It kept moving and was handled very well."

This event will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church basement, 316 East Oak Street, Oakland. For the second year, an informal Open Story Sharing Session will begin at 7 p.m., when the audience can hear tellers or tell a story improvisationally whenever they wish. A new event will be held from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m. for those who wish to hear storytellers tell how they created or adapted their yarns and stories from real life or the folk literature (Persons may call 301-387-9199 for location of the 2:30 event). Local and out-of-town storytellers share traditional tall tales and "true" personal stories.

The students' contest will begin at 9 a.m. and adults' will begin at 10:30 p.m. Prizes are awarded from local businesses, including Book Mark'-

First United Sponsoring Grand Feature Parade

The Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council has announced that First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, will sponsor the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade. The Autumn Glory Festival will be held October 9-12, in downtown Oakland, and throughout the county, with the popular Grand Feature Parade beginning at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11. This parade is the largest and most well-attended event of the four-day festival, which boasts an attendance of tens of thousands of visitors.

FIRST UNITED SPONSORING PARADE - The Grand Feature Parade of the Autumn Glory Festival has been sponsored by First United National Bank & Trust for the past several years, and this year will be no exception. In the photo above, Diane Wolfe, festival chairman and executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council accepts the sponsorship check from Robin Murray, marketing and retail service manager for First United.

First United employees will staff a Festival Information Booth at the intersection of Second and Liberty streets from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday before the parade to provide information to the public.

"First United National Bank & Trust's sponsorship of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade represents its eighth year of commitment to defray the tremendous costs of producing this spectacular event in Garrett County," stated Diane Wolfe, festival chairman, who added that First United has also supported the Autumn Glory Festival by purchasing Golden Ambassadorships since the program's beginning.

For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may contact Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone 301-334-1948.

American Trust Sponsoring Banjo, Fiddle Tourneys

American Trust Bank will be sponsoring the Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championship as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. Some of the best banjo and fiddle players in the area will compete on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11, as part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. The Maryland State Banjo Championship will be held Friday, Oct. 10, and the State Fiddle Championship Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Southern High School Gymnasium in Oakland.

These championships will feature competitions between top banjo and fiddle musicians from five states. The Banjo Championship will begin at 8 p.m. Friday evening, following a concert by Jay Armsworthy and Eastern Tradition Bluegrass at 7 p.m. Another concert will follow the banjo contest. Trophies and prize money will be awarded to the top four banjo contestants with a special award for the best "old-time" banjo player.

AMERICAN TRUST SPONSORING CHAMPIONSHIPS - The Autumn Glory Festival will once again host the Maryland State Banjo and Fiddle Championships, events that are being sponsored this year by American Trust Bank. Presenting a check to Diane Wolfe, festival chairman and executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, in the above photo is Jeff McCauley, vice president at American Trust Bank.

The fiddle competition will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday. Amateur fiddle contestants will be judged in three age categories: 60 and over; 13-59; and youth. The fiddle contest will also feature a "Championship/Professional" category.

Anyone wishing to enter either contest may pick up a registration form at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council office or call 301-334-1948; they may also register at the door and there is no entrance fee for either championship.

Tickets for these events are available at the Promotion Council office, the Route 219 Information Booth at Deep Creek Lake, and at the door. Admission to each event is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Doors will open at 6:15 p.m. each evening and refreshments will be available.

Festival Includes Postal Cancellation, Ski Swap, Rides, Sundaes, Dinners

As part of Garrett County's 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, set for October 9-12, in downtown Oakland and the surrounding area, a wide variety of activities is planned, including a Special Postal Cancellation commemorating this event.

The Postal Cancellation and Philatelic Information will be available 8-11 a.m. and 2-4 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. - noon Saturday at the Oakland Post Office. Scenic chairlift rides at Wisp Ski Resort at Deep Creek Lake will run Friday through Sunday from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily for a spectacular view of fall foliage. The cost is $3.95 per person. The High Mountain Sports Annual Ski, Snowboard, and In-Line Skate Swap will be held 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at High Mountain Sports on Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake at Trader's Landing.

The Mountain Fresh Farmers' Market will be open 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Oakland Town Parking Lot, offering local produce, crafts, baked goods, maple syrup, painted pumpkins, and flowers, with entertainment, games for kids, and more Friday afternoon. The Southern Garrett Band Boosters will host turkey dinners "with all the trimmings" Saturday, Oct. 11, from 3-6 p.m. at the Southern High School Cafeteria, and take-outs are available for those who bring their own containers. Turkey dinners will be served at area restaurants throughout the weekend.

The Garrett County Historical Museum & Genealogical Library on Second Street in Oakland will be open Thursday through Saturday from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily and 1-4 p.m. Sunday, depicting the history of the county and its people from past to present with local artifacts and a genealogical reference library. Admission is free and donations are ap-

Road Closings, Detours Slated For Parade

The Autumn Glory Festival Committee reports that, because of potential traffic and safety hazards in recent years, the Maryland State Highway Administration has again recommended policy for the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 11, in downtown Oakland. The adjacent map of Oakland indicates road closings for the parade.

As has been customary with previous Autumn Glory Festivals, some roads will be closed for the parade; however, the festival committee requests that local residents should note that, at 7 a.m. on October 11, Green Street will be closed for vendors to set up on the street and in the American Trust Bank drive-in parking lot.

At 11 a.m., all southbound traffic on U.S Route 219 will be routed through Oakland via Fourth Street and trucks will be routed by Oakland via Sand Flat Road. Beginning at 11 a.m., Route 219 will be open to permit holders only and all traffic will be southbound only. No parking will be allowed along Fourth Street. Memorial Drive will be closed for westbound traffic at Fourth Street. Through-traffic on Memorial Drive will be detoured at Eighth Street. Memorial Drive will be open for parking and local traffic only between Eighth and Fourth streets. Roads will be closed in several more locations at 11 a.m.: U.S. Route 219 between Fourth Street and Oak Street; Memorial Drive between Third Street and Fourth Street; and Pennington, Crook, and Omar streets on both sides of Third Street.

Center Street will be open for cross-town traffic only until 12:45 p.m. Signs advising travelers of the detour will be provided by the Maryland State Highway Administration, and personnel helping travelers at closed roads will be provided by Maryland State Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and the Oakland Police Department. Permits are being issued by the festival committee to local merchants and festival participants who need to go through the roadblock on October 11. The units of the Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade will set up within the closed area, and the parade will begin at 1 p.m. Handicapped parking will be available at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Lodge on First Street.

Crellin Will Serve Turkey Dinners Again

For the 30th consecutive year, turkey dinners in the town of Crellin will be a feature of the Autumn Glory Festival. United Community Services, Inc., (the non-profit volunteer organization which owns and operates the Crellin Community Building) is the sponsor.

The Crellin Community Building group originated the tradition of turkey dinners with the first Autumn Glory Festival in 1968. This year, the original menu is being repeated--roasted turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy, dressing, sauerkraut, green beans, applesauce, cranberry sauce, roll, drinks, and harvest apple cake. Prices are $6 for adults and $3 for children under the age of 12. All carry-out orders will be at the $6 adult price.

Although the Crellin Community Building is the sponsor of the community building, the local share of the Community Development Block Grant being sought for street and sidewalk work, and community building renovations in Crellin. Everyone is invited to attend this tradition--as old as Autumn Glory itself--and to support the community of Crellin.

Parking Lot To Be Site Of Various Events

As part of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, a variety of "Celebrate the Glory' activities are scheduled for Friday, Oct. 10, at the Mt. Fresh Pavilion in the Oakland town parking lot. Festivities scheduled throughout the day include:

9 a.m. - 5 p.m. - Mountain Fresh Producers' Association Farmers' Market, featuring arts and crafts, baked goods, flowers, maple syrup, painted pumpkins, coffee and hot chocolate.

Noon - 1:30 p.m. - Country music by Jim Hollis and the Boys

Noon - 5 p.m. - Oakland FFA Petting Zoo

1-3 p.m. - Balloons & entertainment by the Ali Ghan Shrine Clowns

1:30 - 3 p.m. - Garrett Gymnastics Demonstration

3 p.m. - Demonstrations by the "Back to Country" Line Dancers

3:45 p.m. - Lakeside Assembly of God Church music and drama performances

Spectators are encouraged to bring a lawn chair for these events. For more information, persons may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550-1581; telephone 301-334-1948.

THE WONDERFUL WORK OF MANY LOCAL ARTISTS can be viewed and/or bought at several locales during the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival. Popular artist Ken Bauer is pictured above, apparently discussing his work with an admirer. His work, along with numerous other artists' creations, can be seen at the Mountain Arts Pavilion, located along Liberty Street in Oakland (in the former Pritts Garage). The display, which is sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association and funded in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council, will be open throughout the festival. Other works of art can be seen at the annual Heritage Craft Fest at Broad Ford Elementary and the Autumn Glory Craft Show at Dennett Road Elementary School, both of which will be open on both Saturday and Sunday. Dr. Simon Will Present Free Organ Concert At St. Mark's

Geoffrey Simon, a renowned organist from Washington, D.C., will present a free concert on Friday, Oct. 11, at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. The program will begin at 7 p.m. The organist's performance has become an annual event of the Autumn Glory Festival. This year's concert is titled "Variety: The Spice of Life and Music!"

Simon has appeared as organist or conductor throughout the United States and in Europe. His recitals and performances of Baroque, romantic, and contemporary choral works with orchestra have met consistent approval from critics and the concert-going public alike.

A champion of the wide range of sacred music, his performances have brought to the audiences of the nation's capitol such music as the Bach b-minor Mass, complete organ symphonies by the French Romantic masters Vierne and Widor, the complete organ works of J.S. Bach, choral and orchestral oratorios -- including Handel's Solomon, Mendelssohn's St. Paul, and Brahms's Requiem -- chamber opera performances of Mozart's Cosi fan Tutte and operas by Milhaud and Offenbach, and Washington premieres of works by contemporary composers, including Jehan Alain,

Andrew Jolivet, William Klenz, Carl Orff, and Lalo Schifrin.

Dr. Simon holds a doctor of musical arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of the Johns Hopkins University and is a fellow of the College of Church Musicians. A past dean of the D.C. Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he served as cantor at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation on Capitol Hill from 1984 until 1994. He has also been the conductor of the Library of Congress Chorale. He currently serves as organist/choirmaster at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Bethesda.

As music director for the 1985 celebration of Martin Luther's 500th birthday, he conducted a Kennedy Center concert with 80 members of the National Symphony Orchestra, organist Paul Manz, and the Howard University Choir, and conducted four antiphonal choirs in a nationally televised program from the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. In the 1976 Kennedy Center Mozart Festival concerts, he played the organ works of Mozart.

Simon played recitals in Leipzig, Germany, and in Warsaw, Poland, in October of 1992. The Leipzig program was played on the two organs at the world famous St. Thomas Church, where Johann Sebastian Bach served as cantor. Dr. Simon is one of the few Americans honored with an invitation to play at this historic church.

Dr. Simon is also a fellow of the College of Church Musicians at the Washington National Cathedral, studying with Paul Callaway and Leo Sowerby.

In addition to performing, Simon works as a copy right examiner in the performing arts section of the U.S. Library of Congress Copyright Office.

The program for the Oct. 10 concert is as follows: Prelude and Fugue in C Major, J.S. Bach; Partita on Jesu, meine Freude, Johann G. Walther; Chaconne in D minor, Johann Pachelbel; Partita on St. Anne, Paul Manz; REX! The King of Instruments (an introduction to the organ), Daniel Burton; God Save the King, Max Reger; Fantasy on Wachet auf, Max Drischner; Prelude on Land of Rest, Leo Sowerby; Chorale, Trio, Introduction, and Fugue on Kirken, Jacob Bjister; and concert variations of The Star-Spangled Banner, Dudley Buck.

This concert is being funded in part by the Maryland State Arts Council and the Garrett County Arts Council.

ARTS COUNCIL IN STITCHES -- The Garrett County Arts Council is currently selling raffle tickets on the hand-stitched "Autumn Charm" quilt pictured above. The council commissioned the autumn-hued fabric creation at the hands of Karin Rodeheaver of the Not Just Quilts shop in Oakland as a fund-raising effort to coincide with its 18th annual Heritage Craft Fest slated for Autumn Glory weekend. Drawing for the lucky winner will be held on Sunday afternoon, October 12, and the quilt will be shipped to the recipient. "Autumn Charm" will be on display at the Mountain Arts Pavilion on Liberty Street in Oakland in conjunction with the current Autumn Glory Fine Arts Exhibit this weekend, Oct. 4 and 5. Next weekend, (during Autumn Glory), it will be displayed at the Heritage Craft Fest at Broad Ford Elementary School on Harvey Wintera Road just east of Oakland. Raffle tickets are $1 each or six for $5. All raffle proceeds benefit the Garrett County Arts Council, the county's official arts agency.

YES, EVEN SOCCER is a part of the Autumn Glory Festival, as the Southern Rams will host the Northern Huskies in a match on Friday, Oct. 10, at the Southern High School athletic field. The Huskies will come to Oakland with upset on their minds and will attempt to avenge an earlier 2-1 loss to the Rams at Northern. Above, number 17a Eric Neubert of Northern, left, and Mark Ludwig of Southern collide as they compete for possession of the ball. The junior varsity match will get underway at 6 p.m. and the varsity match will kick off at 7:30.

Second Annual Festival Soccer Match Slated

Among the events of the 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival will be the second annual AGF county high school soccer match, when the Northern Huskies come to Oakland on Friday, Oct. 10, to take on Southern at the Rams athletic field.

It will be the second meeting of the season between the county rivals, and although the Rams are currently 5-1 on the season and the Huskies are winless, the Rams just got by the Huskies in their first meeting at the Cove, 2-1.

The Rams, who are enjoying their best season ever since the return of soccer to the county high schools four years ago, are currently tied for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League. While the Huskies are still looking for their first victory, they have been competitive against every opponent and have lost several matches either in overtime or by just one goal.

Southern is coached by Tom Powers, with assistants Mel Menker and Bill Lovett. Tom Ables is the head coach of the Huskies, while Ned Holloway is the assistant.

Friday's Autumn Glory match-up will get underway with the junior varsity contest kicking off at 6 p.m. and the varsity following at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $3 per person.

Turkey Dinners

bility of bacteria multiplying.

Roasting time for turkeys will also vary according to weight. The small bird weighing 6 pounds will cook in 2¼-3¼ hours, while the 28 pounder will take up to 6½ hours. These times refer to unstuffed turkeys. When the turkey is stuffed, cooking time increases. It is important to check a cookbook to verify this information. The turkey is done when the temperature of the inner thigh of the bird is 180 degrees Fahrenheit.

Left-overs often follow a turkey dinner and need to be stored properly to avoid contamination. Stuffing should be stored separately from the turkey. Turkey, or any food, should be refrigerated after being out of the oven for two hours. Once in the refrigerator, the turkey can be kept 3-4 days. For longer storage, properly wrapped meat can be stored in a freezer.

Anyone wishing more information on safe methods of storing, thawing, and cooking turkey can contact the local Cooperative Extension Service office, 301-334-6960, or call the meat and poultry hotline at 1-800-535-4555.

For Something To Do Between Events, How About A Hike To The Highest Point In Maryland?

Many people (including local residents) don't realize that an important geological site lies within Garrett County and is accessible to the determined hiker. This spot is the high point of the state, and it can be found in the southernmost tip of the county. The climb to the spot can be made by most people, and because of the work of two Silver Spring individuals, Gene and Lillian Elliott, the path to the spot is far more visible and usable.

The state's apex is unique in that climbers will find the most convenient starting point in West Virginia. From Garrett County, persons should take U.S. Route 219 South past Red House and into Preston County. Just past Silver Lake, a very small trailhead sign is located, as well as markings in orange spray paint noting the "MD HP." There is room along the roadway to park at this spot, where a logging road spikes to the left. This six-foot wide rocky pathway leads the hiker up the mountainside through timberland, which is owned by Western Pocahontas Properties of Huntington, W.Va. The trail becomes somewhat steep, but people in moderately good condition should have no difficulty in making the 30-minute ascent.

Hikers should follow the orange "blaze" marks on the trees, placed there by the Elliotts. This couple has been striving in recent months to bring more attention to the high point and are currently in the process of trying to make the land public property.

Hikers head generally southeast as they climb, turning at one point off the logging road and onto a well-maintained path amongst fern cover and boulders. The path is level at this point, where walkers must watch for sun-basking snakes. Deer, bears, and panthers have also been sighted along the quiet, remote trail.

The path splits, with one side becoming stony and the other dropping down slightly away from the boulders. The rocky path leads to the Maryland-West Virginia line, signified by stone marker #3. The triangular marker, erected in 1910, is just a bit farther than a stone's throw from the high point. Hikers should have no problem finding either the stone marker or the high point, thanks to a small sign indicating the two spots, as well as the blaze marks.

THIS IS THE SPOT - The highest geological point in Maryland is signified by a sign placed there by the Garrett County Historical Society and the state of Maryland in 1952. The point is dedicated to Captain Charles Hoye, a county native who was a war hero as well as the founder of the historical society. Attached to the sign is a mailbox, which contains a sign-in book and certificates for those who reach the summit.

A short stint from the state line marker takes the hiker through more feathery ferns and across a stone path, with the orange marks on the trees seeming to become more apparent, as if to assure the hiker that his journey is nearly complete. The path ends at a small clearing, where a 45-year-old metal

Announcing that summer has Uttered its final goodbyes and
The hues of red and yellow have been Unleashed!
Myriads of leaves swirl grandly as Nature is transformed by the creator into a

Golden galaxy of colors - and now,
Lord, we ask that you would Open our eyes and speak to our hearts as you Reveal your majesty and
Your sovereignty to us through your handiwork.

"For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness, because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath shown it unto them. For the invisible things from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse; Roman1:18-20

FOOD, FOOD, AND MORE FOOD is available throughout the Autumn Glory Festival, and the time to try some international favorites is Saturday morning in downtown Oakland before the Grand Feature Parade, where vendors will have everything from sausage sandwiches to homemade French fries to Oriental selections available. The Grand Feature Parade will get underway at 1 p.m.; however, persons planning to come into Oakland for the day will want to head for town early in order to find a parking place. Several streets in the town will be blocked at least one hour before the parade. Details, including a town map of the closures, can be found elsewhere in this publication.

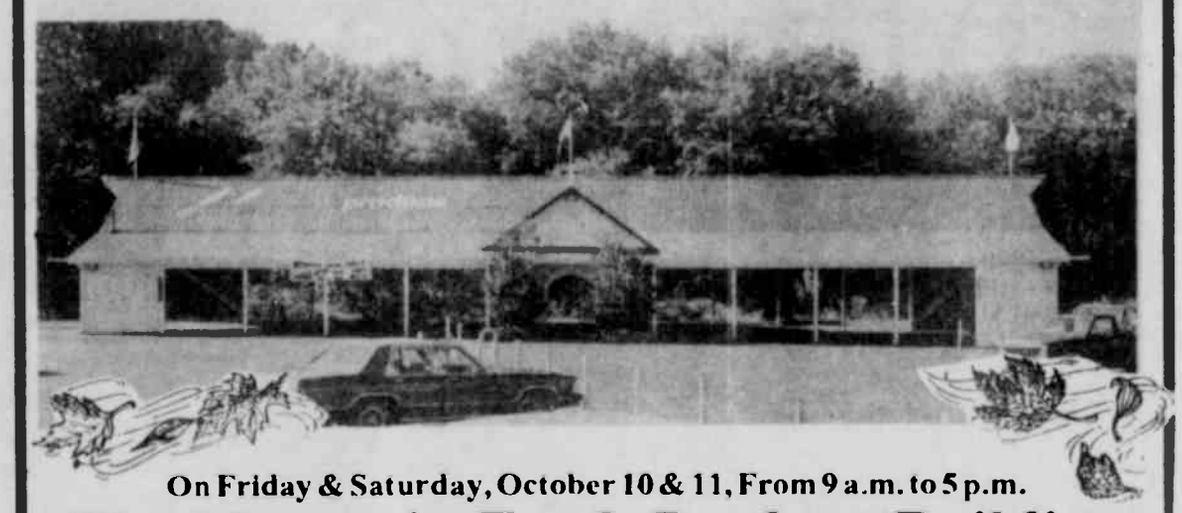
sign stands, commemorating the point. The sign reads:

"Hoye-Crest, Highest Point in Maryland, Backbone Mountain, Garrett County; 3,360 feet above sea level. Named for Captain Charles E. Hoye, founder of the Garrett County Historical Society. Dedicated September 1, 1952 Maryland Historical Society."



Captain Hoye was born in 1876 in the Sang Run area, according to local historian John Grant. He fought in the Spanish-American War and World War I, and then worked as an educator in the Philippines and Los Angeles. He returned to Garrett County in the 1930s and founded the local historical society in 1941. During a visit to Los Angeles in 1951, Hoye was involved in a car accident and died of the injuries he received. Local historians report that he was a dignified man and would probably have been rather embarrassed to be given such an honor at the state's apex.

Attached to the sign is a black mailbox, placed there by the Elliotts. Inside are certificates that can be filled out by those who reach the top. Also in the mailbox is a notebook for hikers to sign. This book is filled with signatures and notes by people who have come from at least 42 states thus far.

The view at the overlook is not overtly impressive in the summer, as the leaves obscure the panorama. The winter months offer a better scene. The Elliotts are looking into the possibility of felling a few trees, most of which are already dead, to enhance the view. However, since the land is presently privately owned, any alterations will have to be approved by Western Pocahontas.

For those who take the challenge, watch your step, say hello to the deer, and enjoy your trek to the highest spot in the state.

WHAT BETTER STOP FOR A "LEAF TRAIN" could be made than in Garrett County at this time of year? The autumn leaves are utterly brilliant this week, and the nearly 1,000 people disembarking this fall foliage train Saturday at the historic Oakland station were treated to the finest of fall colors. The out-of-town visitors spent the day in the county, taking excursions to Swallow Falls or other state parks, or just milling around town, enjoying the unique sights and sounds of a friendly mountain village. The visit of these folks was a preamble to this weekend's expected influx of people, all seeking to truly celebrate the breathtaking hues of the season. The 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival was officially initiated last evening at the traditional kick-off reception. The celebration will continue throughout the weekend, with lots to do and see. Resident Claims Mandated Public Hearing Omitted

A Friendsville businessman met with the Garrett County Commissioners this week to issue a complaint about the series of events leading to the recent construction of a convenience store. Crede Calhoun, owner and operator of the Windrush Art Gallery, asserted to the elected officials that a public hearing should have been held months ago, as required by law, as part of the permit process for the new store. Because the hearing was not held, Calhoun maintained, the permits were issued even though many people, he said, were upset over the construction.

The gas station/convenience store is located just off Interstate 68, along Rt. 42. Calhoun claims that the business, which is owned by Terry Spear, will "effectively amputate my business as well as many others in the town," as travelers who may have previously entered the town to find a gas station will now simply stop at the convenience store close to WALTHALL NAMED HONORARY AMBASSADOR - The 30th Annual Autumn Glory Festival was kicked off last night with the Kickoff Reception, held at the Wisp Ski Area's McHenry House, and one of the orders of business was the naming of the 1997 AGF Honorary Golden Ambassador. Receiving that honor was Edwin Walthall, Oakland, who served as executive director of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council for three years (1976-78) and as a member of the council board of directors from 1981-96. "Even in the few years that Ed was not a board member, he continued to volunteer his time to help us out with the festival," stated Diana Wolfe, current council director. Walthall is pictured above right receiving his medal and plaque from the 1996 Honorary Ambassador, Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. Promotion council members are given the opportunity to nominate persons to receive the annual honor, the board of directors then narrows the list to five, and the final choice is made by a selection committee comprised of board members. Walthall's first duty was to crown the 1997 AGF queen, Chelsea Frickey, pictured below. Also below, from left, are Michelle Teter and Rachel Leverenz, who were selected 1997 AGF princesses. Walthall and the members of the AGF royalty will participate in most of the festival events, which will get underway this evening with the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department's parade and annual Oktoberfest.

County Native Makes Sizable Donation To GCC Foundation

The Garrett Community College Foundation, Inc., has announced the establishment of the Edward and Hazel Hinebaugh Scholarship, a $10,000 contribution given by Edward B. Hinebaugh, a native of Garrett County.

"The GCC Foundation gratefully acknowledges this generous contribution," said its president, Ann M. Smith. "We want to extend our deepest appreciation to Mr. Hinebaugh."

Dr. Stephen J. Herman, GCC president, echoed Smith's salute. "Mr. Hinebaugh's generosity is exemplary," Herman said. "Because of his philanthropy future generations of Garrett Countains will have the opportunity to pursue higher education. We [at the college] sincerely thank him for this donation."

According to Bretta Reinhard, advancement officer for the GCC Foundation, the Edward and Hazel Hinebaugh Scholarship is the tenth endowed scholarship to be established at this level. "Mr. Hinebaugh has joined a special group of benefactors to Garrett Community College," she said.

Reinhard went on to say that the college intends to award a Edward and Hazel Hinebaugh Scholarship every year in perpetuity. Hinebaugh's sole stipulation is that the scholarship recipient be a resident of Garrett County.

Reflecting on his decision to make his donation, Hinebaugh stated, "I have wonderful memories of Garrett County. I wanted to give something back to my home community. Through

THE EDWARD AND HAZEL HINEBAUGH SCHOLARSHIP came into existence recently as Edward B. Hinebaugh, center, presented Garrett Community College President Dr. Stephen Herman, left, and GCC Foundation Advancement Officer Bretta Reinhard, right, with a check for $10,000 to create the scholarship which will be awarded every year into perpetuity. Hinebaugh, a Garrett County native and a 1931 graduate of Oakland High School, gave only one stipulation in endowing the scholarship named after him and his late wife -- that the scholarship recipient be a resident of Garrett County. Local Woman Is Killed In Horse Riding Accident

A local woman was killed Tuesday as a result of an apparent horse riding accident. Jennifer Evans, 30, daughter of Charles "Chip" and Mary Evans, Oakland, had reportedly not returned from a riding excursion in a reasonable time and the family went out to look for her. According to unconfirmed reports, she was found in a riding ring on a family member's property, located along Rt. 50. She had apparently suffered a fatal injury sometime earlier.

Ms. Evans was a painter and several of her works are on display at the Mountain Arts Pavilion in Oakland. The entire show has been dedicated in her memory, according to Steve Schlosnagle, administrator of the Garrett County Arts Council.

Because details were incomplete at press time, the obituary and other information will be reported in next week's issue of The Republican. The funeral arrangements are being handled by the Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland.

Feasibility Study Slated For Rt. 219 Project North Of I-68

Maryland Secretary of Transportation David Winstead has informed local proponents of new interstate highway construction in Garrett County that the Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) will begin a feasibility study this fall of the Route 219 corridor north from Interstate 68 to the Pennsylvania State line.

In a letter to David Moe, co-president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, the secretary stated, "While U.S. Route 219 north of 1-68 has no pressing operational problems, I have directed the State Highway Administration (SHA) to begin a feasibility study this fall to examine multi-lane options which would be compatible with planned Pennsylvania improvements." Congressman Bartlett and U.S. senators Mikulski and Sarbanes also received copies of the secretary's letter.

Pennsylvania is currently constructing a 5.1 mile, four-lane, divided highway (bypass) around Meyersdale. Additionally, Pennsylvania has recently amended its 12-year highway construction plan to include a section from the Meyersdale bypass north to Beechdale as the next possible construction project along the Route 219 corridor.

Moe later stated, "The key words in the secretary's letter to the chamber are 'multi-lane.' That is in keeping with Pennsylvania's current construction at Meyersdale and West Virginia's four-lane plans for

Foiled ATM Heist Under Investigation

An unsuccessful attempt to remove the automated teller machine (ATM) from a Grantsville bank remains under investigation by Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

On Oct. 2, unknown suspects used a stolen truck to attempt removal of the ATM from its foundation at the American Trust Bank, the police reported. Damage to the truck foiled the heist.

Several days after this event, a successful strike resulted in the removal of an ATM from a bank in Uniontown, Pa. Police reportedly believe the method of operation between the two incidents is sufficiently similar to indicate the suspects are the same as the ones who struck in Grantsville.

Several witnesses have filed reports at Barrack W and a spokesman there said they have some leads in the case. Anyone with information is asked to contact the Barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101.

Blaze Destroys House; Cause Still Unknown

A fire of undetermined origin leveled a large, single-family house last Thursday, as the blaze apparently went undetected for several hours. About a dozen volunteer fire fighters from the Friendsville and Addison, Pa., departments responded to the scene just after noon and found nothing left but smoldering remains of the house, which was located at 2257 Old Morgantown Road outside Friendsville.

The house was valued at $250,000 by fire investigators Bruce Shafer, deputy fire marshal, and Charles Cronauer, deputy chief, who added an additional $5,000 damage in contents. Cronauer stated Monday that the cause of the fire is still under investigation by his office, adding that they took a dog (K-9 unit) to the scene Monday to check for flammable liquids.

The house was owned by Samuel Ray VanSickle, 33, of Accident. No one was at the house at the time of the fire and there were no injuries reported.

Truck Overturns Closing I-68, Driver Charged

A tractor trailer loaded with ceramic tile overturned Monday on I-68, closing the eastbound lane, and resulting in multiple charges being filed against the driver.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, responded to the scene. Because a commercial vehicle was involved, the commercial vehicle department of the state police, Barrack C, Cumberland were also called to the scene.

The officers reported that the tractor trailer, driven by Teddy E. Blankenship, 35, of Powell, Ind., was traveling on the ramp from southbound Route 219 to east bound I-68, around 11 a.m.

The cargo on the truck reportedly shifted, causing the vehicle to overturn on the eastbound lane, littering the roadway with debris.

The driver was taken by Northern Rescue to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated and released.

The Grantsville FVD and personnel from the State Highway Administration cleared the spilled cargo from the highway.

Blankenship was charged in the incident with a brake violation, negligent driving, a log book violation, and driving with an unsecured load. His fines totaled $1,180, according to the police report.

U.S. Treasurer Mary Withrow To Speak At GCC Wednesday

The treasurer of the United States, Mary Ellen Withrow, will be speaking at Garrett Community College on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at 2:30 p.m. in the college auditorium. The presentation will be free and open to the public. Withrow's talk will cover the redesigning of the U.S. currency, the commemorative coin collection, and the new inflation index savings bonds.

As the nation's treasurer, Withrow is responsible for the operations of both the U.S. Mint and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. She is also National Honorary Director of the U.S. Savings Bond Program, and in that capacity represents the treasury secretary nationwide to promote the sale of savings bonds.

When Withrow became the 40th treasurer of the United States in March, 1994, she also became the first person to hold the post of treasurer at all three levels of government -- local, state, and national. She was elected treasurer of her native Marion County, Ohio, in 1976 and 1980. In 1982 she was elected Ohio state treasurer, and was subsequently re-elected to that post in 1986 and 1990.

During her tenure as Ohio's treasurer, her innovative programs, management efficiencies, and record earnings for the state earned her national recognition. Some of the awards she has received include the Donald L. Scantlebury Memorial Award from the Treasury's Joint Financial Management Improvement [illegible]m for financial excellence and improvement in government; the nation's most valuable state public official award, given by city and state newspapers; and the Outstanding Government Service Award from the American Numismatic Association.

Withrow is past president of the National Association of State Treasurers, and past president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers, and Treasurers.

In 1969 Withrow became first woman to be elected to the Elgin Local School Board in Marion County, Ohio. That first step in public service, and her

TRAFFIC WAS STOPPED on I-68 for about two hours on Monday when this tractor trailer overturned in the eastbound lane. The closing was required, not only to get the truck up right, but to clean up the spilled cargo -- ceramic floor tiles. As the driver of the rig, Teddy Blankenship pulled onto the interstate from Route 219 South, the cargo shifted and the truck went over. (see story)

Property Damage Results From Vehicle Mishap

A Deep Creek Lake business sustained property damage when the driver of a vehicle reportedly fell asleep at the wheel. Property belonging to the state was also damaged.

The Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that on Friday at 5:40 a.m. a 1987 Ford Bronco driven by Justin W. Oursler traveled off the right side of Garrett Highway.

Allegedly exceeding the speed limit at the time he left the roadway, Oursler struck two curb/traffic islands on the parking lot of the Trading Post, police said. His vehicle then struck and destroyed another curb and road sign, before striking the embankment.

Oursler, who reportedly fled the scene, was charged with negligent driving and failure to report a property damage accident to the nearest police department. The Oursler vehicle was totally destroyed in the accident.

FUEL OIL SPILLED into the Youghioghany River in Friendsville on Wednesday bringing emergency personnel to the rescue. The source of the oil was an underground storage tank belonging to a homeowner on Morris Avenue. Horacio Tablada, administrator of the oil containment program for the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE), reported that the seepage of oil from the 1,000 tank leaked into the drainage area around the house and from there into the river. "The remaining fuel in the tank was first pumped out," Tablada explained. "When it was pumped, 850 gallons were taken out. It had just been filled Monday," he continued. He said he believed that about 100 to 150 gallons entered the river. To sop up the oil, absorbant materials were placed in the river along the shore, and containment booms were put into the water. Larry Morgan, the local field inspector for MDE, was on the scene in Friendsville Wednesday morning to contain the spill. He will return to check on the status of the clean up and continue to follow up until the situation is rectified, Tablada said.

FRIENDSVILLE RD

One driver was taken to the hospital as a result of an accident on Route 42, Friday.

Police report that Ann Marie Leight, 18, Friendsville was northbound on Route 42 about 3:23 p.m. as Christopher R. Meyers, 22, Friendsville, approached Route 42 from Humberson Road.

Meyers pulled out onto Route 42 to turn left and continue south. Leight reportedly tried to avoid a collision by stopping but instead skidded and collided with the Meyers vehicle.

Leight was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released.

Meyers was charged in the incident.

SANG RUN RD

Loose rocks on the roadway were noted as a factor in an accident on Sang Run Road Tuesday morning.

Police reported that Gretchin A. Erdmann, 18, Oconomowoc, Wis., was eastbound on Sang Run Road, traveling downhill about 8:15 a.m., when she lost control of her car on some loose rocks on the roadway. Her 1989 Plymouth reportedly struck two embankments and overturned onto its roof.

Erdmann was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by a private citizen. She was treated and released.

CDS/Rx VIOLATIONS

Police responded to a motor vehicle accident Oct. 1 at 9 p.m. on New Germany Road, north of Frank Brenneman Road.

According to the report, investigation revealed that the driver of the car, John C. Newton, 42, Swanton, was driving while intoxicated. They also said that in searching the defendant and the vehicle they found unlabeled brown plastic bottles and marijuana.

Newton was charged with possession of marijuana violation of prescription laws, and DWI. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail and later released on a $2,000 bond.

FINZEL RD

One man traveling with a group of motorcycle riders was injured Sunday when he lost control of his vehicle. Police reported that James D. Hillegass, 42, Johnstown, Pa., was southbound on Finzel Road at the Route 40 intersection at 2 p.m. when he failed to negotiate a sharp curve and lost control of his motorcycle in loose gravel on the shoulder of the road.

He was taken to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was treated.

Treatment For Men Who Batter Coming To G.C.

Males who batter will soon have counseling services available to them in Garrett County.

A treatment group, Mettle Workers, which will provide intervention to battering through group interaction and education, is scheduled to begin next week.

Erdmann was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by a private citizen. She was treated and released.

Dr. Craig Abrahamson, Ph.D., and Elizabeth Biser, M.S., who will initiate this group, have provided counseling and support services in the area for many years.

For over 26 years Dr. Abrahamson has been a clinical psychotherapist offering individual, group, and marriage counseling. He organized, implemented, and facilitated groups for male batterers in Allegany County for five years.

A nationally certified counselor with a private practice in Oakland, Biser has 17 years' experience in human services, including work with groups at the Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Martinsburg, W.Va., in addition to individual and family therapy.

"The statistics of domestic violence are unsettling: 1,500 women are killed every year by men who abuse them; 4-6 million women are beaten in the U.S., a figure that represents a beating every five seconds; and domestic violence is the leading cause of injury in women in this country," Biser said.

She pointed out that while services are increasingly available for the victims of domestic violence, the problem will continue until the perpetrators of the violence are confronted. "It is essential to address the problem of domestic violence at its source," Bizer stated.

Noting the complexity of the problem of battering, Biser said the research indicates that several factors are key in the treatment approach. Education is a fundamental element of the treatment, with focus on the impact of violence, the role of substance abuse, and learning appropriate social interactions.

Bizer also stressed the importance of needing to examine gender stereotypes, anger management, and ownership of the behavior.

She spoke of the advantages of group therapy with perpetrators of violence. The group, she said, offers the opportunity for honest confrontation and mutual support and provides relationships and a forum in which to practice new interactive skills. "The group can serve to reinforce learning and encourage the transfer of new skills to larger social settings," she explained.

The group therapy sessions will begin Oct. 19. Anyone who is interested in getting more information on Mettle Workers or in making a referral may call 301-334-9202 or 301-334-1077.

GCSO Alerts Residents To Painting Scam

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office has issued a warning to county residents to be on the alert for a scam involving a painting company from South Carolina. There are two painting crews currently working in Garrett County, one in the Grantsville area and another in the Route 560 area.

Each painting crew normally consists of two white men and two black men. Each four-member crew will drive along the roadways of Garrett County in full-size pickup trucks bearing South Carolina license plates until they locate a farm or a residence with an outbuilding. They will then approach the owners of the property and offer to paint the buildings. The black men will actually do the painting while the white men will act as supervisors, while possibly casing the residence for a potential future theft.

Once the painting is completed, the scam is initiated. The painting crew will ask for more money than was originally agreed upon. When individuals refuse to pay they are threatened or, as in one case, assaulted and robbed. The company is linked to a roaming band of individuals known as the "Irish Travelers." These individuals have also been linked to a bank robbery in Pennsylvania.

The company has identified itself by several different names in past incidents, including Mulholland Painting, Jim Gorman Painting, Pat Sherlock Painting, Pete Riley Painting, and Danny Riley Painting.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office warns citizens to be on the alert for work crews matching these descriptions, and to alert the sheriff's office if these subjects are seen in the area. Also, anyone in the Grantsville area who has had a building painted by this company in September of this year is asked to contact the sheriff's office as soon as possible.

OCTOBER IS ARTS AND HUMANITIES MONTH, as proclaimed by the Garrett County Commissioners this week. The proclamation states in part that the arts and humanities "enhance and enrich the lives of all Americans, and whereas the arts and humanities affect every aspect of life, . . . including the economy, social problem solving, job creation, education, creativity, and community livability"; and that a coalition of more than 50 national arts and humanities groups representing over 23,000 cultural organizations and institutions comprise the National Cultural Alliance, which works to increase public awareness and understanding of the arts. It also states that all national arts organizations will be encouraged to participate in the celebration of National Arts and Humanities Month. Pictured above, standing behind the seated commissioners (left to right: Wayne Wilt, Roger Glotfelty, and Gary Fratz), are Melodee Hill, Garrett County Arts Council (GCAC) board member; Helen Earles, GCAC president; and Steve Schioanagle, GCAC administrator.

"Baby Think It Over" Dolls Looking For Foster Parents - Teens Preferred

by Mary Sincell McEwen

HELP WANTED: Attention coaches, youth group leaders, 4-H and scout leaders, home school teachers, pastors, any and everyone who works with teenagers, take notice: Currently housed at the Garrett County Health Department are eight "babies" who are looking for temporary homes. They have a penchant for teenage parents and hope to find at least a 24-hour home with some. These children are the "Baby Think It Over" dolls and they are ready and waiting to be utilized.

"We have them here -- and we're very willing to lend them out to whomever wants to use them," said Earlene Beckman of the health department. The dolls have been available since January and have been used by some teenage organizations. The youth groups at the Zion Lutheran Church and the Full Gospel Revival Center have taken some of the "children" home, as have the members of the Ecumenical Youth Ministry (EYM) and Pandora's Box.

By using the Baby Think It Over dolls, these participating students have received a small taste of what life is like for the parent of an infant. The idea, of course, is to deter the teenagers from becoming parents at a young age. This notion is brought home directly through these innocent-looking little baby dolls, who are always greeted excitedly by participants. After 24 hours of the realistic aggravation, however, the teens are more than ready to give them back.

To explain, one must imagine the sound of an infant crying. This sound comes robustly out of these babies at intermittent and undetermined times. In order to stop the crying, the "parent" must insert a special key into the baby's back and hold it there for anywhere from 5 to 25 minutes. The dolls are designed to cry at least every four hours, if not more frequently. So when a teenager takes one home, a full night's sleep is certainly not on the agenda. When the baby wakes up, the parent must also wake up, just like real life.

If the parent becomes annoyed by the crying baby (not unlike a real parent at 2 a.m.), he or she may have the urge to turn the baby off (also not unlike a real parent!). In fact, the teenager may be strongly tempted to throttle the thing, if not chuck it out a window, as it continues to screech. However, the group leaders have the option of making it impossible to turn the dolls off, and, more importantly, if there is any abuse of the doll, that abuse is registered on a small monitor inside. When the baby is returned to the group leader, he or she can check the monitor to make sure no abuse has occurred. If any has taken place, the severity of it is rated and the leader can see if the baby was slightly mishandled or seriously abused. Neglect is also recorded.

The babies must be transported in safety seats when they ride in cars and they must have babysitters when the "parent" is busy. They cannot be put on their stomachs without crying -- this is to teach the students about proper sleeping habits for babies, which do not include putting the infant face-down in a bed. (The danger of "crib death" is increased when an infant is lying on its stomach.) They each weigh six or seven pounds, also to resemble a real infant.

The participant is given the chance to name his or her baby -- there is even a birth certificate for it. This fosters an excitement in the participants, who look forward to "adopting" their babies. Their peer group is excited for them as well, and the "parents" become the center of attention, just as they do when they have a real child.

However, as those of the peer group are at home sleeping soundly through the night, the excitement of the sleepy teen parent can evaporate, especially if she or he can't get the key inserted correctly or if even after 20 minutes the baby still wants to be held. After a relatively short period of time, the "parent" is quite ready to go back to being an unencumbered teenager.

Pandora's Box group members kept the babies for three days this summer. Tammy Michaels, a Northern High senior from Accident, said she was working two jobs at the time.

"After being up two or three times in the night, I had to get out of bed early and get to work," she said. "I was so tired -- I didn't get much sleep at all." When she went to work, Tammy left the baby in the care of her mother, which brings another issue into play. The mother of another Pandora's Box student had her own revelations during the experience.

"I realized myself that I am not ready to be a grandmother," said Beth Green, the mother of Northern High ninth grader Julie Green. "If this would happen, besides all the problems for my daughter, there would also be a lot of responsibility placed on me. That was something I hadn't considered before." Mrs. Green said Julie very quickly learned that having a baby would definitely require far more responsibility than she wants to handle at this time in her life.

Members of the EYM took the babies home for just 24 hours, which Sara Sincell felt was probably not long enough.

"Just one night was still almost exciting," Sara said. "I think if we had kept them for a few days, it would have been more effective. But I do think it's a good idea. They definitely will make anyone who uses them think twice about becoming a parent."

The participants seem to have one main complaint -- the key apparently hurts the parent's hand when it is being used properly. Tammy also said the babies' legs are not very flexible, making them somewhat difficult to carry. But all participants interviewed were quick to say that these things were minor drawbacks and that the experience is mostly a beneficial one.

"While you're keeping one, you also become aware that you aren't having to change diapers or bathe the baby or even dress it if you don't want to," Sara said. "So the feeding is just a small part of what real parenthood is about."

Other participants complained that the baby is not realistic in that it doesn't coo or smile, but Earlene Beckman noted that real babies don't do much of that for the first few months anyway.

"Some babies don't smile for weeks and weeks, and some are terribly fussy," Earlene said. "They are totally dependent little things who require constant care. They really aren't much fun for a while."

Earlene and Kendra Todd at the health department manage the babies and are willing to come along to youth group meetings to explain how to use them and to help leaders learn what to do. An attempt was made several months ago to get the dolls integrated into the high schools, but education officials were not eager to have the dolls in the school building.

"There were concerns about disruption," Earlene said.

However, even though the babies can't be housed at the school (by vote of the school board), the family life classes are going to utilize them this year over weekends. Terry Stough at Northern said her class of 13 girls and one boy will be parenting sometime late this month. Jane Gibson at Southern High will be teaching the course in the spring and has definite plans to use them.

"I've done the flour babies several times," Jane said, referring to a project with the students that requires them to be responsible for a flour-filled "baby" for a week. "It does at least make them aware of the responsibility all week, but the dolls will really emphasize that far more. I do wish we could have them in the school -- that way I could really see for myself who is

THE TEEN PREGNANCY RATE IN MARYLAND IS ABOUT 4.2%, but the rate in Garrett County is slightly higher at 5.1%. The health department reports that this rate has dropped a bit locally, but the staff is determined to bring it down further. The dolls are a great resource to help do just that, if they are only utilized. Some suggestions from the manufacturing company include making humorous T-shirts, buttons, or caps for kids who have "survived" the experience, coordinating a few lessons in family budgeting, writing sociology reports on the issue, or drawing from a hat a daily problem or windfall to discuss among the group of teenagers. It can be a terrific group project, and local organizations are encouraged to make the leap into pseudo teen parenthood. Both girls and boys should try it, because of course the entire process does indeed take two!

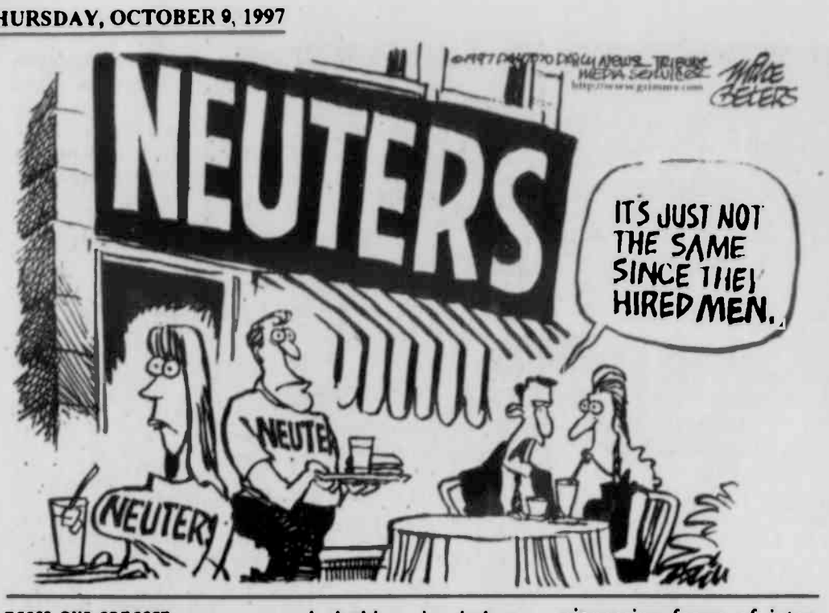
We All Win...

In the recollection of this writer, who is old enough to remember all previous 29 Autumn Glory Festivals, the peak beauty of the leaves on the Mountaintop, right now, has never been exceeded in any other year at festival time. And with the unusual summer-like weather conditions predicted for all four days of the festival, it just could be a record-setting year for participation.

The Autumn Glory Festival is a win-win-win event for everyone involved. The various clubs and organizations that sponsor booths or entertainment win because of the funds raised to support their many worthy causes. Thus the benefactors of those worthy causes also win because of the festival.



Our county in general wins because the festival provides an excellent opportunity to show visitors - and potential "investors" in our area - the wonderful quality of life that Garrett County has to offer.

Other winners include those who are native to the county or lived here previously, but for a variety of reasons are not residing here right now, and seize this opportunity to make Autumn Glory a homecoming weekend. Local folks enjoy seeing them again and spending some top-quality time with them at Oktoberfest or the parade or the arts and crafts show or the banjo and fiddle contests or the Tournament of Bands or the soccer game...

Yes, for many the festival is hard work, but even in the hard work there is usually great enjoyment in seeing the fruits of that labor. Simply put, the festival is, or should be, FUN for everyone. There is truly something for everyone to enjoy.

We hope that the typical, friendly Garrett County hospitality is demonstrated by all involved so that those visiting us for the first time will return home with fond memories and a good impression of our home and its residents.

Now, let's party!

To the Editor:

I am a 6th grade student and I am homeschooled. I think it would be nice if someone put steps on that big hill going down to the soccer field at Southern Middle School. I think people would like that. It wouldn't be such a hassle for people to get down to the soccer games. Also, it would be less dangerous.

• I would also like to thank people who have donated money to the public library. I know lots of people like the public library, and I like going, too!

Sincerely,
Robert Bonser
Oakland

To the Editor:

I was very pleased to read that Mr. David Moe co-president of G.C. Chamber of Commerce and Deep Creek Lake/G.C. Promotion Council agrees with Craig Speicher, founder of GC/CARE. Mr. Moe says that people who oppose the highway should do it by "making their feelings known to their elected officials, from U.S. Senators, and Congressional representatives to mayors, town councils, and county commissioners." Craig Speicher in his letter to the editor calls for the same thing.

I want to thank Mr. Moe for his encouragement to those of us who oppose the highway. Also, I want to thank Craig Speicher for providing the names, addresses, and telephone numbers. Keep up the good work, Craig.

And special thanks to The Republican for providing this forum for people like me. Keep those letters coming.

Jim Falter
Oakland

To the Editor:

May I take this opportunity to say "Thank you, Garrett County," and especially Oakland for a memorable vacation. It is always such a pleasure to return to one's home town and visit with all the many friends and relatives.

The Historical Society with its display of memorabilia made for many hours of relaxation. I only hope that the citizens of Garrett County will dig deep into their pockets and support this very noble cause.

There are so many people who made an extra effort to entertain me and I would like to utilize this means to thank them, one and all. A very special thanks for their generous hospitality goes to Mr. John Sines and family, who put up with my home on wheels, and to Charles Mason and family, who allowed me to bring back memories of my childhood by letting me help on the farm. Bless you one and all and again, thanks to the dear hearts and gentle people of my home town, Oakland.

Forrest K. Welling
La Belle, Fla.

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to Garrett County C.A.R.E. (Conservative Action for a Rural Environment) asked that it appear in this column, along with C.A.R.E.'s response.

Dear C.A.R.E.:

My wife Mary and I, within the past year, purchased property in the Tanglewood subdivision. We fell in love with the area, and our plans (although 10 years away) are to build our retirement dream home in Garrett County. We both like the area as it presently is - quiet and natural.

If this highway goes through, and we are hoping and praying that it doesn't, we just may have to re-evaluate our dream.

We subscribe to The Republican so we can keep abreast of the happenings in our "future community." Enclosed is a check for $10 and our petition. We will also contact our local legislators (Pittsburgh) and express our concern.

Sincerely,
Albert G. Burnelis Jr.

Dear Mr. Burnelis:

All concerned U.S. citizens outside of Maryland and West Virginia should work with their federal senators and representatives. Insist that no federal money be provided for a NAFTA trade corridor in Maryland and West Virginia.

It is also helpful, if the citizen desires, to demand that the balanced budget bill not be compromised by federal transportation funding, which also threatens Medicare and Social Security.

Craig Speicher

To the Editor:

After attending the meeting about the proposed north-south multi-lane highway, my husband and I were curious to see the present route.

On a brief visit to Toronto, we drove north on 1-79, which is narrowed due to construction through most of Pennsylvania, turning it into a slow, nightmarish route.

Coming home, we drove Route 219 the whole way. Until we got near major east-west highways, the countryside appeared poor and lacking in industry. Although we traveled for many miles through national forest and sparsely populated land, there were few good views and an uncomfortable lack of food or comfort facilities for travelers.

A good road would tempt Northerners who go south for the winter to use our fine tourist facilities during the slack fall and spring seasons. We were interested to see in the Toronto newspaper an article on what to take along when going to Florida for the winter. More Canadians go to Florida than from any other country. Perhaps the Toronto area produces 70% of the tourists as well as 70% of the other goods traded with the United States.

We came home with a healthy respect for the vision of Dwight Eisenhower, who started the modern interstate system. How ironic that there should be opposition to this new type of interstate in the county through which the first interstate, the National Pike, passed. What would there be in Garrett County without the growth brought by the National Pike and the B&O Railroad, both pioneering forms of interstate commerce in their day?

Let's not oppose something that will bring employment to the residents of Garrett County. Personal attacks on the people who are trying to attract industry, or opposition by those who already have the convenience of living near an interstate, will not address the employment problems of the southern end of the county.

Remember, if you shut out through traffic, you may shut out some crime, but Lou shut out tourists, industry and tax dollars.

FEDERAL AGRICULTURE DOCTRINE

I used to call it "policy" because the government calls it that, but more recently I have realized that what the federal government has to say about farming is much more potent than a policy. It is doctrine, a teaching that constitutes the orthodoxy of agriculture. Anyone departing from that teaching is a heretic.

The one consistent federal doctrine about U.S. agriculture since World War II is cheap food. Every other interest has been subordinated to this one goal. That's how we got DDT and the long line of chemicals which have succeeded it.

That's how we got farming "fencerow to fencerow" in the '70s. That is how we got corporate chickens and beef, and now corporate pork and, shortly, corporate milk. The federal government cares no more for the family farmer than the man on the moon. And the one is as likely to be as extinct as the other in short order.

For a brief flutter in the '80s, I hoped that federal agriculture doctrine was shifting. The '85 Farm Bill was called the "Food Security Act." It seemed that somewhere, somebody was getting the message: it is far more important to ensure that access to food is secure than to ensure that the price of food is cheap.

My mind set to churning all these issues again when I read about the death of Roger H. Wentling Jr. I never knew him, and I have to rely on the single account that I read for my information, but the story is all too familiar, though far more tragic than usual.

Roger Wentling was an agricultural heretic. He worked for what until recently was called the Soil Conservation Service in Somerset County, Pa. His glory and his downfall was that he read and was convicted by the works of Andre Voisin, who theorized about intensive grazing as an alternative to orthodox feeding methods.

The basic principle of intensive grazing is that, instead of growing feed in fields, and processing and carrying it to the livestock (often via the feed mill), the farmer grows the feed in the pasture and simply lets the livestock eat it. This requires better pasture management, of course, and may not suit every situation, but it is a sustainable form of agriculture. The petro-chemical inputs are greatly reduced. Soil erosion is reduced. Water quality is improved. Cost per pound of product produced is equal to the most efficient orthodox operation and far exceeds the typical farming operation.

The Voisin methods are widely accepted in 1997, though not widely enough implemented. Fifteen years ago, when these ideas caught fire in Roger Wentling, it was purest heresy. His success was his undoing. Every time a farmer tried the Voisin methods and succeeded, it was a nail in the coffin of Wentling's career.

Perhaps more damning was his persuasive criticism of the liquid manure storage structures which now can be found on almost every orthodox dairy farm. The errant stupidity of this method of handling manure ought to be self-evident by the number of spills that occur.

(A friend of mine has been promoting a dry manure storage method--which cannot spill because it is dry--and cannot make any inroads because it is heresy. There is only cost-share money for the orthodox, but disastrous, liquid storage method.)

I'm sure Roger Wentling was a pistol and an eccentric with it. Most of the people who make a difference in life can be characterized that way. He did make a difference, and now he is dead. The cause of the family farm, of farming that is environmentally and economically sustainable, of farming that achieves long-term food security, requires new champions.

In the meantime, the federal government needs to move from doctrine to mere policy, and policy that is flexible enough to adopt and adapt better ideas.

I remember:

how odd it was to be sitting next to the fire hydrant outside my dad's office in town. I was only as tall as the hydrant anyway, and to be sitting there, on the curb, with nothing but people actually in the roadway, was so peculiar, and so exciting. When the siren would blow to signify the beginning of the parade, I had to hold my ears to fend off the old panic that for some reason rose in me at that sound. Being 4 can sometimes be very trying.

watching for my brothers and later my sister in the band, feeling proud of them (at least for a few moments) as they marched grandly down the street playing a fine Sousa tune. I would wait with some anxiety for the bass drummer to go by -- that flutter in my stomach as the booming sound would reverberate there was always marvelously startling.

the first time I actually marched down the street with the band. I was an aspiring member of the Southern Highlander Junior High School Band and was rubber-legged nervous about this, my first hometown parade. The utter thrill of marching in step down Second Street amidst the orange and red leaves fluttering down and the buoyant spectators shouting their support -- wow, what a rush! And I would repeat it for my entire high school career, moved every time to nearly trembling as the cadence would echo and we would stiffly, regally, proudly step out.

playing with the famous Oakland Volunteer Fire Department Autumn Glory Festival German Oktoberfest Oompah Band. Playing saxophone at a rather mediocre level has afforded me great things, one of which has been sitting in with this group of outstanding people for probably 10 or so of its 20-year existence. It's such fun to be part of the entertainment on that night, as a huge faction of countyfolk enjoys reunions, good food, and mindless celebration. The cold beer is a real plus, too. (Bandies get it for free.)

being away at college during the festival and missing it all. I was ready to be away, ready to be my own pilot. But I couldn't avoid the slight tug that pulled me toward thoughts of home. I told myself, "It's just a parade, it's just the same old thing," and of course, that was true. But for some reason, there was always a sense of yearning. This followed me to North Carolina, too, where I lived for about four years and learned how much I did, in fact, so love my Western Maryland birthplace.

the first time I experienced the festival while being truly in love. How different things are when one is in that state of intense elation. The leaves are brighter, the air is crisper, the world is utterly sharp with detail -- rich in color and fragrance. Autumn Glory is the time of friends, yes, but to have a love interest in the midst of that gaiety is most satisfying. Of course I love now and am happy, but there is something magical about that first true love -- the one that flourishes, unbridled, until a heart is broken. Sometimes I am wistful for that giddy and remarkable place in time. But only sometimes.

when I introduced John to the festival, wanting so much for him to understand my affinity for it all, and being slightly frustrated by his hesitancy to be completely enthralled. It was the beginning of a learning process that I and every other spouse must go through, having tied one life to another. I missed the festival one year to attend a yearly event of John's family, and while I did enjoy the outing to a West Virginia state park, I also struggled with the old longing to be at home. Marriage forces one to compromise, to learn about other experiences, to respect the things that are meaningful to one's spouse. It's a good lesson, I think -- one that helps expand our view of the world while at the same time instilling a deeper love for our lifemates.

realizing that parade time is also nap time. I so looked forward to bringing my little son to the big spectacle -- to expose him to the sights and sounds of the parade. My dreams of an eager baby gleefully watching the festivities went away with the sound of a slight snore from the stroller. He slept through at least his first two parades. Now I have three boys, and I seriously doubt that any will be snoozing this year. I'll most likely spend my day chasing them, and repeatedly counting the three blond heads as they bob and dart around in the crowd. I know they are having experiences similar to mine, but they are also forging their own unique memories of home. I hope theirs are as sweet as my own.

And now we are at that time again. The speakers are being hung just outside my office window, people are out milling around, out of work and school, and the Oompah band is warming up. Someday I'll play again -- when I don't have to be counting those three heads every second.

Welcome back, Autumn Glory. Let's do it again.

BABIES, BABIES, BABIES! The local Ecumenical Youth Ministry (EYM) took on the project this spring, with several young people taking the babies home for 24-hour stints. They took the babies along with them on their Peace Walk through Oakland and discovered how heavy a seven-pound baby can get after even a little while. One girl was distraught over a nighttime experience – she heard the baby crying in the dark and, as she was not fully awake, mistook the doll for the cat and lobbed it across the room. This was not particularly good for the abuse register. A member of the Full Gospel Revival Youth Group retold what befell her as she carried her baby through the Country Club Mall. A woman approached her and scolded her for being such a young mother, saying it was disgraceful. The teen was shocked by the ridicule and was somewhat relieved to show the woman that the baby was not real. But she said the exchange with the stranger was a real eye-opener.

SIX OF THE DOLLS WERE GIFTS from a local group of physicians' spouses who wished to make a donation to a Garrett County cause. The group had been participating in a statewide physicians' spouses organization, with money in the form of dues being sent down state. They decided to disengage from the state entity and instead funneled their resources toward purchasing the dolls, which cost about $200 each. The Garrett County Health Department expressed thanks to the group by presenting them with a certificate of appreciation at a luncheon earlier this year. Pictured at the event, left to right, are Ken Gotsch, Sandra Naumann, Kendra Todd (health department representative), Kathy Johnson, Janet Archer, Sharon Schwalm, and Julie Merritt. Other contributors included Dorothy Leighton, Eric Tribble and Margaret Kaiser, Julie Adams, Mrs. Alvin Friend, Sheila Edwards, Susan Savopoulos, Anne Naylor Grant, Susan Dwyer, Claudia Coughlin, Helen Earles, Debbie Goralski, Helen Magal, Albert Getty, Andrew Mance, William Pope, the Potomac Highlands Pathology Association, Marilyn Pontone, and Cheryl Miller.

taking care of his or her baby and who isn't. But the registers inside the dolls will help with that." The teacher said she had offered to "babysit" the dolls in her child care classes while the parents were in class, but was not taken up on the suggestion.

"This is a great resource we have right here," said Kendra Todd. "We really want people to use the dolls -- they'll make a difference."

So the call is out. Coaches, give your athletes more than a winning game; scout and 4-H leaders, offer another project that will have life-long benefits for your kids. Have a "Baby Think It Over" week with the kids and watch as they comprehend a valuable fact of life: parenthood is a weighty role, best reserved for those who are prepared and truly ready to take it on.

Food For Thought

Portobello mushrooms may sound Italian, but they really come from Pennsylvania. They're just brown button mushrooms allowed to grow a few extra days.

Most of the chili peppers in America go into chili powder, which also contains oregano, cumin seed, garlic and salt.

Really-rich potatoes au gratin have been cut into ½-inch pieces and coated with a mixture of whipping cream, prepared pesto, minced sun-dried tomatoes, shallots and garlic. Sprinkle grated Jarlsberg and mozzarella cheese over and bake 45 minutes at 375.

Kids may melt process cheese on white bread, but grown-ups know better. Like this:

Place thin slices of cheddar cheese, smoked ham, red onion and tomato on good country-style bread, add more cheese, then the top piece of bread. Spread the outsides of the sandwich with butter seasoned with mustard and herbs. Cook in a nonstick skillet.

Several Injured In Accidents On Local Roadways

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office reports that several accidents recently resulted in injuries to some of the individuals involved.

On Sunday, Sept. 21, 17-year-old Tina Kay Minnick was injured in a one-vehicle accident in the parking lot of Treasure Island on Weber Road. She was being dropped off at the store when she stepped out of the vehicle prior to it coming to a full stop, and her foot was run over by one of the wheels. She was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) by private auto, where she was treated and released.

On Monday, Sept. 29, an unidentified 13-year-old juvenile was injured when a mini-bike she was riding in a yard at a Friendsville residence collided with a tree. She was transported to GCMH by private auto. Further details were not available.

The curve on Gorman Road just north of Doc Tolson Road, the scene of several accidents in recent months, was in sheriff's reports for an accident with injury once again. At 2 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4, a Ford truck driven northbound on Gorman Road by Jeremy Paul Lewis, 23, Mtn. Lake Park, crossed the center line, hit an embankment, and overturned. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department responded, and Lewis was transported to GCMH by the Southern Rescue Squad, and was subsequently charged with driving while intoxicated by sheriff's deputies.

Shortly after 1 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 5, two vehicles collided at the intersection of I Street and Oakland Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park. The sheriff's report stated that a Ford Taurus driven by Regina Lynn Mick, 17, Mtn. Lake Park, allegedly failed to stop at a stop sign while traveling through the intersection westbound on Oakland Avenue. Mick's vehicle struck a Ford Escort driven by James Albert Swinson, 58, Mtn. Lake Park, who was injured and subsequently transported to GCMH by the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the scene.

On the evening of Sunday, Oct. 5, at approximately 7 p.m., a vehicle driven by Charles Daniel McClean, 31, Oakland, went off the road on Yough Boulevard, a private road in the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort development. McClean's Toyota truck hit a telephone pole after reportedly swerving to miss a deer that jumped into the roadway. After hitting the telephone pole, McClean's truck went over a 20-foot embankment. While the deputy's report noted that McClean suffered obvious injuries to his head and arm, it went on to say that he refused to seek medical treatment.

BIG BOOST FOR SANTA - Even though Christmas is still two and one-half months away, Lou Stouffer of Terra Alta, better known by many as Santa Claus, has been hard at work for many weeks, collecting donated toys and clothing, and making necessary repairs of some of the toys. He has also begun making pre-holiday deliveries. Stouffer, who was named one of President Bush's 1,000 Points of Light for his annual efforts, makes the holidays brighter for hundreds of the area's under-privileged youngsters, and travels tens of thousands of miles each year for that purpose. Providing a major boost this week in the form of $200 cash for gasoline expenses was Dave Martin, owner of Martin Auto Body Shop in Crellin, pictured above with Stouffer. Other persons who have toys and good used clothing they wish to donate may drop the items off at either St. Mark's Lutheran Church or St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Particularly needed are items for teenage boys and girls.

Sheriff's Office Seeking Leads In Truck Theft

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating a reported theft of a pickup truck that occurred in Oakland last Thursday night.

The vehicle was stolen sometime between 7 and 11 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 2, from the parking lot of Castle Car and Truck Sales on Oakland Drive. Described as a dark green 1994 Ford F-150 XLT pickup, the truck has a bed-mounted aluminum diamond plate toolbox in the bed, bedrails, and aluminum wheels. The truck was bearing the Maryland license plate 40B223.

In other sheriff's office investigations, a theft from a vehicle parked at the 219 Motors, just north of the Grantsville Shopping Plaza, was discovered when the business owner checked the lot on Sunday morning, Oct. 5. He found that a 1997 Nissan 4x4 truck had been jacked up during the night, and all four wheels had been taken. Missing are four aluminum wheels bearing brand new General "Grabber" brand tires. The total loss of the wheels and tires is estimated at over $400.

Two thefts occurred sometime between Sept. 29 and Oct. 1 from vehicles parked at Tressler's Auto Electric shop in Mtn. Lake Park. A black speaker box, 3 feet long by 1 foot wide by 6 inches tall, with a handle on top, was stolen from a van. The speaker box is valued at $125. In the second incident, a 12-volt battery, valued at $45, was taken from a pickup truck.

A tavern was burglarized in Crellin early Sunday morning, Oct. 5. Employees checking the premises of Billy Bob's around 8 a.m. found that several windows had been broken out and several exterior and interior doors had been pried open overnight. Stolen was cigarette money plus a change container, and the total theft and damage estimate amounted to $150.

Any citizen with information on these or other sheriff's office investigations is urged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975. Anonymous calls are accepted.

In other recent sheriff's activity, a report of a domestic altercation ended in the arrest of Steven Joseph Eddy, 38, Oakland. Eddy had allegedly been drinking and harassing his wife throughout the day of Oct. 2 at their residence. When the woman attempted to call the sheriff's office for assistance, he allegedly struck her and then reportedly fled into a wooded area behind their home. Deputies subsequently located Eddy in a tree stand 12 feet in the air, some 200 yards into the woods behind the house.

Eddy was arrested and charged with assault, and subsequently released on a $1,500 bond.

An Oakland man was arrested and charged with second-degree assault recently for allegedly spanking a juvenile with a large plastic baking spoon. David Lee Biser, 40, was subsequently released on his own recognizance by the court commissioner with the stipulation that he have no abusive contact with the juvenile.

William Owen Frazee, 22, Friendsville, was charged with a third-degree sexual offense involving alleged consensual sex with a 15-year-old female. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Elmer Eugene Fike, 62, Oakland, was charged with driving with intoxicated by sheriff's deputies last week.

Hubcaps Slated To Perform At GCC Halloween Dance

The Fabulous Hubcaps will perform at Garrett Community College this fall for a Halloween/Sock-hop dance at the GCC Gymnasium on Friday, Oct. 31, from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The event is being sponsored by the Math Club, the Golden Achievers Club, and the Student Government Association of GCC. Food will be sold in the cafeteria with other refreshments in the theme of the Sock-hop era, including Coca-Cola in the 8 oz. bottles. Doors will be open at 6 p.m. No alcoholic beverages will be permitted.

The Fabulous Hubcaps consist of seven lead vocalists: Rocky Simon, Jimi Simon, Denny Cook, Coe Anderson, Barbie Riehl, Barry Holober, and Doug "Wolfman" Lewis. They are all proficient on a number of instruments.

Depending on the song, they use three saxophones, two guitars, multi-keyboards, and/or all the percussion instruments. This instrumentation, blended with their vocals and harmonies, produces a sound that reinforces their reputation for capturing true likenesses of the artists and their original recordings.

The Hubcaps are supported by their own sound, production, and lighting, together with a team of professionals trained to produce each show.

The members of the group have been together more than 20 years. They have traveled all over the U.S., and have performed more than 200 shows a year.

They have appeared at the Kentucky Derby, performed the National Anthem for the Baltimore Orioles at Camden Yards, and entertained the President of the United States and Mrs. Clinton on the south lawn of the White House.

Billboard Magazine referred to them as "Classic do-wop... A great entertainment buy!"

Variety Magazine said, "This group must be seen to be appreciated...."

According to Vaughn Vitez, chairman of the dance, persons may come dressed in the Halloween or Sock-hop theme. Prizes will be awarded during intermission. Casual dress with tennis shoes will be required or sock-feet for dancing. "One thing is for certain," Vitez said, "It will be a Rock-and-Roll Gas!"

TIME TO KICK OFF YOUR SHOES for dancing in the gym. When the Fabulous Hubcaps arrive on the Garrett Community College campus for the sock-hop/Halloween dance Oct. 31, the place will be rockin'. The group of musician/vocalists have performed together for over 20 years with 200 performances per year. Costumes and 1950s attire are encouraged and only socks or sneakers will be permitted on the gym floor. For more information persons may contact Dee Kimbrell at 301-387-3036 or 301-387-4802 evenings.

For more information and ticket sales, persons may call Dee Kimbrell at GCC at 301-387-3036 or in the evenings 301-387-4802.

Barbershop Four To Perform At Tall Tale Fest

The Afternoon Delight Barbershop Quartet will perform at the evening session of this year's Tall Tale Liars' Festival on Saturday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. The event will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, in the auditorium.

The four singers are women, and are part of a larger chorus called the Ladybirds. Interspersing stories and songs, the group will make a special appearance in support of the local branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) and its scholarship program, as well as its soccer uniform fund for middle school girls.

These four women have been singing together for 15 years. They are Earlene Fradiska, tenor; Mary Schaver, lead; Jackie Gillis, baritone; and Shirley Carson, bass.

In addition to Afternoon Delight, other storytellers will perform, possibly including Bus Bender of Grantsville, Larry Cosner of Mtn. Lake Park, Lance Bell of Cumberland, and Gail Herman of Swanton. Many other storytellers are slated for this informal yarn-spinning event during which any guest can tell a story.

The storytelling events during Autumn Glory will all be held on Saturday. The schedule is as follows: 9 a.m., children's telling (with prizes for all); 10:15 a.m., adult telling (both at St. Paul's); 2:30 p.m., workshops at St. Peter's Catholic Church basement; and 7 p.m. for the informal evening with the barbershop entertainment.

The workshops are funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council. Cassette tapes of tall tales from previous years will be available during the day's events.

Ed King Receives Service Award

The Garrett County Board of Realtors has announced the selection of Ed King of A & A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens as the recipient of the 1997 Realtors Community Service Award. The announcement was made at a recent membership breakfast by Goldie Shugars, Awards Committee chairperson for the GCBR. The Community Service Award is presented to the realtor member who "exhibits extraordinary and self-sacrificing acts of public service to the community."

A resident of the Deep Creek Lake area, King has maintained a consistently high level of success in his real estate career over the past 12 years. An active member of Lions Club International, he has served as president of the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club for several years, and is currently a director as well as a volunteer for various club projects.

King noted that one of his favorite involvements is with the Lions blind skiers program at the Wisp for students of the Maryland School for the Blind. He has personally raised over $4,000 this year to benefit this program.

Another active interest of King's is The Lodge At Sawmill Hollow at Deep Creek Lake, a vacation and recreation facility serving vacationers from a multi-state area who have developmental and/or physical disabilities. He is on the lodge board of directors, and his fellow Lions club members often lend their volunteer efforts for special projects at the facility.

King is currently serving on a recently formed advisory group of community leaders known as PIVOT, for Partners in Valuable Ongoing Training. PIVOT is exploring ways to strengthen economic growth in Garrett County while preserving the quality of life and culture of the county. King has also been actively involved with the Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake for 15 years, paying major attention to planning and zoning and lake management. He has chaired the Deep Creek Lake Advisory & Review Committee for the Department of Natural Resources, a multi-interest group that advises the secretary of the DNR on matters concerning the management of the lake.

GCC Netters Win Five, Lose Two For Week

The Garrett Community College Lakers volleyball record now stands at 16-7 (5-1 in Maryland JUCO competition) after a busy week of play.

The Lakers led off the weeks action by defeating both Charles and Westmoreland at home last Thursday.

The match against Charles was close, going to five games with scores of 15-10, 15-10, 14-16, 9-15, and 15-12. Andrea Barrick led the Lakers with 32 points, including six aces and nine kills. Mindy McCarty added 23 points, six aces and 14 kills, while Erica McBride totaled 10 kills.

Westmoreland proved to be an easier conquest for GCC, as the Lakers rolled to victory with game scores of 15-9 and 15-3.

Erica King was eight-for-eight on service with one ace, and 10-for-11 on the attack with three kills. Barrick was 11-for-11 from the service line with two kills, McCarty was 15-for-16 on the attack with seven kills, and McBride was seven-for-seven on serve with one ace and 11-for-15 on the attack with six kills.

GCCs next opponent proved to be a much tougher foe, as CCAC Boyce took a close five-game match from the hosting Lakers on Saturday. Garrett took the first two games, 15-11 and 15-9, then Boyce swept the final three 15-13, 15-13, and 15-10.

Alexis Nogle's 29 service points led the Lakers efforts, to which she also contributed six aces. 19 attacks, six kills and 14 assists. King added 21 points, three aces, and six kills, while Barrick totaled 21 attacks and a team-high 11 kills. McCarty added nine kills and Sindy Niner added six of her own.

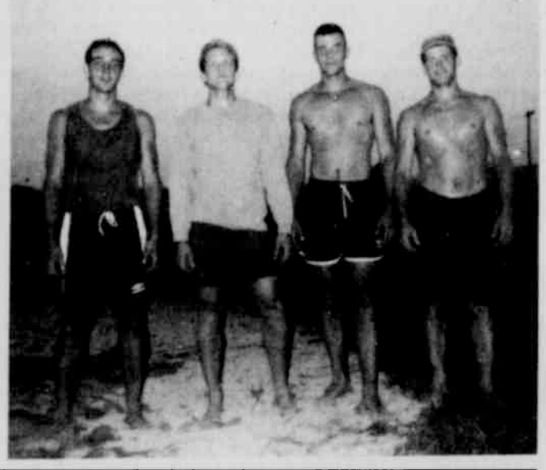
Monday night saw Beaver and Potomac State visiting the McHenry court for a triangular match that the Lakers took by scores of 15-9 and 15-6 over Beaver and 15-8 and 15-10 over Potomac State.

Nogle served for 15 points with three aces against Beaver, adding 10 assists while going 34-for-37 on sets. King tallied four points and seven kills, while Barrick served for seven points, three aces, adding eight kills. McCarty was nine-for-15 on the attack, with five kills and 30 sets.

Nogle took top scoring honors against Potomac State in the nightcap as well, with 14 service points and two aces, while going 22-for-26 on sets with 13 assists. Barrick led in attacks, 14-for-15, and had seven kills and five blocks. Sindy Niner was six-for-eight on attack and had six kills.

On Wednesday night the Lakers traveled north to Altoona for a triangular match with Butler and Penn-State Altoona. GCC split for the evening, defeating Butler 15-1 and 15-9, then falling to Penn State-Altoona 15-4 and 15-9.

Against Butler, Nogle was 18-for-18 in service with five aces, and 22-for-27 in sets with 10 assists. McCarty led the attack, going nine-for-10 with four kills.



King had 10 service points and Barrick eight in the loss to Altoona. McBride was 20-for-24 on the attack with five kills.

Garrett's next outing is a road trip to Prince George's Community College on Friday for a triangular match that includes Washington Bible College.

Rams Volleyball Team Takes One From Oldtown

Southern's volleyball Rams moved one game closer to a .500 record this week by defeating Oldtown at home by game scores of 15-5, 15-3, and 15-7, for a season tally to this point of four wins against five defeats.

Shelly Winters had 15 service points to lead the Rams, while Jennifer Teagarden and Elizabeth Paesani added eight points each. Teagarden also had 14 assists.

Oldtown was led by Schade with nine points.

Southern won the junior varsity match as well, by game scores of 15-3 and 15-10. Megan Hickman and Melissa Kuykendall each had nine service points, and Kuykendall had two aces. Lewis had four points for Oldtown.

Southern's next match is on the road against Mount Savage on Monday evening.

Husky Netters Beat Hyndman, Still Unbeaten

The Northern Huskies volleyball team remains undefeated as its record went to eight wins against no losses with a victory over Hyndman last night.

Rebekah Hinebaugh's 18 service points and 17 kills lead the Huskies to a 10-15, 15-8, 15-8, and 15-5 win at Northern. Kerri Sines added 15 points and Laurel Wolfe totaled 17 kills for the Huskies.

Hyndman's Dana Kennel totaled 11 points and Lori Frasier eight, while Annessa Shaffer led the visitors with seven kills.

Northern's jayvee took their match as well, with game scores of 15-13 and 15-13. Cindy McKenzie led Northern with eight service points and Heather Umbel added six. Hyndman's service were led by Ashley Blank with six service points, including one ace.

Northern travels to Oldtown on Monday evening for their next match.

When Someone You Love Requires Skilled Nursing Care—
Pick the Right Place

Ask the Right Questions:
Hospital stays are becoming shorter and patients are being discharged faster. But some patients, especially the elderly, are not well enough to go home. They require continued care or therapy. Placement after a hospital stay becomes a very critical concern for families trying to do the right thing. They must pick the right place to get the right care!

Unfortunately, many families don't know what to look for and don't ask the right questions. They mistakenly believe that an Assisted-Living or Residential Care Facility can provide the necessary skilled nursing services. The fact is they can't. They don't have the experience, expertise or staff They are not licensed by the state to provide that level of care. So if you have a loved one that will be discharged from a hospital, ask the right questions. One- Is the facility Medicare certified? If it is, then it can provide the skilled nursing care your loved one requires. Two- What does the license say? If the facility is licensed only to provide supportive care, it is not the right place!

Pick the Right Place:
Cuppett Management Company owns and operates two outstanding Medicare certified nursing homes in Oakland. Both facilities are able to provide skilled nursing care on a daily basis. Both facilities offer extensive rehabilitation programs At either location your loved one will receive not only high quality medical and nursing care but superior service as well.

Resident and family satisfaction have always been important to us. Friendly, attentive service is not an "extra-job," it's simply what we do. Family involvement is welcomed and encouraged at our regularly scheduled care planning conferences.

So if someone you love requires skilled nursing care, make sure you pick the right place. That would be either Cuppett and Weeks skilled Nursing and Rehabilitation Center or Dennett Road Manor in Oakland. They have the experience and expertise to give the right kind of care.

Golf Tourney To Raise Funds For Cancer Research

A golf tournament which could become a major annual event for Garrett County will be held this Friday, Oct. 10, at the Wisp Resort course in McHenry. Titled the Day of Hope tournament, the event will include 30 teams of amateur and professional players in a pro-am format, all playing to raise funds for cancer research at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore and, specifically, for a prostate cancer outreach program locally.

"Prostate cancer kills over 40,000 men annually, with over 300,000 new cases diagnosed each year," stated a spokesman for the tournament. "Johns Hopkins Medical Institution is recognized as a leader in this field, and recent discoveries give hope that a cure for this type of cancer will soon be found."

While 75% of the tournament's proceeds will be donated to Johns Hopkins, the remaining 25% will be presented to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the purpose of establishing a local outreach program for screening of prostate cancer.

The tournament is being sponsored by Mylan Laboratories, Inc., one of the top generic manufacturers in the world. Based in Morgantown, W.Va., Mylan and its subsidiaries are engaged in the development, licensing, manufacturing, and marketing of numerous generic pharmaceuticals and wound-care products.

WVU BAND HONORED AT HOMECOMING, LOCALS PARTICIPATE - The WVU marching band, known as the Pride of West Virginia, was honored during Homecoming ceremonies at the Mountaineer football game last Saturday, as the group was given the 1997 Sudler Trophy. Because the award is bestowed on an organization that has a long-standing history of excellence and leadership among college bands, Dr. Don Wilcox, director, wished to honor not only the current marching band members, but also the thousands of band alumni. Nearly 450 marched in the alumni band Saturday, running onto the field in the Mountaineer tradition. At halftime, the alumni and the approximately 300 current marchers joined on the turf, creating the largest single musical group ever to play together on Mountaineer Field. At least four Garrett Countians took part in the festivities, two as current members and two as alumni. Pictured above left are present students Megan Battista, mellophone, and David Peterson, quad player (percussion), both of Oakland. Shown at right are graduates Christy Chaney Cropp, mellophone, formerly of Oakland and now a resident of Morgantown, and Mary Sincell McEwen, alto sax, Oakland. (While these are the only four Garrett Countians located Saturday, others who may have participated are encouraged to call The Republican newsroom to be recognized as well.) Often referred to as the "Heisman Trophy" for marching bands, the Sudler award goes to a band elected by ballots cast by every marching band director in the United States that participates in NCAA Division I football. WVU is the first "Big East" college to receive the honor, joining just 15 other bands in the country that have received the trophy. The award is made possible by a grant from the late Louis Sudler, who was a successful Chicago business man as well as a performing musician and patron of the arts. His wife Virginia presented the trophy to the band Saturday. Also joining Wilcox to accept the award was Bud Udell, conductor of the band from 1963 until 1969, and WVU President David Hardesty, among other officials.

Southern Boys Third, Girls Fifth In FSU Invitational

The boys' cross country team of Southern High School, the reigning state Class A champion and undefeated in regular meets this season, captured third place in Saturday's annual Frostburg State Invitational, an event that features both collegiate and high school teams. The race was held this year at Fort Frederick State Park near Clear Spring.

Nineteen boys' and 18 girls' high school teams, representing schools of all sizes, participated in the high school race, with the Southern boys finishing with a team total of 108 points. James Wood won the race with a score of 55, while Sherando placed second with 63 points.

The Southern girls' team placed fifth with 177 points, while Sherando, Linganore, Middletown, and James Wood took the top four places with respective scores of 69, 104, 163, and 169 points.

Leading the Southern boys was Dan Sincell, who finished sixth out of 170 runners and recorded a time of 17 minutes, 18 seconds. Teammates Eric Rexrode and Beau Gibson were also among the top 25 finishers, placing 19th and 23rd, respectively, with times of 17:46 and 17:55.9.

Clear Spring's Tim Mason was the top runner among the boys, as he recorded a time of 16:30.7.

The Southern girls were led by Dan's sister, Angie Sincell, who was 11th out of 150 runners and recorded a time of 21:06.5.

Winning the girls' race was Robyn Ritter of Sherando, who recorded a time of 20 minutes flat.

Other teams and respective scores for the boys were: Linganore in fourth place with 146; Magruder, 174; John Handley, 196; Middletown, 229; Frederick, 232; Fort Hill, 246; Boonsboro, 279; Clear Spring, 297; Winston Churchill, 316; Thomas Johnson, 320; James Buchanan, 329; Strasburg, 380; Westmar, 455; Allegany, 456; Bedford, 508; and Williams, 542.

The girls' teams finishing behind the top five were: Magruder, 209; Glenelg, 210; Frederick, 217; Allegany, 232; Winston Churchill, 239; Boonsboro, 258; Strasburg, 259; Stonewall Jackson, 292; John Handley, 294; Bedford, 365; Westmar, 367; James Buchanan, 378; and Fort Hill, 448.

The Runnin' Rams will compete again this afternoon at Hampshire in the Area Meet, with both the boys' and girls' teams favored to win that competition. The Rams will host the WMIL Championships next Thursday.

Both Southern teams are currently the number-one ranked 1A teams in the state. Individually, Dan Sincell is the second ranked 1A runner, with Clear Spring's Tim Mason number one. Southern's Eric Rexrode is ranked third, Casey McBee, Beau Gibson, and Sean Conroy are ranked fifth, sixth, and seventh, respectively, Mike Bittinger is 10th, Ted Wolfe is 12th, and Rusty Strubin is 14th.

Angie Sincell is the state's sixth ranked 1A runner, while Erin Hoalcraft is 13th and Amy Snyder is ranked 15th.

Northern's Rachel Lorenz, who is running independently this season because there were not enough Northern runners to field a complete team, is currently ranked second in the state's 1A list.

RUSHING FOR A TOUCHDOWN Friday evening against the Tucker County Mountain Lions in the photo above is Southern High School's Jason Weaver, as he stays close to teammate and blocker Billy Stoner (#75). Weaver finished the evening with 112 yards rushing, two touchdowns, and one two-point conversion, as the Rams held on for a 28-20 victory over the Lions. It was the third straight win for the Rams, who will be off this week and return to action at Bishop Walsh on Saturday, Oct. 18. Photo by Rick Dolan.

Rams Hang On In Fourth Quarter To Defeat Lions

What was a comfortable 14-point lead for the Southern High Rams early in the fourth quarter against Tucker County was reduced to eight points in just 12 seconds Friday night on the Mountain Lions' field, but the Rams held on to record a 28-20 win for their third straight victory in five starts.

The Rams also held a lopsided edge in the game stats, but finished with just a 331-295 edge in total offense, as the Lions' two fourth-quarter touchdowns were scored on pass plays of 65 and 35 yards.

Southern	6	8	14	6	-28
Tucker County	0	6	8	14	-20

- S - Jason Weaver 7 run (run failed).
- TC - Steve Lambruno 1 run (kick failed).
- S - Nick Dolan 41 run (Jason Weaver run).
- S - Josh Bosley 3 run (Chad Warnick run).
- S - Jason Weaver 5 run (run failed).
- TC - Derrick Simmons 65 pass from Jason Gaither (Jason Gaither run).
- TC - Derrick Simmons 35 pass from Nick Klus (run failed).

Junior running back Jason Weaver, who finished with 112 yards on 18 carries, put the game's and Southern's first points on the board when he scored on a seven-yard run with 1:52 remaining in the first quarter. The run for the two-point conversion failed.

The Mountain Lions knotted the score at 6-6 early in the second quarter when Steve Lambruno scored on a one-yard carry. The kick for the extra point failed, and the score remained tied until the third quarter.

The strong defensive efforts by both teams in the first half was just reversed in the second half, when a total of 36 points were scored. Nick Dolan put the Rams on top for good with an outstanding, 41-yard tackle-breaking run to the end zone with 8:32 remaining in the third period. Weaver ran for the extra two points to give the Rams a 14-6 advantage.

Josh Bosley then capped the next Southern drive with a three-yard touchdown carry about four minutes later, and Chad Warnick ran for the two-point conversion to make the score 22-6.

Weaver scored his second touchdown of the evening and put the Rams up 28-6 on a five-yard run early in the fourth quarter. The run for the conversion was stopped short.

Less than a minute and a half later, the Lions scored the first of their two fourth-quarter touchdowns when Jason Gaither took a handoff from quarterback Nick Klus on a double reverse and passed to Derrick Simmons to complete a 65-yard touchdown play at the 10:31 mark. Gaither also ran for the conversion to make the score 22-14.

The Lions then booted an onsides kick, made the recovery, and on the first play in that series, Klus found Simmons again, this time for a 35-yard touchdown pass with 10:19 left in the game. The run for the two-point conversion failed and the game's scoring was complete, as the Ram defense stiffened and kept the Lions out of the end zone over the final 10 minutes.

Warnick, along with Weaver, also finished with a 100-plus-yard game for the Rams, as he rushed for 101 yards on 15 carries, and he also recorded 37 more yards through the air by hitting three of four passes.

Wes Lambert led the Lions' ground game, as he picked up 90 yards on eight carries, while Simmons's two touchdown passes gave him 100 yards on two receptions.

Leading the Ram defensive effort was John Ayers, who was credited with 10 tackles.

"We played very well the first three quarters, especially in the third quarter," stated Ram coach Tom Woods. "We executed offensively very well the entire game, and even though Tucker scored on those two long passes, it was not a case of poor coverage on our part. We were in good position, but the Simmons boy (6-2) is so much taller than our defenders and a very good athlete."

Woods noted the performance of many of his players, particularly those on the offensive line: Steve Shiflett, Robert Unger, Billy Stoner, David Lantz, and Kenny Myers. "These guys did an excellent job against a big, physical Tucker line," Woods said.

He also noted the offensive efforts of Warnick, Dolan, and Ayers. "Chad ran well and threw the ball the best he has thrown all season," he said. "Nick Dolan had just a super run for his touchdown, and John Ayers played very well at tight end, which is a new position for him."

Defensively, Woods lauded the performances of Ayers, Stoner, Ryan Channel, and Tommy Diehl.

"We had a lot of obstacles going into this game," Woods said. "They were ranked 12th in the state of West Virginia with a 3-2 record, it was their homecoming game, it was on their field, and they hadn't beaten us for about six years, so they had a lot of incentive."

The Rams will get a break this week and, even though Woods would much rather be playing this Friday, he said that the week off is coming at a good time. "We're pretty banged up right now," he said. "Josh Helbig is still out with a knee injury, and John Ayers (ankle) and Scott Beitzel would probably both be out this week. So we are making this a conditioning week, with no contact work, and hope to get everyone healthy for the Bishop Walsh game."

Woods was unable to fill his schedule simply because too many teams in the area avoid playing Southern.

Ram Jayvees Nip Lions, 8-6

A two-point conversion pass from Justin Liller to Jason Rohrbaugh proved to be the winning margin for the Southern High junior varsity football team in a contest Monday evening on the Rams' field.

Tucker County took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter when Marshall Morris scored on a one-yard plunge. The conversion kick was no good.

The Rams won the contest, 8-6, after Christian Warfield received a 32-yard scoring pass from Liller and Rohrbaugh scored the conversion.

The Mountain Lions had an opportunity to win the game in the closing seconds of the game with a 32-yard field goal attempt, but Southern's Mike Lantz and Mickey Gatlin each got a hand on the ball to block the attempt.

Southern, now 3-1, will play at Preston County on Oct. 20.

Huskies Dominated By Mountaineers, Fall 42-0

As much as the Northern Huskies dominated Hancock the previous Friday night, the Huskies were dominated last Friday evening in Frostburg by Beall. The Huskies fell behind early to the unbeaten Mountaineers, could not recover, and were handed a 42-0 defeat. It was the third win in five starts for Coach Phil Carr's squad, while Beall upped its mark to 5-0.

The Mountaineers put their first points on the board quickly, as Ryan Brodbeck broke loose for a 43-yard touchdown run and Mike King booted the first of six extra points to make it 7-0.

It was just a few plays later that Beall scored again, as a Husky drive was halted by an interception and 35-yard return to the Northern five-yard line by Tom Leasure. Shawn Opel carried the ball into the end zone on the next play, and King's point-after made it 14-0.

A 32-yard punt return by Brodbeck set up Beall's third touchdown of the first quarter, which was recorded by Leasure on a four-yard run with 3:26 remaining in the quarter. King's kick gave the Mountaineers a commanding 21-0 lead.

The Northern defense played better the rest of the evening, but Beall added one more touchdown in the first half when Justin Patterson capped a 10-play drive with an 11-yard touchdown carry at the 6:56 mark. King's PAT ended the first-half scoring.

A 20-yard touchdown run by Opel with just under two minutes left in the third quarter, plus another conversion kick by King, put Beall up 35-0.

The final touchdown, set up by a Husky fumble, was scored in the fourth quarter by Steve Yates on a one-yard dive. King kicked his sixth straight extra point for the night.

The Huskies simply could not move the ball against the Beall defense, and finished with only eight yards in total offense. The Mountaineers, who did not put the ball in the air on a single play, recorded 311 yards of rushing.

Brodbeck finished with 112 yards on only six carries, while Opel picked up 85 yards on a dozen attempts.

The Beall defense has allowed a total of only 33 points, or 6.6 per contest, this season, while the offense is averaging 26.6 points per outing.

"Beall's line play, on both sides of the ball, was excellent," Coach Carr said. "We just couldn't do anything against them.

"But what probably hurt us the most was how they jumped on us right off the bat," he said. "We jumped offsides to help them keep their first drive going, and then we threw an interception on our first drive to help them get their second touchdown.

"We also had a 72-yard touchdown play (pass from Scott Sisler to Matt Houser) in the second quarter called back because of an illegal block," he said. "It was a legitimate call, but it obviously really hurt."

Carr was pleased with his team's effort in the second half, as the first team of Beall remained in the game until midway through the fourth quarter and scored only one touchdown. "We definitely played better in the second half," he said. "The only score by their first team in that half was set up by our fumble on our own 25-yard line.

"But every game has a tempo, and we quickly fell right into their tempo after they scored so quickly on us," he said. "Beall is really firing on all cylinders right now, and I think they will really give Frankfort fits this Friday night."

Meanwhile, the Huskies will attempt to get back into the win column at home against Turkeyfoot, another team that, like Northern, is suffering from low numbers and is presently 1-4 this season after losing a number of players from last year's 5-4 squad.

Turkeyfoot has only about 25 players in its entire program, with eight seniors on the roster. "They're a lot like us; they're small in number and they're pretty young," Carr said.

Leading Turkeyfoot's offense are senior running back Jarred Miller (5-11, 200), senior running back Ryan McClintock (5-10, 175), and senior quarterback Brian Deal (6-0, 210), who played center last year.

"Miller was out last week with a blood clot in his knee," Carr said, "so we really don't know about his status for this week.

"Deal doesn't have a lot of skills as a quarterback, but he is a big, tough runner, and McClintock also runs well for them."

Turkeyfoot runs a wide-open offense. "They do a little of everything," Carr said. "They run reverses, reverse pass plays, throwbacks to the quarterback,... You have to be ready for everything."

Defensively, Turkeyfoot is led by its corps of linebackers, which includes Miller and junior Jackie Saylor (5-11, 185), and McClintock at defensive end.

"Their linebackers are pretty good, but their biggest problem is not much size and not real good speed up front," Carr said.

Despite the lopsided defeat last Friday night, the Huskies emerged from Frostburg with no injuries and, with the return of Nathan Resh after an appendicitis several weeks ago, the team should be full strength for this Friday night, although Resh will see limited action.

"Football's unlike most other sports in that you have to wait a whole week to play again," Carr said. "Our kids are really anxious to play again and prove to themselves that they can put the Beall game behind them and get another win."

Friday's kickoff at Husky Stadium is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Rams

Last year, the Rams, who are a Class 1A team, had to travel to Ohio to play the equivalent of a 3A school (East Liverpool), just to fill their schedule with 10 games.

"The rankings show that we are currently third in the region and 12th in the state, but our state ranking should be ninth," Woods said. "They didn't give us enough points for our win over Preston. So our kids are still definitely in the playoff picture."

The Southern-Bishop Walsh contest is slated for the afternoon of Saturday, Oct. 18, on the Spartans' field. More information about that match-up will be published next week.

Huskies Blank Hyndman, But Fall To Salisbury

The varsity soccer team of Northern High School won its second straight match of the season this week by shutting out host Hyndman on Saturday, 3-0; but was then defeated Tuesday by host Salisbury, 2-0. The split left the Huskies with a 2-7 mark, one which they will attempt to improve this Friday when they travel to Oakland to face the Southern Rams.

Jeremy Reed, Zack Rawe, and Joe Weimer each scored a goal in the win over Hyndman, to drop the Hornets to 6-7 this season. Reed and Rawe scored their unassisted goals in the first half, with Reed's being recorded about four and one-half minutes into the match and Rawe scoring at the 29:21 mark.

After nearly 70 minutes of scoreless play, Weimer added the insurance goal for the Huskies, also unassisted, with just 2:58 remaining in the match.

Matt Fritz was credited with a dozen saves for the Huskies, who finished with a 22-12 advantage in shots on goal and a 5-4 edge in corner kicks.

The Huskies out-shot the Salisbury Elks Tuesday afternoon by a 29-18 margin, and also finished with a 6-3 advantage in corner kicks, but the Elks (3-10) got three of their shots past Northern keeper Matt Fritz.

Chris Otto scored both goals for the Elks off assists by Justin Saylor. After a scoreless first half, and with more than the second half expired, Otto finally broke the 0-0 tie with his first goal, recorded at the 16:54 mark.

He struck again off a feed by Saylor with just 5:39 left in the match.

Fritz was credited with 14 saves for the Huskies, while B.J. Mull turned away 24 Northern shots to record the shutout.

The Huskies will attempt to avenge a 2-1 loss to the Southern Rams earlier this season at the Cove. Following Friday's match, the Huskies will host Bishop Walsh next Tuesday.

NHS Jayvees Top Beall, 6-0

A six-yard touchdown run by Marc Wolfe, followed by a successful conversion kick by Justin Robison, was the only scoring in a game between the Northern High junior varsity and the Beall jayvees Monday at the Cove, as the Huskies edged the Mountaineers, 7-0.

Wolfe's touchdown capped a 60-yard drive in the second quarter.

The entire Northern defensive unit was praised by the coaching staff for shutting out the Mountaineers, with special recognition given to linebackers Robison and P.J. Workman, and cornerback Jeremy Frazee.

The win evened the Huskies' record at 2-2. They will host Bishop Walsh Monday evening.

Ram Booters Suffer Losses To Allegany, Bishop Walsh

After building a 5-1 record, the best ever since soccer returned to Garrett County high schools four years ago, the Southern High varsity saw its mark slip to 5-3 this past week by being nipped by host Allegany last Thursday night, 1-0, and then falling to powerful Bishop Walsh, 2-0, Tuesday afternoon, also in Cumberland on the Spartans' field.

The one-goal victory by Allegany avenged a 3-2 loss to the Rams in Oakland in the opening match of the season. Jay Litten scored the match's only goal, which came unassisted at the 27:36 mark of the first half.

Leading the Camper defense was goal keeper Robbie Stansbury, who was credited with 10 saves off a dozen shots-on-goal by the Rams. Jonathan Price finished with 12 saves on 17 shots by Allegany (5-3).

The Rams finished with a 3-2 edge in corner kicks.

The Southern junior varsity was also edged in the preliminary match, 1-0, with Andy Farrell scoring the only goal of that match.

Andrew Searles put Bishop Walsh ahead of the Rams at the 14:50 mark of the first half in Tuesday's match, when he scored off an assist by Myles Spatz.

BW doubled the score with 15 minutes left in the match when Lauren Zapf scored off a feed by Searles.

The Rams had lost to the second-ranked Spartans earlier in the season in Oakland, 3-1.

Southern was out-gunned by a 31-15 margin, with Price recording 17 saves for the Rams, John Meyers getting eight for the Spartans, and Nathan Price recording four for the winners, whose record was upped to 12-1-1.

The Southern junior varsity was hammered in the preliminary match, 7-0, by the undefeated BW jayvees.

Coach Tom Powers and the Rams will attempt to get back on the winning track Friday evening when they host cross-county rival Northern in an Autumn Glory Festival clash. The Rams edged the Huskies in their first meeting this year, 2-1, at Husky Stadium.

The Rams will entertain Mt. Savage next Thursday evening.

Fishing Contest Winners Named

The winners of the Garrett County Fishing Contest sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council for the week ending October 5 are:

Chain pickerel, 3 lbs. 1 oz., 24 inches, caught by Drew Eichelberger, Sparks.

Smallmouth bass, 2 lbs. 14 ozs., 18½ inches, caught by Harry E. Lizza, Dunbar, Pa.

Rainbow trout, 13 3/4 inches, caught by Beth Bigler, Oakland.

Walleye, 1 lb. 12 ozs., 19 3/4 inches, caught by Drew R. Doxzon, Stewartstown, Pa.

Yellow perch, 1 lb., 13 3/4 inches, caught by Ed McFadden, Westminster.

Largemouth bass, 2 lbs. 10 ozs., 17 3/4 inches, caught by Alan Cramblitt, Baltimore.

Weekly winners are awarded an emblem and citation, and plaques are awarded for the season's largest catches of bluegill, brown trout, chain pickerel, crappies, largemouth and smallmouth bass, northern pike, rainbow trout, walleye, and yellow perch. To enter the contest, anglers must take their catches to Johnny's Bait House, Rt. 219, south of the Deep Creek Lake bridge.

DNR Sets Lottery For Hunters With Disabilities

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, is offering an accessible hunting program for people with disabilities at Rocky Gap State Park in Allegany County. There are nine sites available for the deer firearms season, which runs from Nov. 29 through Dec. 13. The sites will be filled via a lottery drawing, which will take place at Rocky Gap State Park on Nov. 22 at 2 p.m.

In order to qualify for the lottery, all interested hunters must mail proof of their valid Maryland hunting license and their DNR disabled hunters permit to Rocky Gap State Park, 12500 Pleasant Valley Road NE, Flinstone, MD 21730. Disabled hunter permits may be obtained at any DNR Service Center.

The disabled hunter permit allows hunters to hunt from a vehicle. The disabled hunter may bring a companion to assist; however, the companion is not permitted to carry the firearm, hunt, or attempt to drive deer into this special hunting site area.

A pre-hunt meeting will be required of selected hunters on Nov. 28 at 2 p.m., when hunters will be assigned a section in the spe-cial hunting area. The assigned areas are located in the campground loops that are closed for the winter. The person can then hunt from a non-moving vehicle or move about the assigned area in a wheelchair or on foot. The park staff has created an opportunity for a safe, quality outdoor experience.

Rocky Gap State Park is located in Allegany County, off Interstate 68 at exit 50. For more information on this disabled hunters program or other facilities that are disabled accessible, call the Rocky Gap State Park office at 301-777-2139.

Maryland Made With Pride

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

Autumn is truly a glorious visual experience in Garrett County. But another thing to consider, beyond the colors, are the "sounds" of autumn in Garrett County. With the roar of summer diminished, you'll be able to hear things such as ducks in symphony, an occasional loon, geese in transit, crows in conversation, docks shifting with a gentle wake or wind, barking dogs, screaming blue jays, a single whining outboard motor, a car on a gravel road, a train in the distance, the soft sounds of cattle, etc. Enjoy them.

ARCHERY SEASON IN FULL SWING

Archery season has been in for a couple of weeks now. Some successful archers include Brent Stemple, who took a nice buck in the White Church area, Craig Collins, who took a buck off Boiling Springs Road, and Rick Paugh, who was successful in the same area.

YOUNG SHARPSHOOTER

Eight-year-old T.J. Sisler has been competing quite successfully with the adults at the weekend shooting matches held at the Shady Dell road range. Two weeks ago, T.J. won four of 10 matches shooting a 541S Remington. Young T.J. has also just recently taken the hunter safety course conducted by the Department of Natural Resources at Herrington Manor State Park. His dad, Tim Sisler, said that he was very pleased with the instruction T.J. had received in firearm safety, hunter responsibility, and conservation from the rangers and volunteers conducting the course. Parents and would-be hunters can get information on when and where hunter safety programs are being held by calling the DNR. It is a good idea for experienced hunters to consider attending one of these courses as a refresher in safety afield.

OUTDOORS ON THE INTERNET

Outdoor enthusiasts with access to a computer can peruse an increasing number of web sites oriented to the field sports. Field and Stream magazine sponsors a site at http://www.fieldandstream.com, and the National Rifle Association has a site at http://www.NRA.org. As we become aware of more related sites on the Internet, we will pass them along.

MORE BEAR SIGHTINGS

Just last week, a mother and four cubs visited Penn Cove Road. Residents commented that the cubs were at least the size of a large dog and the sow probably stood as high as a man. As we move into October, the area's black bears will be naturally preparing for hibernation. How soon they actually begin the hibernation process is very much dependent on weather and food supply. A scarcity of food or an early touch of winter with snow covering the remaining food supply will trigger an early hibernation. Consider, bears in the deep south with mild weather year-round don't hibernate at all.

NO LONGER LURKING on the bottom of Broadford Lake is this 44-inch tiger muskie, which was caught recently by John Dees, Swanton, and establishes a new Garrett County record for that species. The fish, which weighed 22 pounds, four ounces, was slightly smaller than the state record fish (26 pounds, 12 ounces), which was caught in the Potomac River. Dees was trolling Broadford Lake with a plug when he snared the beast.

However, here in Garrett County, they do. And, until they do, they will be actively feeding to build up their body fat, as this is what they will live on for the next three or four months.

FALL FISHING BONANZA

Many experienced fly fishermen look forward to this time of year, as it brings some of the best fly fishing conditions of the year to the rivers and streams of Garrett

●The Christmas decoration fund is still open for donations. Volunteers are needed to make pine rope.

●The DNR will do linuted tree trimming in town.

●The town is seeking resources for planning assistance in the design of the town park.

●Town sidewalks will be repaired this week.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 21.

GRANTSVILLE

The town meeting was held Monday, Oct. 6.

●Candy [illegible]erly, member of the Grantsville [illegible]ning Commission and president of the Greater [illegible]ville Business Association, reported on her attendance at the "Main Street" seminar, sponsored by the [illegible]nd Downtown Development Association, last week in Oakland. She noted that Grantsville is "on track" with its planning and growth designs. She also suggested some ways in which the town could improve its appearance and promote its businesses.

●A survey of low and moderate levels of income will be sent out to all town residents. The information sought through this survey is needed to update statistics on file with the Community Development Block Grant program. Results of the survey will affect all future block grant applications made on behalf of the town. Everyone is encouraged to respond to this survey.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 20.

"Andrew Friend is now buried behind a convenience store," Calhoun said. "If we had been given the opportunity in a public hearing to voice concerns, I know this would have been one."

Spear was present at the meeting as well and defended his new business.

"The only thing dividing my business from the town is Rt. 42. I'm not thousands of feet away from the town," he said. "And every permit I have needed has been issued -- they didn't require public hearings."

John Nelson, director of Garrett County Office of Planning and Zoning, said at the time the permits were sought, there were no recommendations in place for public hearings. The county ordinances that were passed this summer, however, would "more address Mr. Calhoun's concerns," he said. "When these permits were issued, though, the regulations were not in effect."

Calhoun disagreed, however, asserting that the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) has certain mandates as well, one of which is the requirement of a public hearing in such a case.

"So what it comes down to is a legal thing," said Commissioner Roger Glotfelty. "We need to have our lawyer go over some of these documents and issues to determine if a public hearing was overlooked."

Calhoun said that he has hired a lawyer and will be present at the water and sewer amendment hearing, which is a regular event set by the county in order approve or reject various projects.

After an hour of discussion, Chairman Glotfelty said the commissioners would direct the county attorney to examine the issue.

Mini-Seminar For Women Set By Crellin AOG

A Christian women's mini-seminar, open to all interested women, will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 15, and Thursday, Oct. 16, at the Crellin Community Building. The topic for the seminar is "Tiaras, Trophies and Tantrums: Personality Profiles."

Sponsored by the women's ministry group of the Crellin Assembly of God Church, the seminar's featured speaker will be Rosa Maria Faulkner of Wilmington, Del. Faulkner will be teaching about personality profiles. A certified personality trainer and graduate of CLASS - the Christian Leaders, Authors and Speakers Seminar - Faulkner has addressed over 500 groups in speaking engagements around the country.

The Oct. 15 meeting will begin at 7 p.m. The next day's meeting will begin at 9 a.m., break for a noon lunch provided by the women's group, and then reconvene until a 3 p.m. closing. Babysitting will be provided throughout the seminar by the women's ministry group.

This mini-seminar is free, but reservations are required and may be made by calling either 301-334-8763 or 301-334-8814.

Women's Club Sets Luncheon

The Christian Women's Club will host a luncheon on Wednesday, Oct. 15, at Will O'the Wisp, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

The featured guest speaker will be Rosa Marie Faulkner from Wilmington, Del., who has addressed over 500 groups in her spoken word ministry.

Susan Parker will provide tips on health and fitness, and music will be provided by Evie Fike of Oakland.

The luncheon cost is $7.50 and persons interested in making reservations may call Penny Hughes at 301-387-6138. A free nursery will be provided.

commercial district. The home has a cross-gabled roof and Italianate styling. The house was constructed around 1873 and was the home to three historically significant people from Kingwood: James H. Carroll, Carleton Custer Pierce, and J. Donald "Happy" Everly.

The history of the house began with James Hawley Carroll, an important player in the political and economic history of Kingwood and Preston County where he practiced law, served as postmaster and clerk of the court, and founded the Preston County Herald. His family owned the home until 1916 when it was sold to Carleton Custer Pierce and his wife.

Pierce was a military man who was transferred to Kingwood by Governor W.M.O. Dawson, a Kingwood native, to oversee and establish the National Guard installation later named Camp Dawson in honor of the governor. During World War II he was charged with the operation of Selective Service in West Virginia.

Pierce's family owned the home until 1963 when it was sold to J. Donald "Happy" Everly and his wife Glendolyn. Everly was a driving force in the social, political, and educational arenas. He was part owner of The Inn on Main Street and later bought the West Virginia Northern Railroad. He was actively involved in many community and civic organizations throughout his life.

In historic preservation, a building site may be deemed historically significant for architecture, an historic event, a significant person, or for archaeology. The Carroll house would easily be significant for architecture and three historic figures. For many properties, only one of the criteria are met. The Carroll house is significant in three different and consecutive historic periods for different reasons. This is rarely heard of in preservation. The house was the residence of three men who shaped the history of Kingwood, Preston County, West Virginia, and the United States. Kingwood should be proud that these men are part of its history because much of their work is still a part of our everyday lives.

The Carroll house's future is in jeopardy. A developer has purchased the property with intentions to sell or develop the site. Many concerned citizens are working to find a sympathetic buyer to turn the property into a residence, a bed and breakfast, or a commercial operation that would retain the house and the lot. If anyone is interested in the property, please contact Main Street Kingwood at 304-329-2717.

Bryan Ward
Executive Director
Main Street Kingwood

To the Editor:

For the past several weeks, I have read the views (both pro and con) regarding the proposed "interstating" of highway 219. Each side accuses the other of making false statements to prove his/her point.

Well, there is another side to this issue that has not (as yet), been discussed. As a former resident of urban Pittsburgh, who now lives in highly vacation oriented Kissimmee, Florida (near Orlando), I can tell you that rural Garrett County is a welcome relief from the crime and drug scenes that prevail in those areas. There are several four-lane highways in western Pennsylvania, and central Florida (Kissimmee/St. Cloud/Orlando) has four-lane roads crisscrossing each other. They have several interstates.

Pittsburgh's crimes of murder, robbery, and rape have increased. Florida leads in just about every conceivable crime, thanks to the abundance of super highways, so, while the proposed 219 interstate will bring business to the area, you may not like the variety that shows up. Also, it is very likely that some of those businesses (many undesirable) will import employees rather than hire local folks.

The idea has been presented that people traveling north to south and back will stop over in "beautiful" Garrett County for a couple of days or for the weekend. What a misguided view that is, I can assure you. As a retired person who travels back and forth between Garrett County and Osceola County, Florida, I can attest to the true facts in this matter. Most of us stop off at motor inns for a night's rest, as close to the interstate as possible, and have little interest in touring the area overnight. If we desire to stay a few days in some well-known tourist attraction area, we quickly regain our senses and keep going rather than stop in "traveler's zoos" that lay in waiting to snatch purses, break into and steal cars, and even rob people (sometimes at gun point) in and around their motel rooms. We have, due to the need for rest, gotten off the 1-95 (north/south interstate) for food and fuel at some popular areas, only to find that they had become honky tonks of restaurants, gas stations, bars and junk stores. Now we tend to avoid such areas and stop instead at less glitzy areas for comfort, peace and quiet.

The fact is, that as development (which may be desired) occurs, a rural area transforms into an urban area, complete with an abundance of undesirable elements that you have never seen (or dreamed of) in Garrett County. Look at it this way, I spend 4 to 5 months each summer living in Garrett County. You folks live here all year. Every year! You must decide if you want your beloved county to remain rural and one of the most beautiful mountain regions in the country, or if you prefer to "prostitute" and "rape" the area in the name of urban progress.

It has been said that "young natives" leave here to seek better employment elsewhere. That happens in all parts of the United States, urban as well as rural. It is my view that if you allow Garrett County to become a "tourist trap," more than young people will leave here. The rest of you might move away to escape the destruction of once wonderful Garrett County.

As for existing businesses in the area, keep this in mind, people going east-west (such as those visitors from Baltimore, Washington, and Virginia) are younger and looking for fun. Folks going north-south are older, and will zip past this area like "a starship" in a hurry.

By the way, the powers that be have already created an accident-prone death trap along certain areas of Garrett County, primarily at the Mosaer/Bumble Bee, Deep Creek extension and 219 intersection. The same is true in and around Glendale Road. People are crossing solid white lines and using them as passing lanes at these dangerous intersections that you must travel to go north or south. There need to be signs reducing speeds at those points, identifying them as dangerous intersections. The state should also paint right-turn signs in the shoulder before the intersections. There have been several serious accidents in those areas and more will occur.

By now you are asking what this has to do with "interstating" 219? The point is, the "wizards" that created this monster should solve this disaster before they create a new mess by making 219 an interstate. In my estimation, Interstate 68, allowing other citizens of Maryland to enjoy what you have to offer, is all that Garrett County needs. There are some creatures living in Florida (who make crime a business) that you wouldn't want to have pass by, let alone stop and visit.

So think it over carefully my friends. The bottom line is...the decision is yours. You vote here...incoming trouble does not. Tell the politicians to cease and desist from what will become a horrible mistake.

Dove Center Asks For Public Action Against Domestic Violence

By Debbie Holler
Shelter Coordinator, DVSARC

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. The staff of the Dove Center/Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center(DVSARC) would like to take this opportunity to encourage everyone to get involved in the effort to end domestic violence. Domestic violence is not a private matter that should be handled within the family. It is a public problem that affects the entire community in many ways.

Economically, domestic violence results in time lost from work and decreased productivity at work. Domestic violence also results in more families on public assistance and medical treatment billed to medical cards paid for by taxpayers.

Let's not forget that domestic violence is a crime and should be treated as such. The domestic violence cases that are reported to law enforcement agencies result in hours of work by the Oakland City Police, Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Maryland State Police. If charges are filed, the cases then occupy the time of court commissioners, the state's attorney's office, court clerks, judges, and the Department of Parole and Probation. If we could end domestic violence, these officials could use their time in other ways.

Domestic violence always affects the children in the family. Even if the children are not directly abused, they suffer from witnessing the abuse of a parent. Living in a violent home is stressful and frightening for the children. When children grow up in a violent environment, there is an increased chance that they will be in violent situations as adults. Violence is often passed from generation to generation in this way. We need to break this cycle of violence by taking a stand against domestic violence.

We need to let victims know that they deserve to live without abuse and help is available. The community as a whole should let abusers know that domestic violence will not be tolerated. Everyone needs to realize that this is a serious problem and work to help end it.

There are many ways that we can help end domestic violence. If you see or hear domestic violence occurring, call the police and report it. You do not have to give your name or any information about yourself if you choose to remain anonymous. If you know someone who is being abused, tell her/him that help is available and give her/him the phone number of the Dove Center/DVSARC, 301--334-9000. If you know or suspect a child is being abused, re-port it to the police or the Department of Social Services.

You can also get involved by volunteering your time at the Dove Center/Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Resource Center in a variety of ways. Volunteers take calls on a 24-hour hotline for victims who need assistance and/or do fund-raising for the program. If you are interested in volunteering, call the Dove Center/DVSARC at 301-334-9000. Of course, the agency also accepts monetary donations to the program. The Dove Center/DVSARC is a non-profit organization, so your donation will be tax deductible. Donations may be sent to: The Dove Center/ DVSARC P.O. Box 531 Oakland, MD 21550.

There are many reasons why we need to work to end domestic violence. The best reason is simply because it is wrong, and no one should have to live with abuse. You can make a difference. Please help in whatever way you can. If each person makes an effort, we can work together to stop domestic violence.

"I wanted to take this opportunity to let you know how much we appreciated the service of First United National Bank & Trust during our difficult transition . . ."

Taking care of the customer, and doing it right, is what we are committed to doing at First United. Whether it's helping to balance your checkbook, to finance your dream home or to help with the transition from one life stage to another.

Nancy and Allen Barr can attest to First United's promise of taking care of the customer. For over 25 years they have been customers of the Bank. When Allen's company relocated him and his family to the Oakland area, they needed a financial institution to take care of their needs. What they found instead was a financial partner that would see them through the years. Nancy says, "First United offered us friendly, personal service every time."

Recently, the Barr family embarked on a new chapter of their life—moving to Lynchburg, Virginia. With this move brought several financial needs, all of which First United was happy to assist. The letter at left expresses the Barr's gratitude toward First United.

Feasibility Study

Corridor H, which utilizes Route 219 from Elkins, to Davis, W.Va."

Criss Kepple Sweitzer, chairperson of the Garrett County Economic Development Corporation, added that "at our meeting with the secretary last July we asked him to look at the area east of the existing 219 north also. That area is primarily composed of reclaimed surface mine land and fields. We felt that the use of that area for a multi-lane north/south highway would have much less impact on the Grantsville community than utilizing the existing 219 north roadway," she said.

"The response from the secretary was terrific," Kepple commented. "He has included that area in the scope of work for the consultant to evaluate."

When asked about the recent reports of advocates for improvements to US Route 220 and how that may impact on this project, Moe said, "We have and continue to support the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce's efforts to secure funding for the two lane straightening/realignment of Route 220 north to the Pennsylvania state line. Route 220 North of I-68 is a documented dangerous roadway which must be corrected and that project in no-way competes with Route 219 for state monies."

According to Moe, highway construction projects go through an internal SHA four-step process and Route 220 north is at step four (waiting for construction monies) while Route 219 is just beginning. The SHA four step process is 1) project planning, 2) preliminary engineering, 3) right-of-way acquisition and 4) construction.

The Route 220 north project is now awaiting construction funds of approximately $40 million, a major portion of which must come from the federal government via the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) reauthorization, tabled in congressional committee until next March.

"The key to western Maryland's and our tri-state region's success in this reauthorization is our mutual cooperation," Moe said. [Route] 219 is relatively centrally located between Cumberland and Bruceton Mills, W.Va. Preston County just purchased a considerable amount of land bordering Interstate 68 near Bruceton Mills for an industrial development park. Cumberland is approximately 15 miles east of [Route] 219 at Grantsville. Converting 219 to a north/south interstate highway makes sense geographically, and with the planned improvements around Meyersdale [Pa.] and Corridor H in West Virginia it [also] makes sense economically," he said.

"Neither the state nor the federal government is going to build two north/south interstate highways within 15 miles of each other," Moe added.

The results of the consultants' Route 219 North feasibility study are due in the spring of 1998.

A BITTER-SWEET AUCTION was held Saturday at Matthews Grocery Store in Accident. Everything within the building, which housed a market for over 157 years and the home of Joseph Matthews since 1945, and the building itself would go on the block that day. Under the perfect blue October sky, people from across the street and across the state gathered for the event. Former residents came home to Garrett County for the occasion knowing that when they left they would take a bit of Garrett County history with them. Advertisements designed to sell products decades ago, wooden egg crates, and wooden cases for coke bottles were among the items bid for by antique collectors. Auctioneer Brent Fretz, pictured on the right, started taking bids at 9 a.m. and didn't stop until 7 p.m. when everything had been sold. A total of 307 bid numbers were used during the sale. "I said 'sold' 941 times that day," Fretz said. There were hands to help him with the truck-loads of merchandise. On the right, Gary Fretz, member of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and father of the auctioneer, is pictured displaying a watering can with original labels still on it. The building was not sold that day and still awaits a new owner.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Formally Yours

Formally Yours, located in Accident, is the newest source for formal wear in Western Maryland and is committed to making weddings, proms, or other special occasions more affordable.

Part owner Maggie School says, "We begin by offering large discounts on all new formal wear, including wedding gowns and bridal veils, bridesmaid dresses, prom gowns, mother-of-the-bride dresses, and evening wear. This includes all bridal accessories such as garters, satin or silk card baskets and flower arrangements, ring bearer pillows, flower girl baskets, even reception shoes. These accessories are all uniquely handmade and special ordered to your taste. Discounted wedding invitations are also available. While you will find many new gowns and dresses to choose from, one thing you won't find at Formally Yours are those expensive, department store tags attached to our cloths."

School explains that prices are dropped again on all items that have been worn once, also known as consignments. The selection of consignment clothing ranges from seasonal fashions (summer/winter apparel) or business attire to evening dresses and wedding gowns. All consignment items are ready-to-wear right off the rack. She says they accept formal wear and/or accessories on consignment, but they must be in excellent condition and dry cleaned first. "Ask us about local dry cleaning discounts," School suggests.

The final price cut is made on formal wear rentals for women. Wedding gowns and prom dresses can be rented for half of the sale price. Wedding shoes can even be rented. Tuxedo rentals for both men and boys, beginning at size 4, are also available.

"It's about time that we have an opportunity to select from hundreds of gorgeous, designer clothes without having to obtain a part-time job to pay for them," some customers of Formally Yours have said.

"If you've ever been in the position of trying to find a bargain and look great, you know what they mean," School says. "Now women have the chance to find that extraordinary dress, feel great and look fantastic without spending a fortune," she adds.

School says the staff at Formally Yours invites everyone to stop by any Thursday or Friday evening between 6:00 and 8:00 p.m., or Saturdays from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. If these hours aren't convenient, Formally Yours can be reached at 301-746-7135 to arrange an appointment that will fit the client's schedule.

Formally Yours is easily accessible on Garrett Highway (Rt. 219) 5.5 miles south of Interstate 68 on the left. From Deep Creek Lake or Oakland, Formally Yours is on Rt. 219, 1 mile north of Accident on the right.

FORMALLY YOURS - Maggie School, part owner of Formally Yours, shows some of the many clothing items offered for sale or rent at the store located near Accident. For more information, those interested may call 301-746-7135.

Dr. Dan Miller & Staff welcome Jeanette Sweitzer, MSN, CRNP, Family Practice Nurse Practitioner

ABOUT NURSE PRACTITIONERS

Nurse practitioners are licensed in the State of Maryland and in all 50 states to provide care for patients in their specialty. Jeanette Sweitzer, MSN, CRNP, comes to our practice having recently taken her certification boards as a certified Family Practice Nurse Practitioner.

JEANETTE'S ROLE IN OUR PRACTICE

Jeanette, like all family practice certified nurse practitioners, is qualified to examine, order testing, diagnose, treat, and write prescriptions for her patients. Jeanette will treat geriatric, adult, pediatric and infant patients in our practice. Also trained in gynecological examinations, she will offer breast exams and pap tests as well.

ABOUT JEANETTE

Jeanette, a fifth generation Garrett County resident, has recently married Steve Verkouteren, a local physical therapist. Jeanette graduated from Marymount University, Arlington, Virginia, in August 1997 with a Master of Science degree in Nursing, as a Family Practice Nurse Practitioner. She received her B.S. degree in nursing from Davis & Elkins College, Elkins, WV. in 1998. Jeanette has been a nurse since 1980.

Dr. Dan Miller is pleased to welcome Jeanette Sweitzer to his practice as a highly qualified and capable Family Nurse Practitioner.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Too often, I've had people tell me what a nightmare their house-building projects had turned out to be, after setting out to build the house of their dreams.

"Some dream!," they said, telling me their budget restrictions made them think they couldn't afford to hire a contractor to do the work for them. If only they had known.

One young couple came to me recently -- not yet having even recuperated from realizing their dream! -- asking for my recommendations. After all, so much time, energy and money had already been spent, they now could not afford to walk away from the project. And the bad planning and implementation of their wishes had resulted in a structure that fell far below what they had envisioned the resale value would be.

So they were left with an unsatisfactory house, forced to pick up the pieces and somehow rediscover what they had seen in their heads the day they stood together with great expectations on their newly purchased piece of land.

Let's make one thing clear: These are pretty average people. And they are not stupid. Naive, maybe, but not stupid.

I know another woman who, having had the greatest faith in her husband who had convinced her he could build a house for a certain amount of money, entertains thoughts every day of giving up the constant struggle to MAKE HER HOUSE WORK and go live in a tepee because, well, they're more structurally sound than the structure she's been fighting with for over 20 years. Now divorced and working two jobs (sometimes three), she is still paying for that blind faith after having refinanced her mortgage twice.

Her mortgage payments are now low enough for her to make, but there's no money left over to fix the original mistakes that now manifest themselves in her dilapidated, even hazardous, home with spaces that don't work and aren't even used and other spaces that are inadequate. Selling it, she tells me, would barely pay off the mortgage.

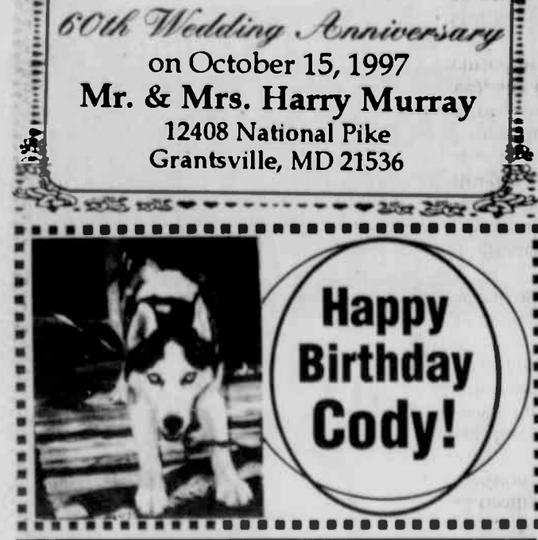
She has learned a very expensive lesson, and she'll be the first one to tell you that if she had hired a contractor to build her home (even with her limited budget), she would have already had a mortgage burning party by now -- instead of the house-burning party she still contemplates from time to time!

I know, I know. There are people out there who can do just about anything with no money, no training and no experience, but, let's face it, we're not all so blessed. And, by the way, I doubt that woman would have trusted her husband (with no mechanical experience) to build her car.

The truth is that many smart people have mistakenly taken on projects they weren't qualified to handle and ended up spending more money than if they had worked closely with the right professionals to get the results they wanted within their budget boundaries.

Even when non-professionals decide to be their own contractors and hire someone else to build their house for them, they often end up with nightmares in the form of liability/insurance issues, and find out (too late) that they spent far more money and time than they should have because they didn't have the best knowledge about building products and materials.

A reputable established general contractor will normally save the homeowner the cost of his fee during the construction process. An experienced contractor acting in the homeowner's behalf will help:



- Control cost
- Explore alternatives
- Control the schedule of the work
- Control the sequence of the work
- Handle surprise conditions
- Coordinate the work
- Expedite changes
- Get permits
- Ensure safety
- Control workmanship quality
- Ensure Building Code compliance
- Conduct tests and inspections

Whether for a life of comfort and enjoyment or purely as an investment, a house should satisfy all your dream requirements for a very long time. There are enough nightmares in life, folks. Your house should never be one of them.

Retirees Honored At Board Of Ed. Annual Dinner

The Garrett County Board of Education recently held its annual dinner to honor employees who retired during or at the end of last school year.

Superintendent Wendell Teets, along with board members Charlotte Sebold, James Raley, and Dale Carpenter, greeted the retirees during the social hour, which preceded the dinner held at the Will O' the Wisp.

Following the dinner the retirees were introduced and remarks concerning their careers with the board of education were given by their most recent supervisors. Each retiree was presented a certificate and a Board of Education pin.

Honored guests included former superintendent Jerome Ryscavage, his secretary, Lucille Ludvigsen, cafeteria workers June Holtschneider and Yvonne Collier, and custodian Ruth Lantz.

Supervisors of these retirees who attended the event included Peggy Garlitz, Larry Schroyer, and Michael Sines.

Retirees not able to attend the evening's activities included former board of education member Hannah Sincell; administrators Paul Harr and Edward Green; teachers Ruth Myers, Helen Fowler, and Joanne Harris; guidance counselor Ron Kuhn; instructional assistants Mamie Wilt and Jeri Kahl; secretary N. Jean Eberly; and cafeteria workers Nancy Cutter and Charlotte Fike.

The annual event is coordinated by the Personnel Department under the direction of Henrietta M. Lease.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Air Force Tech. Sgt. Richard A Niner has received a bachelor's degree from Wayland Baptist University, Plainview, Texas, in occupational education.

While on active duty, military members are encouraged to further their education through off-duty programs. Many educational programs for service members are subsidized through tuition assistance or veterans' benefits.

Niner, who graduated with honors from the university, is a maintenance systems analyst with the 3rd Logistics Support Squadron at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska.

The son of Elmer R. and Peggy L. Niner, Oakland, the sergeant is a 1981 graduate of Southern High School.

Real estate, real easy.

REFILLABLE
ONE MORE TIME

On a written prescription your physician will sometimes indicate that you may have it refilled for a certain specified number of times. He has based this on whether it is a medicine that can legally be refilled and if so, over what time period.

When we first dispense this prescription to you we will mention if it has been marked refillable and then when the last refill has been given we will advise you of that fact. To facilitate getting a prescription refilled you should always have the number and the date handy when you call.

The game is almost over, and this is the critical moment. The final score hangs on what Ken does with that ball. If he is successful, he will be the hero of the day. If he isn't, people may not entirely blame him, but even so...

Throughout our lives, even if we never touch a football, we cannot avoid coming up against moments when the "final score" depends upon our actions.

Decision-making is never easy, especially when the decision involves others as well as ourselves, and major decisions almost always do. This is when we need a place to go where we can empty our hearts and souls and let the peace and understanding which is God's flow into us...that place is the church.

Background Scripture:
Daniel 3
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 27:7-14

"And they all lived happily ever after."

Chapter one of the Book of Daniel left us under the impression that Daniel and his three friends could look forward to that kind of future. But then we come to Daniel 3 and the whole picture has changed once again.

Just when we had assumed that Daniel had won the King's permission to practice their faith without prohibition, Nebu-chadnezzar puts their faith to a new trial. Everyone in his kingdom, he decrees, must fall down and worship a monstrous gold statue he has had erected. Whether the statue is of himself or of a god, we do not know, but Shadrech, Meshach and Abednego realize that once again they are being commanded to adulterate their faith in God. To worship this idol or whomever it stands for is a blatant denial of their commitment to the Lord.

First of all, let us recognize in their situation a lesson all of us have to learn: no earthly victory is ever permanent. The victory they had won in Daniel 1 did not last long. So it is with us, too. Many of us go through life thinking that if only this or that were to happen, life would be happy and wonderful.

During World War II many of us prayed with the expectation that victory would solve all the world's problems. Well, we won the war but immediately slid into 40 some years of conflict with Communism. Many of us then prayed for the denuse of Communism. If only we could free the world of Communism... So Conununism fell, but the world is much the same as before.

NO GUARANTEE

So, not long after the victory of chapter one comes the new crisis of chapter three—just as in our lives, too.

Once again, then, the faith of Shadrach, Meshech and Abednego is challenged. (Where s Daniel in all this? The writer of Daniel is mysteriously silent about Daniel in this matter.) We must admire their faith. They had no guarantee that God would save them as he had in the first crisis. He had not told them that, if they remained faithful to him, he would get them out of this trap.

Responding to the King's thundering threats, they say, "Our God is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace: and he will deliver us out of your hand. O king. But if not, be it known to you, O king, that we will not serve your gods or worship the golden image which you have set up" (3:17,18). Their loyal refusal to worship the golden image was not based on the expectation that God would save them from the consequences. That God could save them, they had no doubt; that he would save, they did not know—and it would not matter.

DELIVERANCE

We know now what they could not know: that God would save them from the fiery furnace. But we also know that, of the millions of people who have been challenged to give up their faith at the pain of death, the overwhelming majority of them have not been delivered from the consequences of their faith. Our God can save us. But we cannot be certain that he will. The only guarantee that we get from him is that he will be with us when we suffer for his sake. Even if that suffering ends in death.

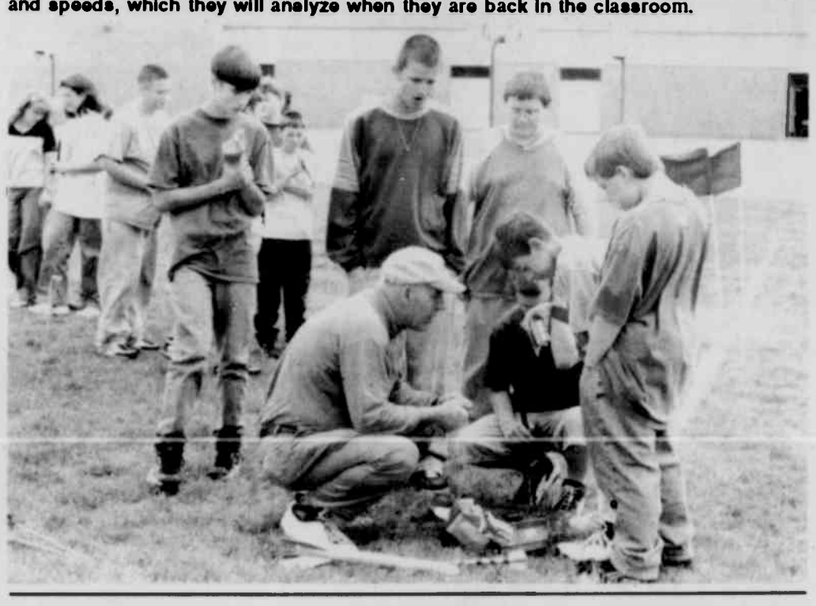
Isn't this what the cross teaches us? We are called to remain faithful to him in any crisis, not because we are assured that he will save us from paying the consequences, but that he will be with us in the midst of those consequences and that he will make us victorious in a way that no escape in the nick of time can.

"Who is the god that will deliver you out of my hands," the king taunts the three Jews. What he didn't realize is that because of their faith in God they were never in his hands.

Career Planning Class Scheduled By New Horizons

The New Horizons Program, the New Dimensions Program, and The Caring Connection, three grant-funded programs sponsored by Garrett Community College which provide services for single parents, homemakers, displaced homemakers, and single pregnant and parenting adolescents, will offer a class titled "Career Planning" beginning Monday, Oct. 20. The class is offered over a five-week period, meeting twice weekly on Monday and Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. at the McHenry Campus of GCC.

According to a New Horizons spokesperson, this career assessment course is designed for individuals to identify their training needs and to prepare for employment. Topics to be covered during the five-week course include: personal assessment complete with interest, skills, and career testing, learning style evaluation, career information, training or retraining opportunities, resume writing, job applications, job search strategies, and interviewing techniques.



Participants of the three grant programs, as well as the public in general, are encouraged to take this class before pursuing other vocational training. Tuition assistance is available to those qualifying for any of the three grant programs. Transportation/ child care assistance may also be available to income-eligible single parents, displaced homemakers, and pregnant and parenting teens through the three grant programs.

Interested persons may register for the Career Planning class through the New Horizons office. Information on eligibility for the three programs and their services, as well as tuition availability, may be obtained by calling New Horizons at 301-387-3071 or 301-387-3102, or New Dimensions or The Caring Connection at 301-387-3103 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The three grant programs are located at the McHenry campus of Garrett Community College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education in Room 302.

The New Horizons Program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and Garrett Community College. Grant funds made available to the program through Career and Technology Education comprise 89% of the total program budget, with Garrett Community College contributing 11% of the total program budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources, Women's Services Division.

By Peggy Santamaria

Eighth grade students at Southern Middle School have been taking education to new heights -- literally.

In the technology education curriculum, introduction to rocketry, taught by Bruce Bagwell, the students learn math and physics while building and launching rockets. Bagwell said there are many reasons for offering this course. "This supports so many other parts of the curriculum," he explained. A brief time in the classroom made this very apparent.

Rockets of many sizes, shapes, and colors lined a table in the instruction area. Their real life counterparts were pictured on the wall. The senses were easily activated while in Mr. B's class area. One may find it hard to resist picking up the rockets and puzzling over unknown gadgets lying there.

It was a very windy day when I visited the class, but the winds were not exceeding 20 mph, which, Bagwell explained, is the maximum wind force allowed for rocket launching according to the National Association of Rocketry regulations.

The students were introduced to and became familiar with this code at the beginning of the semester. "It lists all the dos and don'ts of rocketry," Bagwell said.

Wind velocity having been established to be within code guidelines, the choice was made of the rocket that would best perform in the gusty conditions. "We'll launch the Phoenix," he said, referring to a white model standing 24 inches tall. "It is a scale model of the Phoenix missile," he added.

Before going out to the launch pad (athletic fields) there was some classroom review. This included words like angular distance, baseline, and apogee. The students just took it in stride.

During a launch, the students time and track the movement of the rocket to establish height reached, average rate of speed, and peak speed, among other things. They use stop watches and blue plastic tools that are held like guns. These have sight and triggers. When the trackers see the rocket throw out a parachute, they sight it, then pull and release the triggers. The angle of apogee is recorded.

The field work set-up included two altitude trackers and two timers. "There are two of us so if we get different numbers, like one gets 28 and the other gets 32, we take an average. Sometimes we get the same number," Ashley Keeys, one of the timers, explained.

Ashley thinks the class is pretty interesting. Would she teach this way if it were her class? "Yes, because you're doing something but you're learning something at the same time," she said.

Josh Beckman, charged with tracking the flight of the Phoenix, agreed with Ashley. "It's pretty much fun," he said. Had he expected that he would be learning physics in the eighth grade? "Oh, yeah," was his easy response.

Out in the field the wind was brisk. Not unlike problems faced by NASA preparing for blast-off, there was a problem with the launching device at SMS.

After a return to the classroom, and a check of the battery cables, things finally looked ready for blast-off. The engines fired, A plume of white smoke shot out, and the Phoenix was aloft.

After the mission was accomplished, back in the classroom, using tables of tangents and calculators, the students began charting information. They were figuring angles, speeds, converting miles per hour to feet per second, and discussing the outcomes.

An observer sitting in the classroom at a student desk could easily see that there was a lot of learning going on. The students seemed to be absorbing information through all sorts of senses.

Bruce Bagwell's introduction to rocketry offers the students an active involvement in learning some difficult concepts. His hands-on approach makes physics a lot less intimidating. Now that is an accomplishment.

Tax Workshop Set For Forest Landowners

The Forest Conservancy district boards of Allegany and Garrett counties will present a full-day workshop on tax issues for forest landowners Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Center for Career and Technical Education in Cresaptown.

The course will be taught by Dr. Harry L. Haney Jr. of Virginia Tech., Blacksburg, Va. Preregistration is required and can be arranged by contacting the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Forest Service at either 301-777-2137 or 301-334-3296 before Oct. 10. Course fees will be subsidized, in part, by the Allegany and Garrett county forestry boards in cooperation with the Maryland Tree Farm Committee, DNR, and the Society of American Foresters.

Haney is a renown expert in the field of timber taxation issues. Since 1975, he has served as Garland Gray Professor of Forestry at Virginia Tech, Blacksburg. He has taught and organized over 410 short courses, seminars, and workshops on timber taxation, estate planning, forest finance, and management of private timberlands.

The author of over 135 technical publications on forestry, Haney's consulting experience includes investment analysis, forest finance applications, timber income tax, estate planning, and service as an expert witness.

The Oct. 25 workshop is designed for forest landowners, forest land managers, consultant foresters, accountants, and others who work with matters concerning timber tax management.

The course will provide information on the major federal income tax aspects of timber resource management. Haney will emphasize the implication of recent tax changes for timber investment, marketing and management planning, and federal income tax reporting.

Participants will each receive a 200-page workbook of reference material, forms, and related information covered in the course.

The workshop will provide discussion time and review recent court decisions, IRS regulations, and administrative rulings concerning timber business and investments.

The course will provide six hours of Category 1 Continuing Forestry Education credit as recognized by the Society of American Foresters, and seven hours of CPE credit as recognized by the Virginia Board of Accountancy.

GCMH Board Elects New Officers

NEW BOARD OFFICERS – Garratt County Memorial Hospital has elected new officers to its board of governors for the 1997-99 term. Pictured from left, seated, are Mary Lantz, secretary, and Joyce Bishoff, chairperson. Standing are Jack Fridinger, vice chairperson, and Gene Helbig, treasurer.

Walter P. Donalson, CHE, president and CEO of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, has announced the election of officers to its board of governors for the 1997-99 term.

Serving as chairperson is Joyce Bishoff, who previously served in that position from 1983 to 1994. Bishoff replaces Donald Sincell, a 17-year member of the board who served as chairperson for the past three years. Bishoff is the owner of the Cocomo's ice cream and sandwich shops located at McHenry and Route 42 at Hoyes.

Jack Fridinger has been elected to the board as vice chairperson. Before his retirement after 33 years of service, Fridinger was employed as a general foreman in a research and development laboratory for the U.S. Navy Department. He is a presiding officer and Past Potentate of the Ali Ghan Shrine Temple in Cumberland and is active in most masonic bodies. He is also a member of the American Legion and is active in the Oakland Rotary Club.

Serving as secretary is Mary Lantz, who is employed as a certified public accountant with the law firm of Craig Ingram. She volunteers as a soccer coach with the Mt. Top Youth Soccer League and is a den leader for Cub Scout Pack #31.

Elected to the position of treasurer is Eugene Helbig Jr., who has been employed with First United National Bank and Trust since 1986 where he currently serves as senior vice president and senior trust officer. He is past president of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club and is a retired member of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, where he serves as treasurer.

"Garrett Memorial is very fortunate to have a board comprised of area residents who care about their community and the availability of healthcare services. Despite the constant changes occurring in the healthcare industry, we will continue to work to expand our services while preparing for the next century," said Donalson.

Friendsville UMW To Serve Dinner

The Friendsville United Methodist Women will sponsor their annual Harvest Dinner Saturday, Oct. 18, from 4 to 7 p.m. in the church social room. The menu will consist of: roast turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, green beans, sauerkraut, cranberry Jello salad, rolls, pumpkin pie or gingerbread, and beverage. Crafts and baked items will also be available.

Tickets will be sold at the door for $6 for adults and $3 for children under age 12. Carry-outs will be available.

New Negotiation Skills Course Slated At GCC

A negotiation skills class, designed to help participants build skills in negotiating contracts and in selling, will be offered at Garrett Community College, beginning Monday, Oct. 20. The instructor for the class will be Ken Perrin, postmaster of the Oakland post office.

Before becoming Oakland's postmaster in 1995, Perrin was involved in real estate and facilities work for the U.S. Postal Service and the General Services Administration for 24 years. In that capacity he managed real estate programs and projects in 35 states, ranging from small leased health offices on Indian reservations to acquiring sites for large postal plants in major markets. After leading the Postal Service's real estate program in Washington for a year, he requested a reassignment to become Oakland's postmaster. He has also started his own real estate consulting business.

Perrin serves as chairman of Oakland's Downtown Revitalization Committee, chairman of the Oakland Rotary Club's Community Services Committee, a vestry member at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, and as an ex-officio member of the Garrett County Economic Development Corporation.

Videos, text materials, and "hands-on" interaction will be used in the four-session class by Perrin to help participants strengthen their negotiation and sales skills. The class will meet October 20 and 27, and November 4 and 11, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the McHenry campus each evening. Persons wishing to register and/or obtain more information may telephone Sandy Major, Cathy Fazenbaker, or Julie Yoder at 301-387-3080.

Missionary To Visit St. John's

Rev. Kenneth Dobson, missionary to Thailand, will be sharing his experiences this Saturday, Oct. 11, at St. John's United Church of Christ in Salisbury, Pa.

Rev. Dobson, a native of Jacksonville, Ill, received his B.A. degree from Illinois College in 1962, and from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, he received his B.D. degree in 1965 and the S.T.M. degree iu 1970. In 1987 he received his D.Min. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N.J. He has served as executive director of the Christian Communications Institute at Payap Univ., Chiang Mai, Thailand. He was also assigned to the Pastoral Ministry Unit of the Church of Christ in Thailand, where he served as a pastor to pastors and director of spiritual life retreats.

A meeting is planned for the confirmands, mentors, and youth of the area at 1 p.m. A covered-dish meal is planned for 6 p.m., and those attending are asked to bring a meat or vegetable dish and a dessert. Place settings and beverage will be provided.

Following the meal Rev. Dobson plans to share the history, mission, and ministry of the Church of Christ in Thailand. Rev. Raymond Brown, host pastor, invites everyone to attend this special program.

Oakland High Class Of 1942 Holds Reunion

The Oakland High School Class of 1942 held its 55th class reunion recently at Will O'The Wisp on Deep Creek Lake. There was a total of 41 guests present, including 27 class members, their spouses and several guests. The guests were Betty Ridder Harsh, Kay Shaffer and the daughter of Vivian Sharpless.

The invocation was given by Anna Mae D. Cannon. A buffet dinner followed. A memorial service for deceased class members was conducted by Grace O. Ross. Since the 50th reunion in 1992, the class has lost eight more class members: Arthur Tichnell, Willa Browning Chambers, Louella Swartzentruber Miller, James Lyons, Nettie Mersing Blaugh, Ellwood Bevans, Geraldine Slonaker, and Edward Kahl.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Darl Bray. The members of the class decided to discontinue the five-year class reunions and join the OHS Alumni reunions that are held every year in August. Any monies left in the treasury after all expenses are met will be donated to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Class members William Graham, Gayle Shaffer, Robert Bittle, and Eugene Rook expressed appreciation to those who served on the committees through all the years to make the five-year class reunions successful. They also urged the class members to attend the OHS Alumni reunions each August.

Helen R. Bray thanked the 55th Class Reunion Committee for all their help on the 1997 reunion. Those serving on this committee were: Betty Ellen Shaffer, Ellwood Sanders, Anna Mae D. Cannon, Grace O. Ross, William Graham, Gayle Shaffer, Ward Ashby, Helen R. Bray, chair, Darl Bray, co-chair, Evelyn D. Steyer, secretary/treasurer, and extras Josephine R. Croft, Robert Bittle and Pauline H. Cooper. A special thank-you was expressed to Mary Shoemaker of LaVale for helping to make the table centerpieces.

Evelyn D. Steyer gave a history of the class beginning with the freshman year of 1938/39 through graduation in 1942. The class prophesies and legacies were also included in the history report.

Two selections from Wallace McRae's poems titled "Reincarnation" and "The Lease Hound" were recited by Darl Bray and added a bit of levity to the occasion. They were enjoyed by all.

Prizes were awarded by Bill and Midge Graham to Robert Gnegy and Pauline H. Cooper for married at youngest age and married the longest; Vivian E. Sharpless, traveled farthest; Robert Bittle, youngest child; and Charles Butts, most hair.

A "Memories of the 1940s" book was given to each class member attending the reunion. Ward Ashby, Martha and Ellwood Sanders, and Darl Bray helped staple the books together for their classmates to enjoy.

COVER STORY

Surgeons sing, dance in offbeat Chicago Hope

©TVData Features Syndicate

Adam Arkin

Felled by a cerebral aneurysm, Dr. Aaron Shutt (Adam Arkin) finds himself pondering his life and career in a surreal other world in "Brain Salad Surgery," an offbeat episode of Chicago Hope that attempts to seamlessly weave song and dance into the series' dramatic fabric.

The episode airs Wednesday, Oct. 15, on CBS.

"I don't want to overemphasize the musical elements," says executive producer Bill D'Elia, who also directs the episode, "because first and foremost it's a dramatic episode with a powerful story arc – and Adam is just incredible in it."

Concerned that the episode, written and originally scheduled to air last season, might have been perceived simply as a ploy to improve ratings, D'Elia tabled it until now, which also allowed more time for pre- and post-production work.

Especially critical, he knew, would be finding a choreographer who could ensure that the dance numbers would flow from – not interrupt – the dramatic situations.

He found his man in director-choreographer Kenny Ortega (Dirty Dancing), whose early mentor was Gene Kelly.

After story-planning meetings with D'Elia, Ortega met with the principal actors to determine their relative levels of dance experience and expertise. While some were more inherently adept than others, they all threw themselves eagerly into the work, he says.

"I remember Peter Berg (Dr. Billy Kronk) couldn't quite get one thing I had worked out, and finally the cast was going, 'Let's just do it Peter's way!' " Ortega says. "Mark Harmon (Dr. Jack McNeil) was so, so committed ... and Christine Lahti (Dr. Kathryn Austin) was so graceful and confident, she really could be a Broadway musical star. Among the best, though, Vondie Curtis-Hall and Rocky Carroll (who play Drs. Dennis Hancock and Keith Wilkes) just knocked me out with their work together.

"But Adam was defmitely the favorite of the gypsies," Ortega adds, referring to the professional dancers he brought in to augment the show's cast.

"I can't imagine why, unless they just enjoyed watching me hopelessly mess everything up," Arkin says. "No, seriously, we all enjoyed it so much that the hardest thing was going back to the usual stuff the following week. We want to do the musical stuff again – now!"

If Arkin appears to be in a mellow, upbeat mood, it reflects the fact that the cast of Chicago Hope finally feels like an ensemble smoothly working together as a team.

"It really wasn't like that the first year," he says, referring to the stormy freshman season, during which Chicago Hope began to focus on Mandy Patinkin's Emmy-winning Dr. Jeffrey Geiger (who returns for "Brain Salad Surgery").

Arkin also is glad that the media have stopped trumping up a nonexistent competition between his series and NBC's ER, the smash hit against which Chicago Hope originally was scheduled.

"Hey, I've reconciled myself that we aren't a phenomenon, which ER certainly is," Arkin says. "I guess we have to just settle for being a hit."

Cicely Tyson

Q: Last year in school we watched The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman. Was she a real person? I thought she wasn't, but my teacher said she was. –Curious Student via e-mail.

A: Your teacher is misinformed. While Cicely Tyson certainly brought Jane Pittman to vivid life, the TV movie, which won nine Emmys, was based on Ernest J. Gaines' epic novel of the same name.

Q: What happened to my favorite show, Crook & Chase? Will we see it again soon? –Donna, Flint, Mich.

A: The syndicated show ended on Sept. 26, but viewers can still catch Charlie Chase and Lorianne Crook on The Nashville Network.

Q: Please give us an update on the condition of figure skater Scott Hamilton. –Alice of East Haven, Conn.

A: Hamilton, who is battling testicular cancer, wrote a very moving and upbeat cover story on his condition for the Sept. 6 issue of People. For those who missed and can't find that issue, Hamilton's prognosis is still favorable after enduring initial chemotherapy. He returned to the ice in August and, while he reports that he is still somewhat weak, he hopes to shoot a CBS special sometime this month.

Q: Can you tell me the title and author of the poem read in Four Weddings and a Funeral? –Connie Stewart, Lorain, Ohio.

A: That was W.H. Auden's "Funeral Blues," which contains the haunting verse "He was my North, my South, my East and West,/My working week, my Sunday rest,/My noon, my midnight, my talk, my song;/I thought that love would last for ever: I was wrong."

Q: Are David Nelson (The Adventures of Ozzie & Harriet) and Kyle Chandler (Early Edition) related? Is Peter Donat the son of actor Robert Donat? Will there be a sequel to The Commitments? Didn't the actor who plays the title role on The Red Green Show once make a cameo appearance on Due South? –J.T. in Florida.

A: No to questions 1 and 2. The Snapper and The Van are both Commitments sequels. Yes, Steve Smith played Red Green on a 1995 episode of Due South called "North."

Q: What was the name of the TV movie in which Lucille Ball played a hag lady, and why hasn't it been repeated since its original airing? –R.D.G., Jasper, Texas.

A: Stone Pillow has aired several times and is available via syndication to any TV station.

Q: Whatever happened to Laurence Harvey? –Dora McDermott, Hot Springs, Ark.

A: Harvey died of cancer in 1973. He was 45.

IN FOCUS

Robert Urich takes off in the role of Glen "Lucky" Singer, a pilot trying to find a way to land a malfunctioning plane, in Final Descent, premiering Sunday, Oct. 12, on CBS.

When a small prop plane runs into the tail section of Lucky's jumbo jet, he and his co-pilot (Annette O'Toole) struggle to regain control. Although the plane is still able to fly, the pilots soon discover that it can neither level off nor descend; it can only ascend.

John de Lancie also stars.

IN FOCUS

British physicist Stephen Hawking shares his views on the origins of the universe in Stephen Hawking's Universe. The six-part series premieres Monday, Oct. 13, on PBS (check local listings).

"Seeing Is Believing" examines the changing views of the Earth over 3,000 years. Once considered the center of the universe, the planet is now looked at as one location in a vast region of space.

Subsequent episodes will explore the big-bang theory, black holes and energy.

IN FOCUS

A&E Network's Biography series probes the life and career of an acclaimed actress in "Mia Farrow: A Life of Drama," airing Friday, Oct. 17.

Farrow, the daughter of actress Maureen O'Sullivan and film director John Villiers Farrow, established a career in television and such movies as Rosemary's Baby and Hannah and Her Sisters.

She also has experienced drama in her private life, including marriage to Frank Sinatra and a relationship with Woody Allen.

Cindy Sites To Present Concert At Maranatha

Southern gospel singer Cindy Sites, Petersburg, W.Va., will present a concert at Maranatha Assembly of God in Grantsville this Sunday, Oct. 11, beginning at 7 p.m.

Born into a musical family, Sites started her career at the age of 8 with the Ullery Family Singers. From there she moved on to a solo career that has placed her on the stage with some of the top gospel music artists, including Steve and Annie Chapman, Gold City, The Greenes, The Bishops, The McGruders, The Isaacs, The Hoppers, and The Florida Boys. She has six recordings with the American Christian Artist Label, including "No Time at All" and "I Have a Brand New Song," produced by Kim Hopper and Tim Greene. Her latest project, "The Greatest Grace," produced by Roger Talley, includes Sites's first Singing News Magazine's Top 80 charting song, "When Grace Stepped Forth," which climbed to the #42 position in last December's issue of Singing News Magazine.

Sites and her husband Trent, married in 1982, faced tragedy in 1987 when their only daughter, Jaqueline Renee, died at the age of 28 months, an experience that had a profound effect on her singing ministry. "The goal of our ministry is to instill hope in the life of defeated Christians," she said. "We want to minister to the hurting, the broken hearted. My prayer is that you leave one of my concerts feeling encouraged, uplifted, with a new sense of God's peace, and a deeper understanding of God's love."

The Siteses reside in Petersburg with their son Jesse. Cindy is the hostess of a weekly southern gospel program on WELD in Fisher, W.Va.

The Maranatha Assembly of God is located along Springs Road in Grantsville. For more information about Sunday's concert, persons may telephone 301-895-5300.

The Republican Lied About Liars Contest Time

The time for the adult portion of the Tall Tale Liars Festival printed in last week's issue of The Republican was incorrect. The children's portion of the contest will begin on Saturday, Oct. 11, at 9 a.m., and the adults' portion will begin at 10:15 a.m, not 10:30 p.m. -- and that's the truth. Any potential or confirmed liars may register as a teller by calling Dr. Gail Herman at 301-387-9199.

Author To Sign Books Oct. 18 At Penn Alps

Nels Hostetler, author of the book Anabaptist Mennonites Nationwide USA, will be a guest and will sign copies of his book at Penn Alps Crafts Store and Restaurant in Grantsville on Saturday, Oct. 18, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The book summarizes the historical backgrounds and unique practices of 3,474 congregations, highlighting 46 different groups. The only publication of its kind, it covers the Amish, the Brethren in Christ, and the many different Mennonite groups throughout the United States.

"The book presents a fascinating, colorful 'patchwork quilt' of diverse groups all in a common bond of Biblical belief and life," stated one critic.

The public is invited to have books signed and engage in conversation with the author.

Branthoover To Speak At Garden Club Meeting

Brian Branthoover will be the guest speaker at the Mountain Laurel Garden Club meeting, Oct. 21, beginning at 10:30 a.m. at Uno's Restaurant.

Branthoover is a landscape designer and consultant for Garrett's Eden Garden Center. He will speak on putting a garden to bed for the winter.

A 1990 graduate of Alfred State College, N.Y., he holds degrees in ornamental horticulture, floriculture production, nursery management, and landscape development.

In 1992 Branthoover was awarded a federal grant and national recognition for design and planting of an urban beautification project in Indiana, Pa.

He has been a Garrett County resident since 1995.

The garden club invites all members and guests to attend this meeting.

Brad Barkley To Give Fiction Reading At FSU

Frostburg State University's Western Maryland Writers' Workshop and the Department of English will host a fiction reading with writer Brad Barkley at 7:30 p.m. this Sunday, Oct. 12, in Rooms 140-141 of the campus Lane Center. The event is free and open to the public.

Barkley's work has been described as "emotionally intense." The New York Times Book Review" says his stories "showcase the substantial skill of a young writer who has chosen an ambitious subject--nothing less than life's strange turns."

Also to be featured at the reading will be the preview and sale of the 1997 issue of FSU's Nightsun and sale of In Another Country, the posthumously published collection of poems of FSU professor Douglas Demars.

A reception will follow the reading.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

New MD Laws, Bills In Effect As Of Oct. 1

A variety of Maryland General Assembly bills took effect on October 1, including new traffic laws, a domestic violence law adjustment, Smart Growth bills, and a method of helping families save for college.

"Working together with the legislature, we were able to enact legislation that improves the overall quality of life for children and families throughout Maryland," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "Our package of Smart Growth bills will help direct growth and curb sprawl, and will also provide tax credits for those businesses that locate in designated growth areas.

"Our pre-paid tuition program will make it easier for families to send their children to college, and is part of our overall program to make a college education more affordable," he said.

The governor also reminded all Maryland drivers than as of Oct. 1, they must wear their seat belts at all times when operating a motor vehicle.

"This bill will definitely save help to save lives and prevent serious injuries," he said.

Higher Education Investment Program

Under the state's prepaid tuition program (Higher Education Investment Program). families can begin a plan of monthly payments that, if continued, would result in savings sufficient to cover the costs of tuition and fees at Maryland's public higher education institutions. For instance, a family can invest in a community college associate's degree, a baccalaureate degree at a four-year institution, or a combination of the two, the governor said.

The actual cost of each package will be established by an investment board that will oversee the program. Because of recent changes in federal law, taxes on investment income are deferred until the child begins college, and then will be taxed at the child's rather than the parent's tax rate.

Smart Growth

"Smart Growth" is a multi-pronged initiative to preserve forests and farmland, revitalize older urban and suburban communities, and preserve Maryland's quality of life," the governor said.

This legislation requires state dollars to be focused in Smart Growth areas designated by local jurisdictions. In this way, state money will be used to support efficient and economical growth to encourage the use of existing or planned development infrastructure, rather than growth that fosters sprawl, loss of fields and farms, and loss of neighborhoods.

Job Creation Tax Credit

The governor's Smart Growth initiative includes changes to the 1996 Job Creation Tax Credit Program to encourage mid-sized and smaller businesses to invest in Smart Growth areas around the state.

The Job Creation Tax Credit Program currently grants an income tax credit to companies in certain industry sectors that create 60 or more new full-time jobs. The governor's legislation lowers the job creation threshold to 25 jobs when the business locates in a Smart Growth area. A lower job creation threshold in these areas will encourage mid-size and smaller firms to participate in the tax credit program and produce a positive atmosphere for employment opportunities to flow into areas with existing infrastructure that need reinvestment, Glendening said.

Diaability Tax Credit

The Disability Tax Credit legislation gives a tax credit to any employer who hires an individual with a qualified disability.

Employers will receive a two-year credit of up to $1,200 per year for wages paid to a disabled employee. This applies to full-time and part-time employment. Any employer in the state who pays income taxes is eligible for the credit.

An employer may also receive a credit of up to $600 in the first year and $500 in the second year for expenses paid on behalf of an employee with a disability for child care or transportation services.

Pretrial Safety

The PreTrial legislation slows the "revolving door of criminal justice" by making it easier for judges to keep repeat violent offenders in jail while they await trial. The bill reportedly gives judges greater authority to detain repeat violent offenders by extending the presumption that they will fiee or pose a danger to public safety, and applying the stricter standard to offenders whose prior crimes were committed either in or outside Maryland.

Wildlands

Maryland's wildlands practices protect threatened and endangered species, preserve water quality on nearby tributaries, and support wilderness research and unique ecological communities that might otherwise have been destroyed. The wildlands bill will add 4,019 acres of state-owned lands to the Maryland Wildlands Preservation System by expanding three existing wildlands and creating three new wildland areas.

Expansion will take place at Patuxent River State Park in Howard and Montgomery counties, Calvert Cliffs State Park in Calvert County, and Belt Woods Natural Environment Area in Prince George's County.

The three new areas will be Islands of the Potomac Wildlife Management Area in Frederick and Montgomery counties, Mingo Branch/Bush Cabin Run in Baltimore County, and Idylwild Wildlife Management Area in Caroline County.

Domestic Violence

The General Assembly enacted legislation this year that strengthens the Maryland Civil Protective Order Statute by extending the duration of the orders to one year, expanding coverage of the orders to include the yard around victims' homes, and making it harder for batterers to evade enforcement of the order by relaxing procedures for serving official notice.

In addition, the legislation permits domestic violence victims who have moved out of their homes to return with law enforcement officers to retrieve medicine and other personal belongings being withheld by their abusers.

Primary Enforcement of Seat Belt Laws

This bill authorizes a police officer to enforce the mandatory seat belt law as a primary action. The prior law allowed a police officer to enforce the mandatory seat belt law only as a secondary action when the officer detained a driver suspected of violating another law.

It is estimated that 70 percent of people on Maryland's highways regularly wore seat belts in 1996. Primary enforcement is expected to increase this rate by 15 percent. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that primary enforcement in Maryland may save as many as 62 lives a year and prevent 1,297 serious injuries.

Child Support Enforcement

Improving the collection of child support is a key component of welfare reform, the governor said. A bill introduced by the Department of Human Resources makes a number of changes to state law to bring Maryland into substantial compliance with new federal child support enforcement requirements.

The most significant changes to state law include authorizing the suspension or denial of business, occupational, and professional licenses of obligors who are more than 120 days in arrears, and requiring financial institutions to provide information concerning obligors who are in arrears in paying child support to the Child Support Enforcement Administration.

Head Lights Law

Also enacted this year and in effect as of Oct. 1 is the head lights law, which mandates that drivers utilizing their windshield wipers also turn on their head lights, no matter what time of day it may be.

Ash Elected To Head I.C.E.S. Maryland Chapter

Oakland native Joseph Ash was recently elected president of the Maryland chapter of the International Cake Exploration Societé (I.C.E.S.).

I.C.E.S. is an organization designed to share and promote the art of cake decorating.

Ash has been a member of I.C.E.S. for over 10 years and has served the organization in several capacities. He chaired the manpower committee for the annual I.C.E.S convention held in Baltimore in August 1996, which hosted 1,300 cake decorators from around the world. He has also been a co-chairman for the annual Maryland Cake and Candy Show.

Ash is planning a "Day of Sharing" to promote I.C.E.S., Oct. 19, to be held at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident. For more information on this event persons may contact Roberta Baker at 301-746-8929.

Anyone interested in I.C.E.S. can contact Ash at P. O. Box 156, Rohrersville, MD 21779.

Ash is the son of the late Robert and Mary Ash and is a graduate of Southern High School. After leaving the Oakland area, he served in the United States Army for 10 years. Most of this time was spent serving at the White House Communications Agency.

After his discharge, Ash returned to college and graduated from Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W.Va. with a major in accounting. He is currently employed by the U.S. Treasury Department, Washington, D.C.

Masons Set Past Masters' Night

Northern GOP Women Convene

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Inn Tuesday, Sept. 30, and guest speakers at the meeting were members of the elected board of education: Charlotte Sebold, Patrick Riley, Jim Raley, and Dale Carpenter, along with school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets.

The guests spoke about reforms in school policies and adopting courses of studies that delineate specific content to be taught at each level.

The regular business meeting of the club followed, conducted by Carolyn Ganoe, president. A get-well card was signed for Mary Hebb and a card of thanks from Bunny Parish was read.

Mrs. Ganoe plans to attend the MFRW Fall Convention, set for Oct. 24-26 at the Dunes Manor Hotel in Ocean City. The Maryland GOP Convention will be held at the Wisp Resort in McHenry on Oct. 17, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The fruit basket was won by Patrick Riley. There will not be a fruit basket given at the October meeting (Oct. 28), when the club will hold its annual auction. Zeola Robeson, Leanna Layman, Mildred Husselbaugh, and Carol Frazee will provide the fruit basket for the December Christmas luncheon.

Members present at the September meeting were: Cleda Baker, Brenda Butscher, Cora Bowser, Helen Keller, Orpha Miller, Jean Friend, Hazel Margraff, Stella Edwards, Lillian Crowe, Zeola Robeson, Leanna Layman, Mary Durst, Connie Burdock, Carolyn Ganoe, and Louise McKenzie.

The case of the week for the Garrett County Crime Solvers involves the theft of two vehicle doors.

Sometime between May 30 and June 7, unknown individuals entered private property along the Accident-Friendsville Road and took two doors from a red and white 1989 Renegade Jeep C7.

The doors were apparently removed from the vehicle to be used in the restoration of a similar one. The value of the doors is estimated to be about $1,040.

Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crimes are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

National Contest Seeks Vocational Student Entries

With the start of the new school year, Coast to Coast and ServiStar retail hardware stores around the nation, including Manor Builders Supply in Mtn. Lake Park, are once again sponsoring Tools for Tomorrow, a national initiative in support of vocational education. Through the program, U.S. Savings Bonds of up to $1,000 each are awarded to exceptional high school vocational students.

The Tools for Tomorrow program, in its sixth year, has grown to become the largest program of its kind supporting vocational education students. Last year, the program presented $340,000 in awards to 3,100 outstanding vocational students nationwide.

According to "Perspectives on Vocational Education," an informational brochure published by the Tools for Tomorrow program, "every dollar invested in vocational education saves more than $12 in public support. Statistics show that the more vocational courses students take, the less likely they are to suffer periods of unemployment." The document goes on to say that "most employers are more interested in a job applicant's specialty skills than academic knowledge," and research shows that "employers almost always rank occupational skills and work habits at the top of the list when hiring employees. Vocational schools provide education and training for over 400 occupations, including 18 of the 20 fastest growing of the 1990s, such as medical assistants, data processors, and financial service representatives."

This year, 10 national winners will each receive a $1,000 U.S. Savings Bond and an all-expenses paid trip (with an accompanying adult) to the ServiStar Spring Convention in Dallas, Texas, next April, where they will participate in an awards ceremony held in their honor. Twelve special merit winners will receive a $500 Savings Bond, as well as 50 state winners and the District of Columbia winner. Thousands of local winners will each receive a $100 Savings Bond.

All high school vocational students who are enrolled in a state-approved vocational education program during the 1997-98 school year are eligible to apply for the program. Applications are available locally at Manor Builders Supply, and other participating ServiStar and Coast to Coast retailers around the region and nation. Full instructions are provided with each application form. Applications must be postmarked by Nov. 7.

Critic's Corner
by Rick Wilson

IN AND OUT: I remember it well. It was the year Tom Hanks won that well-deserved Oscar for his performance as a young gay lawyer dying of AIDS in "Philadelphia." He got up and thanked a number of people, including his high school English teacher who, he said, "...is gay." Aha! A movie plot is born.

In this fictitious take-off of that moment, Kevin Kline portrays Howard Brackett, the "outed" English teacher He lives in the sleepy town of Greenleaf, Ind., and he's engaged to be married to long-time fiancee, Emily (Joan Cusack). No one is more surprised than she as they watch that Oscar telecast (Matt Dillon is the Oscar recipient).

The question is, is Howard really gay? How could he be gay when he has a girlfriend. (Ah, but that relationship remains pure as the driven snow.) Why is he engaged then? (Mama, in the person of Debbie Reynolds, is pushing for it big-time!)

He has all the stereotypical gay traits. He loves Barbra Streisand, poetry and Shakespeare. And, best of all, he doesn't sit around the living room on a winter Sunday, sloshing down beer and scratching his nether parts as he takes in the latest football game. Yup, our boy certainly looks to be light in the loafers!

A horde of media vultures descends on Greenleaf to get the scoop on poor Howard, led by the most scurrilous among them, Peter Malloy (Tom Selleck). He is an openly gay reporter who sets out to ferret out Howard's "real" private life. Because of this, Howard finds himself beset at every turn by his family, fiancee, parents, students and the principal (Bob Newhart) in the school where he teachers.

While I can't say this one is as outrageous as "The Birdcage," it is a wonderfully funny, warm, human movie. Selleck and Kline, both very "macho" and straight in real life, go out on a limb here (Selleck in particular, given all those trashy tabloid rumors about him supposedly being gay). Their performances are over the top and they endear themselves to the audience quite quickly. The supporting cast is also up to the task and achieve excellence in their own right.

Older cookbooks are rising in value.

Collectors can search for rare old books such as "The Boston Cooking School Cook Book," by Fannie Farmer, first issued in 1876, over 100 years ago.

Many collectors save the advertising recipe leaflets and books that are offered by food companies. The items usually are offered in exchange for a few labels and a modest price.

Search kitchens at house sales for the old cookbooks and recipes.

Q. When I was little, I played with a Toonerville Trolley. I still have it. The comic-strip character Skipper is the driver. It's made of painted tin and is in mint condition. It works when I wind it. What's it worth?

A. The Toonerville Trolley was part of the "Toonerville Folks" comic strip drawn by Fontaine Fox from 1913 to 1955. The tin wind-up toy you describe was made by Nifty about 1922. In mint condition, it's worth $1,200.

Q. In my grandmother's attic, I found a corset that fastens with metal eyelets. It has no straps. Is that unusual?

A. Most corsets had no straps. Metal eyelets came in to use in the early 1800s. Before that, corsets were laced up through eyelet holes that were reinforced with thread.

Q. I'm so old I can remember when you couldn't sit down to eat in a McDonald's — they were just drive-ins. I have an old sign from those days with a character called "Speedee."

A. Speedee was an early McDonald's logo, designed to show that the service was fast. Speedee was awfully close to Alka Seltzer's Speedy logo. Not wanting to be associated with indigestion, the hamburger chain quickly and quietly dropped Speedee in favor of Ronald McDonald, who debuted in 1963.

Speedee memorabilia is quite valuable.

Home Tips

EASY SALAD — Everyone knows that those pre-washed salad mixes in the produce section are much more expensive than just washing your own head of lettuce as needed. However, here's a way you can enjoy the pre-washed kind without the expense.

When you get your lettuce home, or when you have time, wash the entire head of lettuce, dry it, and cut it up. Put into a produce zipper-type closing plastic bag. Keep in your produce bin and use as needed. Diana W., Wappingers, N.Y.

PRETTY POTS — Decorative ceramic flowerpots make excellent holders for pens, pencils, scissors, etc. They are attractive containers for desktops and are easily accessible by the telephone or computer when needed. Virginia C., Valdosta, Ga.
